ST. JOHN'S, N. F., March 19.—Food, medical supplies and a doctor reached the survivors of the Viking off Horse Island today. Dr. Forney and members of the crew of the sealer Imogene made their way to the island over close-packed and hummocky ice. They began immediately to take survivors to the Imogene to be fed and sent on to the sealer Sagona nearby. The Sagona was to bring them to St. Johns for hospital care.

The men of the Viking sought refuge on the island after their ship blew up Sunday night.

Consul-General Edward A. Dow sent a request to Washington for an American ice-cutter and was prepared to radio full instructions for navigating the ice field surrounding the island.

George Whitley, a veteran sealer captain, reported that a rescue mission would be unable to land at the island. He said there was a clear space on the southern side of the island.

Six already on Sagona. The men are already aboard the Sagona, having been picked up after many hours of exposure on ice and wreckage.

Navigator W. Kennedy, one of the six, has contracted pneumonia. Wireless Operator C. King has been set now attacked by gangrene, and Harry Sargent, American explorer, is suffering from an eye affliction.

Crews of the Beothic and Sagona with additional doctors and supplies reached the island close behind the crew of the Imogene.

Although the most pressing task was rescue of the survivors on the island, search for the missing continued. The best available figures indicated that there were 18 unaccounted for, including Vardick, Russell, New York motion picture producer, and his cameraman, A. G. Penrod.

Total of 144 on ship. The tally stood: Survivors on the island 118; survivors on rescue ship 6; bodies recovered, 2; unaccounted for, 18; making 144, the number supposed to have been aboard the Viking.

One of the two bodies found in wreckage of the Viking near the spot where it blew up. The body was picked up by the sealer Sagona and was identified by papers in the pockets as that of Rino, Bartlett of Briggs, N. F. The other body was not identified.

Sargent, the only member of the movie expedition accounted for, was last seen by Friswell and Penrod before the explosion when the three of them were seated at a table in a cabin.

Plane for Relief Expedition Must Be Altered.
By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, March 19.—Bernie Baidon, who arrived here this morning to pilot a relief air expedition to Horse Island, N. F., where the Viking survivors are marooned, said that he could not leave before midnight tonight.

The pilot of two Polar expeditions needed only one look at the amphibious being prepared for the flight at the East Boston Airport to decide that it was unfit for the trip in its present condition.

The flight to Horse Island will be made in from one to three hops, the last stop to be made at Harbor Grace, St. Johns, or Corner Brook, N. F. Four men will make the trip—Baidon, Merion Cooper, moving picture photographer who organized the expedition for Dr. Lewis Russell, father of Vardick, Friswell, one of the Americans missing from the Viking; Roy Gates, who made the sailing trip on the Viking last year; and Ralph Enslow or Barney Arden, New York pilots.

Consul General Ordered to Aid of Viking Survivors.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—The State Department announced today that the coast guard cutter General Green had been ordered to proceed directly to St. Johns, Newfoundland, to go from there, if necessary, to aid survivors of the sinking vessel Viking at Horse Island.

President Sails for Visit to Porto Rico and Virgin Islands

Making 3000-Mile Cruise as Vacation and to Get First-Hand Information on Caribbean Possessions.

U. S. S. ARIZONA, March 19.—President Hoover sailed toward Porto Rico today under fair skies. The Arizona, making a speed of 15 knots, was expected to reach the Gulf Stream this afternoon. The President stood on the quarter deck to receive the official salute and to hear the band play and remained there after the ceremonies, enjoying the view.

By the Associated Press.
OLD POINT COMFORT, Va., March 19.—The battleship Arizona steamed out to sea this morning, carrying President Hoover toward Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands. Batteries from ship and shore announced the departure of the recently remodeled dreadnaught, the navy's most modern fighting craft, which will bear the President and his party through 3000 miles of the Caribbean on his visit to the American possessions.

President's Flag Run Up.
Arriving by train this morning from Washington, members of the presidential party breakfasted aboard their cars and were motored to the dock in army automobiles.

The warship was dimly visible in the mists, less than a mile off shore. As the President boarded an Admiral's barge, the President's flag was run up on the Arizona.

Overhead an army blimp and two pursuit planes circled the boarding party, and as the President strode up the gangway, 21 bombers from Langley Field joined in the Navy's welcome to the Chief Executive.

The planes continued flying in formation until 8 o'clock when the signal for the departure was given. The Presidential salute—21 guns—boomed forth and was answered by the batteries of Fortress Monroe.

In President's Party.
With the President were Secretaries Hurley and Wilbur, whose departments have supervision of the islands to be visited; Lawrence Richey, one of his secretaries; Capt. Joel Boone, White House physician; Capt. Russell Train, naval aide; Col. Campbell Hodges, military aide, and Mark Sullivan, political writer. There also were 18 newspaper writers and six photographers.

The voyage will be in the nature of a vacation for the President, although he will visit the islands to gain first-hand knowledge of conditions there.

In keeping with the informal nature of the journey, the Navy was instructed to dispose with as much ceremony aboard the battleship as possible without violating rules and traditions.

PRISONS AT JOLET HEAVILY GUARDED FOLLOWING RIOT

Illinois Highway Police and Militia Help Keep Peace
After Convicts Burn Five Buildings.

PRISONER SLAIN,
TWO WOUNDED

Three Officers Beaten in Stateville Mutiny—30 Ringleaders Put in Solitary Confinement.

By the Associated Press.
JOLET, Ill., March 19.—Prison authorities, supported by guards, States highway police and militia, apparently had the situation well under control today in the old penitentiary here in Joliet and in the model new one across the river at Stateville. Every precaution was taken to prevent a recurrence of the rioting yesterday in which five buildings were burned at Stateville and three of the 1800 rioting prisoners were shot, one fatally.

Anticipating a new uprising in the Joliet penitentiary, authorities posted extra guards in the dining room.

Stateville, 210 militiamen in command of 16 officers patrolled the yard.

Double Guards at Breakfast.
At the 75-year-old companion prison here, scenes of the first uprising Saturday, 600 convicts who had not participated in the disorders marched to breakfast under double guards. There were no troops in sight of the 600 as they filed into the dining hall, but the troops were ready.

For those who were bread and molasses, coffee and fried potatoes. For the other 1100 in the old prison and 3000 or more in the new, there was breakfast in steel cells. As were fed bread and water by trusty fellow convicts. All communication with the outside world was severed by the prison administration at the command of State officials. Luncheon also passed without disorder.

At both prisons a thorough "shakedown" was in progress during the day. A hundred at a time, the prisoners were marched into the open, clothes searched for contraband; cell belongings, pictures, every nook in the cell blocks swept clean of hidden articles. In the two major mutinies of the last five days, despite the ruin spread by the rampaging convicts, no prisoner had been caught with firearms.

All Militia at Stateville.
Warden Henry C. Hill, satisfied that the situation in the old prison was in hand, released the two National Guard companies there and all were dispatched to the Stateville section. Brigadier-General John J. Garrity, who took command of the National Guard force here yesterday, went to Chicago with his staff, placing Maj. A. D. Goudreau, Kankakee, in charge of four companies of the 129th Infantry.

Thirty ringleaders of yesterday's revolt were placed in solitary cells. It is thought those who fomented the trouble were a group of young convicts transferred from the chair factory of the Joliet prison to the chair factory at Stateville for being disturbers at Joliet.

The spirit of unrest spread today to the women's division. Warden Hill sent a quantity of tear gas bombs to the women's penitentiary. The matron asked that no man guards be sent as she feared their presence might excite the inmates.

Three Guards Beaten.
In addition to 200 National Guardsmen, 200 State highway police, under command of their chief, Walter Moody, were on duty to stop any disturbance like that of yesterday when property damage estimated at $300,000 was done and three guards were beaten.

Raymond Barney, prisoner, died early today. He was wounded, along with Edward Devaney and Michael Farrare, when they and a number of other convicts at Stateville refused to obey immediate orders from the warden to return to their cells after the rioting had begun.

Overcrowding of men in both prisons, which are five miles apart, and resentment against Parole Board procedure, were said by Warden Hill to have caused the outbreak in Stateville. Other probable causes were the killing Feb. 22 of three prisoners as they tried to escape from the old building and the rioting there last Saturday in which two prisoners were killed and two wounded. Another was the death of a prisoner in solitary confinement.

FOUR other buildings were burned at Stateville penitentiary during an outbreak of 1800 prisoners. The disturbance started in the chair shop and, before it was quelled, three convicts were shot, one fatally.

FLYER WHO FOUND
ITALIA CREW KILLED

Col. Maddalena and Two Others
Lose Lives in Plane Crash Near Pisa.

By the Associated Press.
PISA, Italy, March 19.—Col. Umberto Maddalena, famous Italian flyer and rider of the dirigible Italia survivors, Lieut. Fausto Cecconi and Second Lieutenant Danzoni were killed today when their seaplane fell into the sea. Maddalena was piloting the ship.

Maddalena discovered Gen. Umberto Nobile and his group of other survivors of the Italia in 1928 near Spitzbergen and dropped medicine and supplies to them on the ice after the Italian airship had been wrecked on its North Pole flight.

He and Lieut. Cecconi formerly held world air records for distance and duration flights and both had recently returned from the Latin American flight of Air Minister Balbo, on which Maddalena was adjutant.

Their seaplane was flying at a height of 1500 feet and about 900 feet offshore today when observers saw it dive suddenly and break to pieces above the water.

Two hundred feet above the sea one of the three flyers was seen to detach himself from the plane and he struck the water with such speed that he met death with the others. Many boats went to the scene.

Maddalena and Lieut. Cecconi set a new record for endurance in the air of 67 hours and 15 minutes last June.

Col. Maddalena, Lieut. Cecconi and Second Lieutenant Giuseppe Danzoni were on the seaplane with Gen. Balbo on the squadron flight to Brazil.

WILKINS' SUBMARINE LEAVES
PHILADELPHIA FOR NEW YORK

On Second Leg of Journey Which Explores the North Pole.
(Copyright, 1931.)

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—Sir Hubert Wilkins' sturdy little steel submarine Nautilus, on which he and a company of 19 scientists and adventurers hope to voyage under the Arctic ice to the North Pole, put out to sea yesterday, bound for New York, on the first stage of a 20,000-mile journey.

Capt. Sloan Danenhower is in command. He stated if all went well he would take the ship into New York tomorrow.

The boat was declared to be in fine shape for the run along the Jersey coast. It was explained by Sir Hubert that while the Nautilus would be able to remain five days under the ice without causing officers and crew to suffer for air, it will be necessary for the boat to come to the surface every 40 hours to recharge batteries.

From New York the Nautilus will go to New London, Conn., for deep sea diving tests, thence to Halifax, Nova Scotia, to submerge under the ice in conditions similar to those expected at the North Pole.

CONCESSION ON INCOME TAX BILL BY SURVEY GROUP

Revised Schedule of Rates
Proposed by Dearthmont Much Lower Than One Submitted in the Original Bill.

'GAG' RULE MOTION
OBSTACLE IN SENATE

New Plan, Which It Is Thought Governor Will Approve, Does Not Reach Level of Kinney Amendment.

By CURTIS A. BETTS,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—Senator Dearthmont, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and other supporters of the graduated income tax bill last night held conferences looking to ending today the double filibuster which for a week has prevented a vote on the measure.

The plan contemplates attempting to stop debate by a motion for submission of the previous question, and, if that is carried, to substitute for the various schedules of rates under consideration an entirely new schedule, which will be a decided concession on the part of Dearthmont, but which will fall considerably short of dropping to the schedule in the Kinney amendment, for which the opponents of the bill have been contending.

$6,651,020 Revenue Estimated.
The new schedule which Dearthmont has ready will produce, he estimates, $6,651,020 annually, or slightly less than twice the amount produced by the present 1 per cent tax. Of this, he said, $5,151,020 would come from individual incomes, $2,380,000 from corporation incomes and $500,000 as a result of increased rates in the enforcement of the law. This estimate, however, is based on the 1923 collections on 1927 income, which were considerably lower than those of 1930. It is probable that in normal years the schedule would produce at least $9,000,000.

The fact that his proposed new schedule is much lower than the one contained in the original Survey Commission bill, as well as the one in an amendment Dearthmont submitted when the bill first was called up for consideration last Thursday, has led him to believe that it will have the support of at least two Senators who were willing to vote for the higher rates in the other schedules. While the opposition began the filibuster against the bill, Dearthmont also was found conducting a filibuster at various stages when the opposition seemed to have greater strength.

Senator Haynes this morning selected a committee of six Senators to go over the rates in the proposal prepared by Dearthmont in an effort to arrive at an agreement as to the amount of revenue which would be derived under it. In addition to himself, Haynes named Senators Davis, Kinney, Dearthmont, Clark and Morgan. Of these, Davis and Kinney favor the lowest possible rates. Haynes and Dearthmont are supporters of the Survey Commission plan, or a measure as near to it as it is possible to obtain, while Clark and Morgan are given the doubtful classification of neutrals. They have been voting with Dearthmont and Haynes, however.

Parliamentary Procedure Obstacle.
While there are grounds for belief that if the new schedule can be submitted to a vote it will be adopted by the Senate, the real difficulty will lie in getting the previous question submitted. That is, a motion which is unpopular in the Senate and is made infrequently. It shuts off all debate and puts to an immediate vote the matter under consideration. It is an unwelcome law in the Senate that debate must not be curtailed and in the past it has been found almost impossible to carry the previous question motion.

The schedule which Dearthmont has prepared cannot be classed as a compromise, because it has not been agreed to by the opposition. Rather, it is a concession by Dearthmont and the Survey Commission group.

Dearthmont prepared his new schedule last night after representatives of the Gary Survey Commission and of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce had conferred the greater part of the day in an unsuccessful effort to agree upon a

STATE SEEKS $250,000 TAX ON FRANZ ESTATE

Circuit Attorney Demands $5-000,000 in Stock Be Assessed for Inheritance Levy

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 19.—William J. Rooney, 42 years old, for 10 years business agent of the Sheet Metal Workers' Union, was shot to death a few doors from his home today.

Rooney had emerged from his apartment and walked a few steps down the street, when a man stepped from a parked automobile, ran toward him, and fired three shots.

The Circuit Attorney applied to the Probate Court for a citation against Gustavus A. Buder, executor of Mrs. Franz's estate, requiring a complete inventory of the assets for purposes of inheritance taxation. It is charged in the petition that Buder "failed and refused" to inventory and account, according to law, for 188,323.13 shares of the no-par value common stock of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co.

Probate Judge Holtcamp cited Buder to appear April 3.

Buder filed an inventory of Mrs. Franz's estate last June, which set forth a total value of $2,095,802. The inventory included 17,500 shares of Burroughs Adding Machine Co. stock. At Buder's office in the Buder building, it was said today that he was out of the city.

The stock, according to the petition, belonged to Mrs. Franz at the time of her death in California last April, having been acquired by her from seven other heirs of her husband, Ehrhardt D. Franz, former St. Louis grocer, whose $21,000 investment in adding machine stock grew into a present $15,000,000 holding.

According to Assistant Circuit Attorney Ferris, who prepared the proceeding, the question to be decided is whether the stock should be inventoried as of the date of Mrs. Franz's death or whether it is part of the trust estate of Ehrhardt Franz. Mrs. Franz had the income from her husband's estate for life.

Ferris was informed that in 1922, in a proceeding brought by E. W. Franz, one of the heirs, Buder set forth that seven of the heirs had transferred their interests to Mrs. Sophia Franz.

GANDHI ARRIVES IN BOMBAY FOR SERIES OF CONFERENCES

Will Meet Viceroy, Indian Princes

Leaders.

By the Associated Press.
NEW DELHI, India, March 19.—Mahatma Gandhi arrived today from Bombay for a series of important conferences with Viceroy Lord Irwin, Indian Princes and Leaders of Moslem and Hindu groups.

Gandhi already has protested to the Viceroy by telegram against what he called delay by the Government in carrying out terms of the recent truce, especially the provisions affecting the release of all non-violent political prisoners, return of property confiscated for non-payment of taxes and adjustments of taxation in certain districts.

After Gandhi has seen the Viceroy he plans to discuss with the Indian Princes some phases of the round table conference proposals. His errand to Hindu and Moslem leaders is to attempt to establish unity between these sharply divergent racial groups as a preliminary to the second round table conference.

LEGISLATOR LIVES WITH .22-CALIBER BULLET IN HEART

Doctor Says Blood Clot Forming in Wound Probably Saved Arkansas.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 19.—With a .22 caliber bullet imbedded in his heart, William U. McCabe of Mountain Home, a member of the House of Representatives, is recovering at St. Vincent's Infirmary. Medical science records similar cases, physicians said today, but they are rare.

McCabe was wounded March 12, when the bullet passed through the door of his room at a hotel. Police arrested H. G. Lansdale of Atlanta, Ga., on a charge of assault with intent to kill. Lansdale denied having fired the shot. He is at liberty under $2000 bond.

Physicians said X-ray pictures were made Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, but the bullet could not be located. Yesterday, however, a fluoroscope was used and doctors watched the heart action. They soon located the bullet in the right auricle of the heart. The bullet moved with the heart action.

The fact that McCabe nearly succumbed immediately after he was wounded probably spared his life, a physician said last night. He declared McCabe's heart action was so weak that a blood clot formed in the hole made by the bullet and sealed the wound, preventing a flow after the pulse again increased.

"Mr. McCabe apparently was dying when he reached the infirmary," the doctor said. It was 10 hours later that his pulse appeared. This fact, no doubt, permitted the blood clot to form.

An operation now is impossible, surgeons said, and the bullet will remain in the heart.

WIDOW SENTENCED BECAUSE SHE FILED SUIT FOR DAMAGES

Mrs. J. T. Crandall Held in Contempt for Claiming $95,000 for Death of Husband in Explosion.

For filing a suit in Circuit Court here against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad for $95,000 damages for the death of her husband in an explosion, Mrs. Inez B. Crandall was sentenced to serve three months in the women's prison and fined $500 and costs at Evansville, Ind., yesterday.

Her attorney, Charles P. Noel of St. Louis, obtained a writ of habeas corpus from the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Chicago today, freeing Mrs. Crandall from custody until the case has been reviewed by that court.

Last August Probate Judge Travis B. Williams of Evansville issued an injunction restraining Mrs. Crandall from filing a damage suit against the railroad anywhere but at Evansville or in the court district at Kinney, where the accident occurred. Her sentence yesterday was for contempt of court in filing the suit.

The injunction against Mrs. Crandall was issued on petition of the L. & N. Railroad, according to the court files. The citation asking her to show cause why she should not be punished for contempt was also issued on motion of the railroad.

Before this information had been obtained Judge Williams was asked by the Post-Dispatch over long distance telephone on whose application the injunction had been obtained. He said he did not recall, nor did he recall who had made the citation when it was issued, although the citation was issued on a week ago.

Ask on what legal ground he had issued the injunction and entered sentence, he declared damage suits could be filed only at the scene of the injury in question or the residence of the injured person.

"That's the law and it has been the law for a hundred years," he said.

Mrs. Crandall was advised by Noel, to disregard the order of the Indiana court. Noel contended the court had no jurisdiction over acts performed outside the borders of the State, and was proceeding beyond its province in issuing an injunction.

Accordingly Noel filed the suit in Circuit Court here under the Federal employers' liability act, which does not limit the amount of possible damages in death cases.

In the meantime, Judge Williams told her yesterday in ordering her imprisoned, that he would order her release under suspended sentence if she would dismiss the damage suit at St. Louis.

PASTORS INDORSE RELIEF CAMPAIGN TO RAISE $300,000

Archbishop Glennon, Dr. Crowther and Rabbi Ferdinand Isserman Send Letters to Committee.

DONATION TO FUND CALLED PRIVILEGE

"We Must Stand Shoulder to Shoulder to Fight the Common Foes, Hunger and Want," One Says.

Messages endorsing the decision of Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment to seek voluntary contributions of $300,000 to enable it to carry on its work have been sent to the committee by Archbishop Glennon, the Rev. Dr. James E. Crowther, and Rabbi Ferdinand Isserman.

The campaign for additional finances to supplement an appropriation of $300,000 from municipal funds now nearly exhausted, will open Monday. Headquarters have been established in room 440, Hotel Statler.

"The call you are about to make," the Archbishop wrote, "has my sympathy and support, and I am hopeful that every citizen who can will aid you in tiding over the economic crisis which is upon us."

"To give material aid to those who need it, and better still, to obtain employment for the many who are unemployed, is the duty of the hour."

"In every crisis of our country's history we have risen to higher and higher levels. Surely with all this heritage of liberty, prosperity, peace and national dignity we will not now fail in their preservation, nor allow them to be lost because a temporary economic depression is upon us. It is a time when we can show our love for our country and its institutions by showing our love for our fellow man."

"Multitudes in Distress." Dr. Crowther, pastor of Grace M. E. Church, wrote: "In a world of abundance one billion are in poverty. In the world's richest country multitudes are in distress. We must provide work with wages or relief when work cannot be found. Men do not starve peacefully. Freedom depends on the bread-box as well as the ballot-box. No man is free who is jobless and hungry."

Rabbi Isserman of Temple Israel said that to be generous in the present situation is not an act of charity, but a patriotic duty, a humanitarian obligation and a religious privilege. He continued: "Even as in times of war we are called upon to sacrifice, so in the present emergency, citizens of all denominations must stand shoulder to shoulder, forget their partisanship, and unite to meet the common foe, hunger and want, and the suffering of the people in need and for whom I appeal are the victims of circumstances. Among them are the flower of our citizenry."

"Never Before Asked Charity." Richard S. Hawes, chairman of the finance division of the committee, said more than half of the 21,000 applications for help which it has received have come from people who have never before sought assistance from a charitable agency.

There will be no general personal solicitation of contributions, he said, but the campaign will be conducted through the mail and by speakers at public meetings. "We are basing our appeal," he added, "on the feeling that citizens of St. Louis who have pride in their city and record of not having resorted to hysterical methods will come to the rescue in this crisis. The $300,000 asked is the least with which the need can be met."

U. S. INCOME TAX COLLECTIONS STILL BEHIND LAST YEAR'S

Total Since July 1 is $1,217,685,746 Compared With $1,352,300,152 at This Time in 1930.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 19.—Income tax collections reported for Tuesday were $48,129,417, as compared with $52,158,048 on the second collection day last year.

The collections for Tuesday brought the month's total to $1,068,254,321 as compared with $1,098,248,584 in the corresponding period of a year ago, and the total since last July 1 to $1,217,685,746 as compared with $1,352,300,152.

The Treasury's security sales on Monday were reflected in the Tuesday statement. It showed $1,681,742,150 had been received from public debt transactions. Expenditures due to retirement of public debt totaled $1,007,000,000, leaving the Treasury on that day with a net balance in the general fund of $745,542,294.98.

The Treasury deficit however reached $738,128,522 as compared with $437,515,713 the previous day, because of the allocation of $228,480,000 to the war debt retirement sinking fund. This brought the total in that fund to $391,660,000, compared with $299,514,950 in the fund on the same day last year.

SHAW'S GARDEN TO BE OPEN TO 10 P. M. DAILY FOR SHOW

Spring Flower Exhibit by Societies of Florists to Continue Four Days.

Shaw's Garden will be open to 10 p. m. daily through Sunday evening to give St. Louis full opportunity of visiting the Spring Flower Show, sponsored by six societies of florists and growers, which last year attracted no less than 25,000 persons to the garden in four days.

The show, for nine years one of the most popular at the garden, opened at 1 p. m. today, and will be open from 10 a. m. tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday. Of particular interest among the many competitive classes for the florists' finest are contests in artistic arrangements of all sorts, and special prizes are offered for amateurs, including one for the best Japanese garden designed by a garden club.

NEGRO DIVES THROUGH THREE PANES OF GLASS TO ESCAPE

Breaks Away From East St. Louis Watchman on Way to Police Station.

A Negro escaped from a railroad watchman last night by jumping through the glass of two office buildings diagonally across the streets from the East St. Louis police station.

As Herman S. Dennis, the watchman, was taking the Negro, whom he suspected of theft, to the police station his prisoner broke away, dashed across the street to 120 North Main street, dove through the plate glass of the entrance door, ran through the corridor, jumped through the frosted glass of the door of a vacant office, then jumped through a window, dropped 10 feet to the ground, and pursued him, shot at him as he entered the building.

WATERMAN TO BE REOPENED; KINGSBURY WILL BE CLOSED

Progress of Construction of Des Peres Sewer Affects Traffic on Those Streets.

Waterman boulevard, which has been closed to traffic at the River des Peres for more than three months, because of construction of the new Des Peres sewer, will be reopened tomorrow morning.

At the same time it will become necessary to close Kingsbury avenue, two blocks north of Waterman, at the river, as the contractor has moved his work in that direction. Kingsbury will be closed for several months. Through traffic from that street will be detoured to Waterman or by way of Skinker boulevard, De Gueville avenue and neighboring streets. No other streets will be blocked by the construction until it reaches Skinker boulevard, north of Delmar boulevard.

BUDER BUILDING BOMBING LAID TO EXTORTION GANG

Police Suspect Effort to 'Muscle In' on Race News 'Service of Beverly Brown and 'Gulie' Owen.

PAIR HAD INCURRED ENMITY OF CUCKOOS

It Is Thought This Band Would Have Used More Direct Methods—Damage Set at $15,000.

An attempt to "muscle in" on the lucrative race track news service of Beverly Brown and "Gulie" Owen, Cuckoo gang bondsmen, is given by police as the most likely motive for the explosion of a heavy bomb at 7:20 a. m. yesterday in the eighth-floor hall of the Buder building at Seventh and Market streets, just above their offices.

Another theory of police is that the bomb was set off by Cuckoo gang leaders with whom Brown and Owen are known to have come to bitter disagreement recently. This is regarded as less likely than the first, however, because the gangsters have a reputation for preferring more direct methods than a bombing.

In the meantime, damage to the building from the explosion is set by building agents at $15,000. Principally damaged was the office of the Sandusky Co. and Cooperage and Lumber Co. in room 807, outside of whose door the bomb was set off. Contractors said it was caused by downward force would wreck the office of the Empire News Co., the Brown-Owen establishment, on the next floor.

Little Loss at Race Office. A second floor plan, however, had not placed room 707, the Empire office, directly under 807, as the bomber apparently believed. This and a heavy steel girder in the floor almost immediately under the bomb saved the Empire office from any but trifling damage.

The bomb is thought to have been left by a man who made two trips to the eighth floor between 7:05 and 7:10, taking a package with him on the second trip, leaving the building without it.

The elevator operator, Chignie Palmer, a Negro, who lives in a room on the eighth floor, was asked to take him to the Realty Investment Co., which occupies room 815. She told him the office was open and he got out of the car to the first and left the building. He was dressed in overalls, she said, was between 25 and 30 years old, ruddy of complexion, sturdy built and of average height.

Second Man Enters. Five minutes later, she said, a second man entered the building. She described him as well dressed, between 35 and 40 years old, five feet six inches tall, and weighing about 160 pounds.

He directed her to take him to the eighth floor, which she did. A few moments later he called her car to the eighth floor, was taken to the first and left the building. He returned about 7:15, she said. She noticed he carried a package about nine inches long and four inches wide, wrapped in newspaper.

On this trip Harry Zulp, 225 East Stein street, a building employee, was on her car. He gave the same description of the early morning visitor as she did, after letting the stranger off at the eighth floor the operator went to the thirteenth, where she let off Zulp.

A few minutes later she picked up the visitor at the eighth, let him off on the ground floor, then went to the thirteenth for Zulp. He had just got into her car when the explosion occurred. It blew the car up a foot in its shaft, the safety catches held, and the car stuck fast.

LILLIAN RUSSELL'S DAUGHTER SUNG MRS. ENRICO CARUSO

Seeks to Recover Piano and Ring Said to Have Been Gifts of A. J. Pa Moore.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 19.—Dorothy Russell Calvit, today said a replevin action had been started in New York to recover from Mrs. Enrico Caruso, widow of the famous tenor, a grand piano and a $12,000 diamond ring which Mrs. Calvit says once belonged to her mother, Lillian Russell, stage star.

Houck said the piano and ring were given to Mrs. Caruso by Alexander P. Moore, after the death of his wife, Lillian Russell, and that no accounting of them was made to the Russell estate. The action has no connection with Mrs. Calvit's suit here to break the will of the late Ambassador to Spain, the attorney said.

Negro Sentenced for Murder. Dorothy Achola, 26-year-old Negro, who lived formerly at 214 South Twenty-second street, was found guilty of murder in the second degree yesterday by a jury in Judge Ryan's court, and sentenced to 20 years in the penitentiary. The Achola was stabbed another Negro, Willie May McDonald, on the night of Oct. 31, last, during a dispute over a man.

GLENN BROPHY, PACIFIC FLYER, TWO OTHERS, ARE MISSING

Former Falls to Arrive at Manila From Macao, China, on Schedule.

By the Associated Press. MANILA, March 19.—Search was continued tonight for three American overseas flyers. Those missing were Glenn W. Brophy of Los Angeles, who failed to arrive here today from Macao, China, and F. A. Diekhoff of San Francisco and William Scott of Manila, thought to have fallen into the ocean off Mindanao Island 10 days ago.

Navy and Army commanders ordered air and surface craft to search the China Sea for Brophy, who left Macao at 8:50 a. m. on the 800-mile flight toward Manila. Some hope was felt he might have landed in isolated northern Luzon Island, north of this city, shortening his flight overseas. All day Mrs. Brophy waited at a landing field for her husband, but was persuaded to go to her hotel after midnight.

Brophy left Shanghai for Manila, he is to lay out a course for mail and passenger planes by way of several Chinese cities. Diekhoff and Scott hopped from Surigao Harbor, Northern Mindanao, on a two-hour flight to Davao, March 9. A portion of their plane was found in the sea, causing belief they had perished. Diekhoff was foreign sales manager for the Stevens Steel Co. of New York. Scott was general manager for the Port Lamon Lumber Co.

BODIES OF FIVE MEN BURIED IN TUNNEL CAVE-IN FOUND

QUINCY, Cal., March 19.—The bodies of all five workers killed by the collapse yesterday of a Western Pacific tunnel under construction near Keddie, Cal., have been recovered.

The bodies of Gus Lund, Hugo Johnson and John Hagenson were recovered today. The bodies of Arvil Falk and Aaron Edmondson were taken out yesterday.

The cave-in occurred 200 feet from the north end of the tunnel from the railroad is constructing as a part of the right-of-way to connect with the Great Northern between Keddie and Klamath Falls. Contractors said it was caused by heavy rains. There was another cave-in today.

began in the Stateville chair factory by a prearranged signal. All morning the prisoners were holding up two fingers of their hands, which prison authorities learned afterward was their method of signaling that the uprising was to start at 2 p. m. At that time 180 convicts in the chair factory attacked three guards, lighted torches of inflammable material and ran into the prison yard.

Almost simultaneously there was an outpouring of convicts from adjoining buildings. Seizing torches, they applied them to the laundry, the shoe and carpenter shop, the garage and the dining rooms, and then, under cover of the smoke, assembled in the open yard. Efforts of the Rev. Elligius Weir, Catholic chaplain, to stop the men resulted in nothing but hoots and cries against the Illinois Police Board.

Another chorus of jeers greeted Warden Hill when he walked, unarmed, into the yard and ordering the convicts back to their cells. As he spoke armed guards from the prison yards were gathering, but the prisoners stood their ground. At the Warden's direction two shots were fired over the tops of the convicts' heads, but still they refused to move. There was another order for the men to disperse. This likewise was refused and the guards fired. Three men fell.

The shooting put an end to the outbreak and the prisoners hastened to their cells to escape the guards' back, hurled by the guards. The prison gates then were opened to admit members of

NAVAL FLYER MISSING OFF COLOMBIAN COAST

His Plane Became Separated From Squadron During Maneuvers Tuesday.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 19.—From the air, sea and land searches today looked for a flyer who disappeared while taking part in naval war games off the Colombian coast.

Officials here said the search would continue until Chief Aviation Pilot Verne Warren Harshman was found or hope abandoned. The navy learned last night that no trace of the pilot or his land plane had been found since he flew into heavy clouds 4000 feet above the sea at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday.

Admiral Chase reported "it is possible but not probable that the pilot has landed ashore and may not be heard from for an indefinite time."

Eye-Witness Accounts Of Stateville Prison Riot

Joliet Newspaper Reporter and Guard in Chair Factory Tell of Outbreak of 1800 Convicts.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JOLIET, Ill., March 19.—William M. Hart, a reporter for the Joliet Evening Herald-News, who went into the Stateville prison yard with Warden Henry C. Hill and a detail of armed guards, and B. E. Schaefer, a guard, who was on duty in the chair shop where the uprising started, gave graphic accounts of the mutiny yesterday.

"When the Joliet police were called, I went to the prison with them," said Hart. "When we arrived we found some 20 guards and State highway police congregated in the hallway of the new administration building."

"Outside the building some 1800 convicts were beating, jerking and cursing. The building was virtually a besieged fortress. No more than a minute had elapsed after our arrival when Warden Hill arrived with his quarters at the old penitentiary, five miles away."

Report by Chaplain.

"As the Warden came through the front door the Rev. Elligius Weir, Catholic chaplain, entered the guard hall from a long corridor leading out into the yard."

"The men are in a furious condition," the chaplain greeted Maj. Hill. "There are 1800 of them out there and they are going mad."

"The Warden did not hesitate. 'Have you men got your guns ready?' he asked the guards and police. 'Are you willing to go out there and take that crowd?'"

"The officers nodded assent. 'Very well then,' the Warden said, 'let's go.'"

"And out into the yard that was swarming with rioting men, the Warden led his small detachment. 'Three men, including myself, were unarmed and the Warden gave us orders to protect ourselves inside the building. However, I accompanied the detail to the end of the corridor to the yard entrance. From that vantage point I was able to watch the entire encounter."

"Like Line of Skirmishers." "I watched the officers deploy like a line of skirmishers and advance upon a group of probably 500 convicts."

"Get back to your cells or we'll fire," the Warden ordered. "A chorus of curses and jeers was his answer. One Negro convict attempted to seize leadership of mob and make a counter-attack on the guards."

"We'll get you," he shouted at the Warden and started forward. "There was a shot, fired by one of the police officers, and the con-

U. S. WAR ON CHICAGO GANGS 'STIFFENED ALL ALONG LINE'

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Continuation without a let-up in the Federal war against Chicago gangsters was made known today by Attorney-General Mitchell. Government forces have been "stiffened all along the line" in the Chicago district, Mitchell said.

"We are using all the men we think can possibly be useful," the Attorney-General said. "I met today that we got a line in on Al Capone the other day." Capone recently was sentenced to six months in prison on a court contempt charge. Mitchell said all Government departments were co-operating in the work in Chicago. He named particularly agents from the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the Treasury Department, at work upon gangster income tax returns; men from the Bureau of Investigation of the Justice Department, charged with looking into the entire list of Federal law violations, and agents from the narcotic and immigration bureaus.

The Attorney-General said work also was being done by Federal agents in New York, but without the concentration there that Chicago had experienced.

The rioting prevented the transfer from the old to the Stateville prison of Nathan Leopold, co-slayer of Bobby Franks. He was on his way to Stateville in a bus with 29 other prisoners, but was taken back when the outbreak began. Richard Loeb, who was sent to prison with Leopold for the Franks murder, is a prisoner at Stateville. Like the old prison, officials estimate it is 40 per cent overcrowded. A new building is under construction.

Warden Hill notified Cook County authorities early today that he was unable to receive 40 convicts due from Chicago. He said there was no room in the old prison for them.

SUES WARSON OIL CO. TO RECOVER $8600

Widow Files Two Petitions, Claiming Stocks of Subsidiary Were Misrepresented.

Two suits were filed in Circuit Court today by Mrs. Lella Wingfield, a widow, who seeks to recover $8600 she invested in the Warson Petroleum Co. by purchasing stock certificates of a subsidiary, the Warson Petroleum Syndicate. The Warson Petroleum Co. was put in receivership last January, when it was estimated that creditors would lose more than $500,000.

Mrs. Wingfield, one of the owners of $297,000 in stock of the company which is now considered worthless, says in her petitions that she paid $10,000 for stock at intervals in 1920 after false representations were made to her by Rufus G. Pearson, president and his salesmen. She also filed suit against Mrs. Lilla Rockwood, 545 Wells avenue, a friend of Pearson's, who, Mrs. Wingfield alleges, recommended the stock, and named in gaudy terms Pearson's character and financial worth.

One suit, directed against the Warson Petroleum Co., Pearson's wife, Mrs. T. S. Thompson, a saleswoman, William E. Kott, a syndicate sales manager, and Mrs. Marjorie Cline, secretary, alleged that she was informed that the company was "doing an immense business and making enormous profits when the truth was that the assets were small and the company was heavily in debt."

In her suit against Mrs. Rockwood, the plaintiff avers that Pearson had recently come into a small inheritance, and sent salesmen to see her. Pearson ultimately, by called on her himself and suggested that she purchase the shares from the misfortune of victims of the stock market crash who were forced to sell. Her investments, she said, made from April to July 1930, amounted to $10,000 but $1400 was later returned to her.

Syndicate shares were sold to the public by Pearson and his agents for $100 a share. They entitled the holders to participate in the earnings of the Warson Petroleum Co. and paid 7 per cent interest. They were worth what the Warson Petroleum Co. was worth, which at this time appears to be nothing. It has been determined by examiners for the receiver of the company's losses in operation during the last three years exceed $160,000.

Denatured Alcohol Kills Seven. RATION, N. M., March 19.—Seven men who drank denatured alcohol at a stag party are dead. Another member of the party, Reuben Padilla, is in a critical condition. The dead are Benny Sanchez, Ishmael Apodaca and his brother, Clyde Apodaca, Frank E. Valdez, Filberto Garcia, and Antonio y Joe Villal. Before his death, Montoya told authorities the alcohol, intended for automobile radiators, was obtained from a filling station.

The first witness yesterday was Edward Kalbfleisch, an accountant auditing a firm which examined the books of the Warson Petroleum Co. for receivers who took charge on 22 Kalbfleisch, who appeared at a previous session and was recalled, spent 30 minutes with the jury.

The accountant was one of several witnesses questioned when the jury studied the affairs of the denatured brokerage firm which was involved in the recovery of the funds because of the fact that a customer, the Vandewater Security Co., owning 48 per cent of the Warson Petroleum stock, had deposited its holdings as collateral security for a debt balance of about $200,000.

The first overtures to return the denatured funds for a price were made to this minority group, which included Arthur C. Hilmer, senior partner of Anderson & Co., the recovery of the funds caused a considerable increase in the value of the Grand bank stock held as collateral.

The next witness was Joseph M. Sains, a traveling salesman, who identified William A. Brittin, former custodian of the Grand National Bank safety deposit vault, as a man who entered the bank at 1:30 o'clock the night before the burglary.

Sains emerged from the jury room after 30 minutes and was followed by Brittin, who has denied entering the bank that night and offered to prove by witness that he was at home. After an hour and 35 minutes, Brittin was sent to the jury room for a few minutes. Brittin was then recalled for 25 minutes more.

Brittin was followed by Patrick Hartnett, neighborhood night club headquarter. Hartnett was questioned for 45 minutes by the jury, which concluded the witness with a 35-minute interrogation by Ben Strozier, Negro porter at the bank.

As has been told, Hartnett and Mrs. Sauter, private watchman employed by the bank, examined the vault before the burglary leaving about 3 a. m. Strozier has said he arrived at 6:30 a. m. to clean the vault and was called by a burglar who bound him with a chair in a basement room. He said he arrived at 9:30 a. m. to get a package of cigarettes from his wife and was seized, bound and placed in the room with Strozier.

NEW WITNESSES IN BANK LOOT INQUIRY HEARD

John Corley and Fred Price, Former L. E. Anderson Co. Employee, Before Grand Jury.

HERBERT SUMMONED FROM HOUSTON, TEX. Brittin and Sains Who Say Vault Custodian Entered Grand National Before Robbery Testify.

The grand jury this afternoon devoted a fifth session to the investigation of the Grand National bank bond recovery case, following a four-hour session yesterday, when five witnesses were examined.

So far the grand jurors have examined 16 witnesses in four afternoon sessions, beginning with a study of the circumstances surrounding the recovery of $1,400,000 and turning to inquire into the circumstances of the actual burglary of the bank's safety vault.

Circuit Attorney Miller said the jury intended to "try to tie up the loose ends" of its investigation so far as it has progressed. Among the witnesses were John Corley, general manager of the National Bank of Commerce, which owns $237,000 of the recovered bonds, and Fred Price, a former customer of the bank, who was a man for the defunct Lorenzo Anderson & Co. brokerage firm.

Another witness was Clifford Cornell, 6114 Northwood avenue, president of an oil burner sales agency, whose safety deposit box was one of those opened by the robbers. Cornell said he had been able to describe accurately only a few of the bonds which were taken from his box, and had not recovered the greater part of his loss.

Circuit Attorney Miller today called Gifford J. Herbert, former partner of the bank, now at Houston, Tex., seeking employment, and called ing a four-hour session yesterday.

Five new witnesses were examined.

So far the grand jurors have examined 16 witnesses in four afternoon sessions, beginning with a group of the circumstances surrounding the recovery of $822,000 of stolen bonds for a reward of $100,000 and turning to inquire into the circumstances of the accial representative of the survey group, had a schedule with rates ranging from 1 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent, which he estimated would produce approximately $8,800,000 annually.

C. W. Atkins, of the St. Louis Bureau of Municipal Research, presenting the view of the St.
Louis Chamber of Commerce, had a schedule of rates ranging from 1 per cent to 4 per cent, which he estimated would produce approximately $5,500,000 annually.

Neither Gilbert nor Atkins would concede the correctness of the other's estimate. Gilbert contending the Chamber of Commerce schedule would produce not to exceed $7,775,000, and Atkins contending the Survey Commission schedule would produce at least $9,200,000.

Gov. Caulfield's attitude is that he will approve any reasonable schedule which would not produce a much greater volume of revenue than $4,000,000 in excess of that produced by the present 1 per cent flat rate. Neither of the compromise proposals before the conference varied in great degree from that, and the Governor indicated he would approve either. The revised schedule Deamont prepared falls within the same category.

Schedule Proposed by Deamont.
The schedule which Deamont proposes to submit to the Senate, provided the motion for the previous question is submitted and carried, is:

On net taxable incomes, that is, incomes exceeding legal deductions and personal exemptions, by not more than $1000 a rate of 1 per cent; on such incomes falling between $1000 and $2000 a rate of 1 1/2 per cent on the total taxable net income, less $5; between $2000 and $3000, a rate of 2 per cent, less $15; between $3000 and $4000, a rate of 2 1/2 per cent, less $20; between $4000 and $5000, a rate of 3 per cent, less $25; between $5000 and $6000, a rate of 3 1/2 per cent, less $30; between $6000 and $7000, a rate of 4 per cent, less $35; in excess of $7000, a rate of 4 1/2 per cent, less $40.

The tax these rates would produce on net taxable incomes would be given by Deamont as follows:
$1000, tax $10, or 1 per cent;
$2000, $25, or 1.25 per cent; $3000,
$45, or 1.50 per cent; $4000, $70, or 1.75 per cent; $5000, $100, or 2 per cent; $6000, $135, or 2.25 per cent; $7000, $175, or 2.50 per cent; $8000, $215, or 2.70 per cent;
$9000, $255, or 2.83 per cent; $10-
000, $295, or 2.95 per cent; $11-
000, $335, or 3.04 per cent; $12,000,
$375, or 3.12 per cent; $13,000,
$415, or 3.20 per cent; $14,000,
$455, or 3.28 per cent; $15,000,
$495, or 3.30 per cent.

These rates are considerably lower than those proposed by the survey group.

DISCLOSES SOURCE OF PLAN TO HIRE TEACHERS YEARLY

Representative Hehl Tells of Meeting in St. Louis With Five Members of School Board.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—
The first public statement as to source of the bill providing for one-year appointments instead of permanent tenure for St. Louis public school teachers was made today by Representative Louis C.
Hehl of St. Louis, one of its sponsors, following the decisive defeat of the measure in the House of Representatives yesterday.

Hehl asserted that he and Representative J. W. Davies of St.
Louis, who joined him in introducing the bill, were given the document at a conference here about the middle of January, at which the others present were five members of the St. Louis Board of Education and two executives of the board.

All Favored It.
Members of the board at the conference, Hehl related, were Arthur A. Blumeyer, Ben Weidmyer, A. Rollins, Richard Murphy and Henry P. Schroeder, and the others participating were Superintendent of Instruction Gerling and Charles A. Roe, secretary of the board. Hehl asserted that he did not recall which of these persons had given him and Davies the bill, but that all the board members there favored it. Hehl said the board had been trying to make him the "goat" in repudiating the measure.

The bill was defeated yesterday by a vote of 44 "yes" and 70
"no," whereas 76 affirmative votes were required for passage.

Origin Had Been Mystery.
Prior to today the bill's origin had been a mystery. Hehl had told the Post-Dispatch some time ago that he knew nothing about it, his name having been attached as an author by Davies. Davies has refused to disclose at whose request he submitted the proposal, but did not deny that he introduced it by request. Much indignation against the bill was raised among St. Louis teachers' and principals' organizations after its introduction, and recently the Board of Education voted, 11 to 1, to oppose it.

They Differ on Dates.
Hehl said the conference here was about Jan. 14 to 16. The bill was introduced Jan. 29. Supt.
Gerling said in St. Louis today, after consulting his appointment calendar, that the gathering Hehl mentioned was on either Feb. 2 or 3, and Gerling denied that he or any one else present had advocated the bill. On the contrary, he said, the representatives were told that the bill "wouldn't do" whereupon Hehl said it would be killed. Gerling's calendar shows the meeting was in St. Louis the middle of January.

Three bills concerning the St.
Louis schools were handed to Hehl and Davies in the conference, with a request for their introduction and support. Hehl said today. The other two bills are measures which the board favors, on other subjects.
Gerling said today the gathering was not a conference, but was a social meeting in rooms at a hotel, and that others in the suite at the time, besides those mentioned by Hehl, were one or two members of the Kansas City Board of Education, William R. Orthwein, a St.

One of the difficulties encountered yesterday in the conference was the fact that the fact that Senators Deamont and Haymes, who were present a part of the time, argued from the standpoint that the first purpose in providing additional revenue was to obtain additional public for the public schools, while the Governor's position was that the first duty of the State was to meet the obligations resting on it to provide proper housing facilities for the inmates of the penitentiary and the eleemosynary institutions.

If the estimate of the amount to be produced by the new schedule is correct, virtually all of it will be needed to meet the requirements of the school bill, which will be taken up by the Senate as soon as the tax bill is out of the way.

Deamont expressed the opinion, however, that some changes could be made in the school bill to reduce its requirements, but that in his schedule the schools would be taken care of according to the plan now before the Senate, and more than $1,000,000 a year remain for improvement of the institutions.
Under the Chamber of Commerce plan, he said, there would be no additional money for the institutions.

While Deamont and his associates are prepared to go ahead with the new proposal if they can line up the necessary 13 votes, there is no certainty they can do so. If not, it is probable the bill will continue for several days with the outcome uncertain.

MRS. HOOVER ON AUTO TRIP IN RAIN TO VISIT HER SON

Hopes to Reach Asheville Tomorrow Night for Extended Visit.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—
Mrs. Hoover set out by automobile in the rain today for Asheville, N.
C., to visit her convalescent son,
Herbert Hoover Jr. Mrs. Hoover hopes to reach Asheville by tomorrow night and plans to stay there until just before President Hoover returns from his Caribbean cruise.
She was accompanied by Miss Sue Dyer, an old friend, who has been a White House guest.

Louis lawyer, who was not interested in this subject; Louis Schollmeyer, a former St. Louis Board of Education member, and three of the board's chauffeurs.
Gerling Declines Supporting It.
The St. Louis board members had come here, Gerling explained, to support the other bills in which they were interested, and the only reference in the gathering to the teachers' tenure measure was when he and several board members remarked that it wouldn't do and Hehl said it would be killed.
Gerling declared he had never so-lerted support for the tenure bill but had opposed it.

Even after the St. Louis teaching corps began fighting the bill, Hehl declared, and he had received indirect reports that board members were opposing it, those who were in the conference did not notify him of their opposition. Hehl said he would not have introduced or supported the bill if he had not believed the board wanted it.

As originally drawn, the bill called for the annual appointments of teachers to be made by the board rather than the superintendent, who has the appointing power.
Now Hehl asserted that an amendment to retain this authority in the superintendent's hands was drafted at another conference, in which Gerling and Weidie participated with him, in Weidie's office, about Feb. 14, and was dictated by Weid-ie, with one word corrected by Gerling. The amendment was adopted in a House committee.

At the time of the first conference, Hehl added, he was told that two other Board of Education members, Mrs. Elias Michael and Mrs. E. R. Kroeger, were in Jefferson City, but they were not at the conference. The two women members were in Jefferson City, they said today, but at no time conferred with Hehl and Davies about the bill, which both of them strenuously opposed.

Myrt A. Rollins, one of the Board of Education members named by Hehl as participating in the conference, said today that the time and circumstances as described by Gerling were correct, and that he had never supported the measure.

ONE BOY KILLED, ANOTHER INJURED, TAXI HITS BICYCLE

Henry Abrams, 15, Succumb and Francis Robinson, Jr., Is Seriously Hurt at Sarah and Evans.

Henry Abrams, 15 years old, 4379A Evans avenue was killed and Francis Robinson Jr. 14 of 1317
North Whittier street was injured seriously when a bicycle on which both boys were riding was struck by a taxicab at Evans avenue and Sarah street last night.

James Bonner, a Negro, chauffeur for the Calumet Taxicab Co., was ordered held under $7500 bond on a charge of criminal careles-ness after the inquest today. Witnesses testified that the taxi was traveling at 40 miles an hour when it hit the boys, throwing them across a street car, which had stopped for passengers. Bonner, who did not testify, denied to police that his machine hit the bicycle, stating that the boys were struck by the street car.

Abrams, the son of Jacob Abrams, a butcher, was pronounced dead of a fractured skull at Missouri Baptist Hospital. Robinson, who suffered fractures of the skull and right hip, is at the hospital.

This death brings the number of motor vehicle fatalities in the city since Jan. 1 to 39, compared with 30 on the corresponding date last year.

Mrs. Sarah Joyce, a widow, 2530
Montgomery street, suffered fractures of the skull and right leg, and Mrs. Nellie McNerny, 5854A Wells avenue, suffered a fractured leg last night, when struck by an automobile, at St. Louis avenue and Twenty-fifth street. David Aut, a deaf mute, 3009 North Twenty-second street, was the driver.

John Ferrario, 4 years old, suffered a fractured skull last night, when struck by a machine, while crossing the street, near his home, 2335 Sublette avenue. Vincent Mazzella, 4149 Shaw boulevard, was the driver.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan, a widow, 2338 Mullaphy street, suffered fractures of the skull and arm last night, when struck by an automobile driven by Edward Doba, 1429 North Tenth street, at Cass avenue and Twenty-fifth street.

ORTHWEIN KIDNAPER IDENTIFIED AS ROBBER

C. Y. Abernathy on Trial at Clayton for Holdup With Deadly Weapon.

Charles Y. Abernathy, Negro kidnapor of Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13 years old, went to trial at Clayton today, charged with robbery with a deadly weapon, an offense for which the Henry law provides as the maximum penalty a death sentence. The minimum penalty is 10 years' imprisonment.
The State did not indicate in its examination of jurors, however, that it intended to ask for the death penalty.

Abernathy has confessed that he kidnaped young Orthwein in front of the Huntleigh Village home of his father, Percy J. Orthwein, last New Year's eve, and robbed the Orthwein chauffeur, Roy Yowell, of a small sum of money. Yowell was taking the boy to the home of his grandfather, August A. Busch.

Yowell, the first witness, testified that Abernathy had jumped upon the running board of the Orthwein limousine as he turned it into Lindbergh boulevard and forced him to stop. He told of giving Abernathy $4.50 when the Negro demanded money and said that Abernathy then forced him to leave the automobile and drove away with the boy.

Abernathy's attorney, Vernon Lacy, was unable in cross-examination to shake Yowell's identification of the defendant. Asked if he had not at first said that he was unable to tell whether the kidnapor was a Negro or a white man, Yowell denied he had made such a statement. He was following on the witness stand by Sheriff Lili, who arrested Abernathy in Kansas City.

Abernathy's father, Pearl, a St.
Louis real estate dealer, was instrumental in returning the kidnaped boy to his parents the following day. Young Abernathy fled but was arrested in Kansas City.
The kidnaping charge is still pending against him.

by John Harrell, 777 North Fort-tenth street, East St. Louis. His testimony was corroborated by an adult witness. Harrell did not testify, but reported to police that he did not see any children in the driveway.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marius B. Knudsen, 3145
Hawthorne boulevard. The father is a musician.

HOLDS 38 OF 105 AIR RECORDS

France Regains Supremacy Lost to Germany in 1930.
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, March 19.—With 38 world air records out of the 105 accepted and ratified by the International Aeronautic Federation, France has claimed again the supremacy of the air, wrested from her by Germany for a few months in 1930. Lucien Bousoutrot and Almo Rossi, who annexed the distance and duration marks on a circuit near Oran, Algeria, recently, and Regineni, who with Jean Lalouette achieved a similar feat for planes carrying a useful cargo of 2000 kilograms, brought France to the front again in the world of aviation.
Germany has 30 records, the United States, 19; Italy, 8; Great Britain, Czechoslovakia and Spain three each and Hungary one.

NEW EFFORT TO MOVE CAR TRACKS ON DELMAR

Director Brooks Considering Petition for Removal of Center Strip.

For the fourth time in seven years, an effort is under way to have removed the center strip for car tracks in Delmar boulevard, for six blocks, between Kingshighway and Clara avenue. Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks has the matter under advisement, following a public hearing by the Board of Public Service.
The hearing was on petition signed by most of the merchants and by other property owners in the district involved, who desire to have the strip paved across the car tracks, to provide more room for growing traffic and better access to the district. William D. Walsh, an automobile dealer, was principal spokesman for the petitioners. Charles H. Morrill, representing the board of St. Luke's Hospital, also favored the change. The first two times the proposal was made, St. Luke's opposed it, but the third time it took the opposite stand.

Proponents of the change declare that traffic conditions in this section have become more congested, making the full width of the street needed. The present layout consists of two 25-foot roadways, but the change would create a single 75-foot roadway. Parked automobiles restrict the use of the present roadways and the petitioners say there is excessive blowing of horns and grinding of brakes as a result; also, that the new traffic signal at Clara and Delmar adds to the congestion.

The Public Service Co. is opposed to the change, arguing that the present arrangement offers greater safety for passengers boarding and leaving cars, reduces collisions between cars and automobiles, and enables trolleys to make better time. The change would cost the company about $120,000 for removing the curb and paving the tracks, it has been estimated. The car company would have to pave a width of about 18 feet and abutting property owners would be assessed to pave the remaining eight feet.

In 1924, President Neun of the Board of Aldermen, acting as Mayor, vetoed an ordinance for the removal of the center strip because of a technical defect. It was passed again, but amended to cover only the three blocks between Kingshighway and Union boulevard, because of objections of St. Luke's Hospital and other institutions to the west. Mayor Kiel vetoed it, on the ground that the track segregation was safer and facilitated traffic movement. Last spring property owners petitioned the Board of Public Service to remove the tracks, but the board took no action.

NEW YORK PARK IS EXTENDED

Adirondack to Have 4,604,000 Acres; Larger Than Yellowstone.

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 19.—Gov. Roosevelt yesterday signed a bill extending the Adirondack Park to an area of 4,604,000 acres and making it the largest public park in the United States, greater even than Yellowstone National Park. Within the greater park there will be 2,636,000 acres of privately owned and 1,968,000 of State-owned lands. The State-owned land is forest preserve land, and will be protected against both fire and timber cutting.

FOUKE FUR CO. CONTRACT FOR SEAL PELTS RENEWED

Bureau of Fisheries Continues Agreement to Purchase Hides From Government Herds. The contract under which pelts of all seals taken from United States Government herds in Alaska are turned over to Fouce Fur Co. of St. Louis for treatment, was renewed yesterday after a previous 10-year contract had expired.

Each year about 25,000 of the seals are killed for their pelts, which are sold at two auction sales in St. Louis and bring usually about $1,000,000. Buyers throughout the country, some representing foreign establishments, attend these sales, held in the spring and fall. Samuel J. Pingree, vice president of the company, received a telephone message from the president, Philip G. Fouce, informing him of the new contract with the Bureau of Fisheries. The new contract, Pingree said, is for an indefinite term and may be brought up for discussion each year by either party.

The return to the Fouce Fur Co., he said, will be somewhat less than that provided in the old contract, which was $12.50 for each pelt handled.

WAGNER BARRED AS HEAD OF GROUP ON EMPLOYMENT

Democrat Not Allowed to Serve as Chairman of Committee Studying Insurance Against Idleness.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 201-205 Kellogg Bldg. WASHINGTON, March 19.—Word was received here yesterday that the usual senatorial courtesy had been denied Senator Wagner (Dem., N. Y.) and he had not been permitted to head the Senate select committee to study unemployment insurance, which was created by a resolution sponsored by him. A telegram from Wagner said that the chairmanship had been assumed by Senator Hebert (Rep., Rhode Island), a personal friend of President Hoover. The other member of the committee is Senator Glenn (Rep., Illinois), who has often attempted to defend the President against attacks in the Senate.

Wagner has specialized in unemployment legislation throughout his public life. Two of his unemployment bills have become laws despite administration opposition and another to create nationwide employment agencies conducted by Federal and state governments—was killed by a pocket veto recently by the President.

After the Wagner resolution for a study of unemployment insurance systems was adopted it was assumed that the New York Senator would be chairman of the select committee. Administration leaders, however, approached him with the proposal that he should merely be a member of his own committee. Wagner rejected the proposal, saying he would not serve unless he received the ordinary courtesies of the Senate.

Hebert Assumes Chair. When Vice President Curtis appointed the committee, Wagner's name led the others and Wagner took it for granted that he was to be the chairman. At the first meeting of the committee in New York today Hebert and Glenn concurred that no chairman had been appointed by the Vice President, and Hebert took over the chairmanship.

The action of Hebert and Glenn is in line with the treatment that Wagner, a Tammany Democrat, has received from the administration. His unemployment bills were kept in the Interstate Commerce Committee for two years because Senator Watson, then chairman of the committee, refused to let a Democrat have the credit for sponsoring such legislation.

When Senator Couzens of Michigan became chairman of the committee, the bills were immediately reported, but met opposition from administration leaders on the floor of the Senate and the House. Despite this opposition they passed both Houses.

Failed to Beat Wagner Bill. The administration tried to defeat Wagner's employment agencies bill by supporting at the last minute a bill introduced by Secretary of Labor Daugherty. The substitute, however, was rejected. Wagner's bill was then pocket-vetted by the President.

The Unemployment Insurance Committee was authorized to study insurance systems used in this country by private industry and the systems established by foreign Governments.

Selection of Hebert to head the committee was assailed by Chairman Shouse of the Democratic National Executive Committee as a violation of Senate precedent. Shouse, in a statement through the national committee, said that Senator Wagner should have been chosen.

Shouse charged that President Hoover's veto of the Wagner unemployment bill "was perhaps the cheapest piece of politics in our history."

"However," he added, referring to the selection of Hebert, "the attitude record in peanut politics has been broken."

J. D. WOOSTER LAMBERT TAX ASSESSMENT, $100,000 That is Appraisal on His Personal Property, Highest in St. Louis County.

The highest personal property assessment in St. Louis County this year is that of J. D. Wooster Lambert, millionaire sportsman living on the Country Club grounds, whose assessment is fixed by Assessor Harpel at $100,000. Lambert failed to make a return this year and the Assessor added $20,000 to his return of last year.

Others with returns of more than $50,000 are Joseph Pulitzer, $92,560; F. W. A. Vesper, retired automobile dealer, Heights road, $62,310; Jeanette Schokmiller, 7120 Princeton avenue, University City, $62,290, and Harry F. Knight, broker living on the Country Club grounds, $59,970.

Jeanette Schokmiller is the 9-year-old daughter of the late Charles H. Schokmiller, manufacturer of printing machinery. She lives with her mother, now Mrs. Alice Comer.

Brigham Young's 42d Child. SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, March 19.—Mrs. Susan Young Gates, forty-second child of Brigham Young, Mormon leader, celebrated her seventy-fifth birthday yesterday by performing religious work in the Salt Lake Temple of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church.

TWO RECEIVERS ARE APPOINTED FOR THOMASSON

Public Administrator Schuler and Dewey Schmoll Named by Judge Hartman.

Public Administrator Anton Schuler and Dewey Schmoll, son of Circuit Clerk John Schmoll, were appointed receivers by Circuit Judge Hartmann today for the property of Hugh W. Thomasson, 74-year-old capitalist, whose marital affairs have engaged public attention for several months.

The receivers were directed to conserve Thomasson's realty holdings pending settlement of the litigation growing out of his marriage last July to Grace Mahood Thomasson, 45 years his junior. The petition values Thomasson's property in excess of $1,000,000.

In asking that Schuler and Schmoll, who is connected with the real estate department of the Mercantile-Commerce Trust Co., be appointed receivers, attorneys for the Public Administrator argued that Probate Judge Hodgdon of St. Louis County lacked jurisdiction in the appointment of a guardian for Thomasson at a hearing at Clayton Tuesday, because the bulk of the capitalist's holdings are in the city. The attorneys also expressed the opinion that the equity proceedings can be declared void because of their introduction by Stephen C. Rogers, former counsel for Thomasson, without authority from the capitalist.

Held to Be of Unsound Mind. At the Clayton hearing Thomasson was held to be of unsound mind and incapable of managing his affairs. Public Administrator Terry of St. Louis County was appointed his guardian by the Court.

In response to a plea in Schuler's suit for appointment as receiver that "unauthorized attorneys be excluded from appearing for Thomasson," Judge Hartmann named the following attorneys as counsel for the receivers: Charles H. Daus, H. G. Stein, Stephen C. Rogers and Sam Hatuplin. Daus and Stein regularly represent the Public Administrator's office while Wehrle, who, with Rogers, has brought several court actions in Thomasson's name, was not mentioned.

Thomasson's city property includes a building at Broadway and Washington avenue, which is under $9-year lease to Nathan Frank at an annual rental of $21,000. Yesterday Frank paid a $3000 installment on the rent into Circuit Court at Clayton, leaving the court to decide who is entitled to receive it. Thomasson deeded the property to his wife following their marriage, and later the deed was turned back to Thomasson and his wife jointly. Frank explained that the transfers left him puzzled concerning the identity of his land-lord.

Thomasson has been away from St. Louis for several weeks, and was last heard from Monday, when he met his wife and two lawyers at Springfield, Ill. Wilfred Jones, attorney for Mrs. Thomasson, appeared at the hearing before Judge Hartmann yesterday, but took no part in the proceedings. The court took the matter under advisement, announcing the appointment of receivers at noon today.

FAVORS MEDITERRANEAN PACT Committee of French Chamber Acts in Non-Aggression Plan. PARIS, March 19.—The Foreign Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies, of which Paul Boncour, eminent French authority on disarmament, is chairman, went on record yesterday as favoring a Mediterranean treaty of non-aggression.

The committee declares such a treaty "alone will solve the problem of equilibrium of naval forces in the Mediterranean" and that it would be a logical outcome of the recent Franco-Italian accord. It is thought likely Spain will be asked to participate if the question of the treaty comes before the European union at its meeting in Paris Tuesday.

Two cheerful young ladies were wanted to rent the spare room in a private home. A Post-Dispatch Room For Rent advertisement found them promptly.

More Palmolive Soap was sold in 1930 than in any year in Palmolive history

THAT is a startling fact. It is startling for many reasons. First—there are more soaps on the market today than ever before. More soaps claimed to be "beautifiers" than ever before. But analyze their claims. Any of them. Search the advertising for information about what they are made of. Cosmetic oils? No. — Olive and palm oils? No. — Vegetable oils? No. — Palmolive is made of olive and palm oils. Few soaps advertised tell you what they are made of. That is significant. Because many soaps contain animal fats. Palmolive does not. And because of that—women bought more Palmolive in 1930 than ever before.

"Use Palmolive," experts warn

This great Palmolive sale is startling for another reason. It is the greatest tribute we have ever known to the Palmolive doctrine of "Keeping That Schoolgirl Complexion." Some years ago women thought it wrong to use soap on the face. They were depriving themselves of benefits now known to millions.

You must wash your face. 20,000 of the world's leading beauty experts say that. "But," they warn, "use only Palmolive." They are professionals, to whom the lovely women of the world entrust their complexions. They speak with authority. And it is in answer to this beauty command from 20,000 beauty specialists that women used more Palmolive in 1930 than ever before.

Nothing else like olive and palm oils

There is a third reason. And an important one. The thing women prize in Palmolive is the skin effects no ordinary soap can ever bring. Nothing in all ages has compared with a blend of olive and palm oil for skin care and beauty. More women know that—more believe it today than ever before.

Thus more millions—unwilling to gamble with price-less complexions—turn each year to Palmolive—and this soap alone—to Keep That Schoolgirl Complexion.

Keep that Schoolgirl Complexion

W. C. T. U. WARNS PARTIES AGAINST REPEAL PLANKS

Resolution Says Canadian System Has Failed, Charges Wets Have No Effective Substitute.
A resolution pledging members to oppose "any and all efforts on the part of political parties to adopt repeal planks, and to support only candidates for public office who, by personal example, public acts and public utterances, show themselves to be the undoubted friends of prohibition," was adopted by four unions of the Women's Christian Temperance Union yesterday at a group institute held at the Epworth Methodist Church, Warns and Maffitt avenues.
Declaring the opponents of prohibition have no effective substitute plan to offer, the resolution asserts that before prohibition the brewers and distillers held a stranglehold on American politics and asserted that Government control of liquor in Canada had failed to solve the problem of drunkenness there.

NEW DEFENSE WITNESS IN TRIAL OF BROTHERS

Attorneys Say He Will Refute Identification of Accused as Lingle Slayer.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 19.—Attorneys for Leo V. Brothers of St. Louis, on trial for the murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, today said they had a new witness to refute the assertions of the State that Brothers was the man who shot Lingle in the back of the head in a pedestrian tunnel last June 9.
They named H. C. Atkinson, a Chicago real estate man, as the new witness and said he had come forward to assert that he had seen the back of the slayer's head and that he was convinced that Brothers was not the man. Atkinson described the slayer as having straight black hair, which contradicted previous descriptions which have pictured the slayer as a tall blond man, having blue eyes.
Meanwhile efforts to get a jury continued with indications that it would not be completed before the end of the week. In questioning the veniremen yesterday the defense attorneys mentioned the gain which they said might come to certain witnesses. Among other things defense Attorney Tyrrell Krum mentioned was the $22,000 award offered by Chicago newspapers after the slaying and declared this should be considered in passing on the credibility of a witness.
Counsel for the prosecution agreed that the jurors must determine for themselves the credibility of the testimony. Assistant State's Attorney Wayland Brooks told the prospective jurors that they would also have to consider the "motive of the defendant, in case he takes the stand."
The Herald and Examiner said today that Krum and Attorney Louis Piquet for the defense would attempt to obtain records disclosing the activities of the man who first accused Brothers. They gave his name as John C. Hagan and said he was also known as John Murphy and John Grill. He is now living at the same hotel in which Lingle held quarters at the time he was killed.
The trial was interrupted today by a bitter exchange of attorneys over the name of one of the witnesses—C. L. Applegate, alias "Red" Applegate.
Assistant State's Attorney Brooks shouted, "I object to that alias." It is not on the list and is mere insinuation, attempting to discredit our witness."
"Well, then," Krum resumed, "do you know a man by the name of Applegate who hangs around race tracks all over the country?" Brooks again made strenuous objection, which was sustained by Judge Sabath.
GAMBLERS PREPARING TO OPEN ELABORATE RESORTS IN NEVADA
Licensing Bill, Passed by Both Houses of Legislature, Awaits Only Signature of Governor.
By the Associated Press
CARSON CITY, Nev., March 19.—A licensed gambling bill, approved by both Houses, will go today to Gov. F. B. Balzar, who said he would sign it.
With State approval placed upon virtually all forms of gambling by the Legislature, old-time members of that pursuit are preparing to open resorts in many towns. Preparations in Reno and Las Vegas are elaborate.
Two days ago, anticipating enactment of the law, directors of one Reno clubroom leased an adjoining ground floor room and placed mechanics at work on a resort that will accommodate several hundred players. Other clubs followed suit.
Gambling at card games has been lawful in Nevada ever since the state was organized, except from 1910 until 1915 and there are plenty of former dealers here to operate the mechanical games, such as faro, roulette, dice and keno.
When licensed gambling was closed by statute in 1910, Reno had four large establishments and half a dozen smaller ones. The bigger places ran night and day. None had keys. Members of the sporting fraternity said the community would support as many games now and perhaps more.
As horse racing with car-mutuel betting has long been lawful in Nevada, they prepared for an active year-around season. Passage of the six weeks' divorce bill expected to attract more visitors to this state.

House Passes Committee Bill, Social to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—The bill requiring candidates for political committees in St. Louis to pay a $100 filing fee and making terms of city committee members four years, instead of two, was passed by the House last night. Representative Jones Parker of St. Louis, who introduced the measure, said it had been approved by both the Republican and Democratic city committees.

14 KILLED WHEN SHIP HITS ROCK OFF CHINESE ISLAND

SHANGHAI, March 19.—The French steamer Changkang, bound here from Hongkong, struck a rock off Hsian Island, near Hainan, Monday, and is a total loss with 14 of those aboard killed or drowned.
A report to Lloyd's agent says the French gunboat Marne was standing by and had taken off the rest of crew and passengers, totaling possibly 100.

SUES REALTY MAN FOR $50,000

Mother of Eight Accuses Henry H. Haffner.

Suit for $50,000 damages was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Mrs. Edith Carroll against Henry H. Haffner, 5201 Easton avenue, a realty dealer, alleged to be her former landlord at 2514 Olive street.

She says that last Dec. 24 Haffner entered her home and attempted to force his attentions upon her. Mrs. Carroll resided there with her husband and eight children. Haffner declared the charge was untrue.

PERJURY WARRANT AGAINST WITNESS IN MURDER TRIAL

Matthew McClure, Negro, Accused After Failing to Identify Ralph Picarella in Slaying.

A perjury warrant was issued by the Circuit Attorney's office today against Matthew McClure, Negro, witness in the murder trial of Ralph Picarella, and the case of John Randazzo, another witness who was booked on a perjury charge following the collapse of the State's case yesterday was referred to juvenile court because he is only 16 years old.

Upon the testimony of these two the State relied chiefly in its attempt to convict Picarella of the murder of William Lombardo. When they repudiated on the witness stand statements made to police in which they identified Picarella as having been near the scene of the shooting, Circuit Judge Taylor instructed the jury to acquit the defendant.

Randazzo is the son of Samuel Randazzo, 1026 Atchison place, McClure, 21 years old, lives at 2014 Carr street. Both were released under $1500 bonds.

Lombardo, classed by police as an extortionist and bootlegger, was fatally wounded last Dec. 24 in front of his home, 1511 Carr street, by shots fired from a passing automobile. He died three days later, insisting that he did not know who shot him.

Story They Formerly Told. McClure and Randazzo were in a store at Fifteenth and Carr streets when the shots were fired and ran out, according to statements made later to police and before the grand jury which indicted Picarella, to see a blue Ford automobile being driven from the scene of the shooting.

McClure had told police he knew Picarella by sight and recognized him as the driver, according to Assistant Circuit Attorney Sullivan. The boy did not know Picarella, but identified him as the driver after his arrest, Sullivan said.

On the witness stand McClure testified he saw neither Picarella nor the blue automobile, and said he never knew Picarella until after his arrest, when he went to the office of Verne Lacy, the defendant's lawyer, to give his deposition. Randazzo likewise testified that he had not seen Picarella at the scene of the shooting and said he had seen several automobiles, one of which might have been blue or green.

No Other Eyewitness. A recess was taken after Randazzo had testified and when the court was again in session Sullivan told Judge Taylor he had no other witnesses who would be able to place Picarella at the scene of the shooting, but had intended to develop through testimony of others a motive and the fact that Picarella had gone in hiding after the murder.

Judge Taylor ruled that it would serve no purpose to continue the trial under the circumstances and instructed the jury to acquit the defendant.

Picarella was arrested a month after the murder and was released on bond because the State was unwilling at that time to disclose the witness it expected to use against him. He is 24 years old and lives at 1225A Blair avenue.

EIGHT PLANES FLY OVER CITY TO ANNOUNCE NEW AIR LINE

A formation of eight tri-motored planes flew over the city this afternoon to announce the opening next Monday of a new aerial passenger service between St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and Toledo.

The ships arrived at Curtiss-Stenberg Airport, on the East Side, at 2 o'clock following a flight from Chicago. Members of the Chamber of Commerce Air Board were on hand to greet Eddie Stinson, well-known pilot, who handled the controls of the flagship, and representatives of Century Airlines, which will conduct the service. At the outset the schedule will comprise three round trips daily between St. Louis and Chicago at a fare comparable to rail rates. Aerial passenger service to Chicago has been operated for several years by Universal Airlines.

SLAYERS OF TWO WOMEN
IN CHINESE MISSION CAUGHT

NANKING, March 19.—The slayers of Mrs. Vera White and Mrs. Victoria Miller, American missionaries at Yunnanfu Sunday night have been captured by provincial authorities, the Foreign Office was informed today.

The two women were killed in their sleep while their husbands were absent from the Seventh Day Adventist mission at Yunnanfu. Mrs. White's home was in Battleground, Wash., and Mrs. Miller's home was in Spokane.

They were slain with hatchets. Mrs. White's two children, asleep in the mission, were not molested.

EARNINGS OF PUBLIC UTILITIES

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Gross earnings of public utilities in the United States for 1930 are estimated by the United States Commerce Department at $2,381,763,567 as against $2,308,750,000 in 1929 and $2,229,532,394 in 1928. The totals represent composite receipts of the 55 companies or systems operating the greater percentage of the nation's gas, electrical light, heat, power and traction enterprises.

at the Paris openings and our workrooms have duplicated the models so accurately that it is almost impossible to distinguish the copies from the originals.
They're developed in genuine hand-made Baku personally selected by Mr. and Mrs. Wyle during their recent trip abroad. Never before in the history of the millinery business have hats in genuine handmade Baku been offered at 1.88.

Four hats from the Paris collection are sketched. Three other French models are also on display at every Wyle Hat Shop.

WHY HOTEL CHASE IS IN TRUSTEES' HANDS

Heavy Overhead Has Twice Proved Too Much for Operating Groups.

For the second time since it was opened in 1922, Hotel Chase is in the hands of trustees for S. W.
Straus & Co., Chicago investment house which underwrote the $2-700,000 first mortgage on the building.

Heavy overhead caused by the mortgage, in addition to the usual operating costs, taxes and related charges, have made profitable operation of the hotel impossible for two groups who conducted it for the last five and one-half years.

The first mortgage itself calls for annual payments of principal of $120,000, plus payments of interest at 7 per cent per annum. Thus interest for the first year of operation was $19,800. It still stands in excess of the annual principal payment of $120,000 despite the fact the mortgage has been reduced below $1,900,000 by the various groups in ownership of the hotel from time to time.

Still Under Heavy Load.
Thus it is that the hotel still labors under the heavy load imposed by the original financing plan. Its constructor and promoter, Chase Ulman, is out of town, but it is known that he received substantially less than the face of the loan, $2,700,000, when he obtained the mortgage from S. W. Straus & Co.

The usual charges imposed by the financing company in such cases include substantial fees to cover attorneys' expenses, title examinations and the expense and profit of marketing the bonds issued by the financing company, so that the face of the loan is markedly reduced.

Ulman, opening the hotel in September, 1922, erected it on property purchased from W. K.
Bixby, who had resided at Kings-highway and Lindell boulevards on a block-square estate. In addition to cash Ulman gave Bixby a second mortgage on the hotel for $315,000.
Subsequently it was turned over to Washington University as a gift from Bixby and paid off.

Ulman sold his equity in the hotel in September, 1925, three years after it had opened. The purchaser was the Lindell Hotel Co., largely owned by E. B. Wolf, Chicago real estate operator. The terms of the purchase were not disclosed, but it was generally understood Ulman made a profit on the deal, even though his payments on the first mortgage, including interest, had been in excess of $200,000 for the three years he had operated the establishment.

In addition to buying Ulman's equity, Wolf's company assumed the first mortgage, then reduced in principal to approximately $2-300,000. Wolf placed the business in charge of Fred Skillman and George T. Thompson, co-managers.

The overhead imposed by the original financing plan was still there, however. Less than three years later, after it had paid about $600,000 on principal and interest, the operating company defaulted on interest payments.

The trustees stepped in and took charge for S. W. Straus & Co.
They were William B. Orthwein,
St. Louis attorney, and S. J. T.
Straus, president of the Chicago concern, who are in charge again now.

Seek to Refinance.
In 1923, when the Lindell Hotel
Co. defaulted on interest payments, the trustees operated the hotel for six weeks, to avoid foreclosure.
At the end of six weeks, the hotel was taken over by a group incorporated as the Chase Hotel Co.
The group included Ulman, Preston J. Bradshaw, the late T. T.
Anderson, William A. Meletio,
George L. Zollmann, Thomas J.
Hester, S. C. McCormick and Fred
L. English.

Subsequently Ulman withdrew.
The chief members of the group,
now in default of interest payments, are Meletio, Zollmann and the estate of Mr. Anderson. These and associates are attempting to re-finance the hotel, in which event they will take over the hotel operation.

Hotel Chase has been operated both for transient and permanent guests.

ROBBERS GET $1000 AT WHOLESALE HOUSE

Carlstrom Cheese Co. Held Up by Two Armed Men; Other Thefts Reported.

Five men and two women were held up last night and early today by armed men who took amounts ranging up to $1000.

The Carlstrom Cheese Co., 410 North Second street, was robbed of $1000 yesterday by two men who held up Roland Branditz, the manager, as he was checking receipts with four drivers. After the robbers took $100 from a fabled Brand-ditz said "you have it all," but they searched the safe and got $800.

The office of the Johnson Products Co., on the third floor of the Goldman building, 709 Pine street, was robbed of $100 yesterday by two men who fled Anthony Pro-cento, the manager, and two employees in a rear room.

Edward Sullivan, a taxicab driver, was robbed of $7, his cab, and cap early today by three men, one armed, who boarded his cab at Sixth and Pine streets and held him up in the 2800 block of Eads avenue.

Two hours later, at 2:30 a. m., another taxicab driver, John Crothers, was robbed of his cab, cap and $1 by four men, one armed, who held him up at Twenty-third and Howard streets after riding from Eighteenth street and Washington

SUES MAN, 70, FOR $25,000, ALLEGING BREACH OF PROMISE

Widow in Petition Says John Henry Twiehaus Has Property Valued at $50,000.

Mrs. Ethel Kelley, 59 years old, a widow, 1338A Franklin avenue, filed suit in Circuit Court yesterday against John Henry Twiehaus, 524 Chouteau avenue, for $25,000, alleging breach of promise. She avows they became engaged to marry in 1927, but he broke the engagement and refused to marry her April 25, 1929.

The petition states that Twiehaus has property valued at $50,000. He could not be reached.

"According to William H. Corcoran Jr., attorney for Mrs. Kelley, the defendant is past 70 years of age.

One last night a burglar climbed from the fire escape into a rear bedroom and took three purses lying on the bed, containing a total of $33.

Mrs. Marie Kern of 6523 Wile avenue, was robbed of her pocketbook containing $1.18 and a rosary last night by a man who ap-
in her garage in the rear of her home and warned "scream if you want to die." He went off in an automobile driven by another man.

Edward J. Sisk, attendant at a filling station at Grand and Forest Park boulevards, was robbed of $45 last night by a man who drew a revolver as Sisk and Vernico Lynch were servicing his automobile.

Police are investigating a report by Thomas Murphy, a patient at the Veterans' Hospital, Danville, Ill., that he was robbed of $300, representing a loan on his Government insurance, by two Negro men and a woman, who dragged him into a vacant lot at 1119 North Eleventh street, yesterday.

RED CROSS TO END ARKANSAS RELIEF WORK ON APRIL 1

To Close Headquarters in Little Rock but Continue to Aid Needy as Long as May Be Necessary.

WORST HIT STATE FIRST TO RECOVER

Manager Baxter Announces Success of Efforts to Ease Distress in Drouth-Stricken Area.

The Red Cross relief headquarters at Little Rock will close April 1, demonstrating that Arkansas, most severely stricken state of the drouth area, is the first to recover, William M. Baxter Jr., Midwestern area manager, announces today.

"This is a real triumph," Baxter declared, "for the more than 6000 volunteers of local Red Cross chapters who neglected their personal affairs, laboring without stint on behalf of their friends and neighbors in distress, assisted by the national organization. Headed by State Chairman Harvey C. Couch of Pine Bluff, the volunteer organization extended to the smallest townships.

"The problem of climbing out of the apparent impasse was that of financing this year's crop, so that planters could resume responsibility for the people on their land—the prevailing system, for many years. In addition to credit made available by local bankers and merchants was the $45,000,000 Government appropriation for direct loans from the Department of Agriculture for seed, fertilizer and feed for work stock.

"Agricultural credit corporations were stimulated by the subscription of stock locally, and by the appropriation of $1,500,000 by the Arkansas State Legislature, to be made available to such corporations. The Department of Agriculture has indicated that $10,000,000 of the supplementary $20,000,000 appropriated for farm rehabilitation, will be lent to such credit agencies. The other $10,000,000 will be used in direct loans for farm rehabilitation. Already thousands of farmers have obtained credit through these sources, and community leaders without exception affirm the population will be self-supporting again by the first of next month, except in certain isolated instances.

"In the last analysis, the problem confronting this and other states is one of underlying forces, Red Cross assistance being of an emergency nature to meet the human needs of food, clothing and health, which were surface indications of difficulties that reached down into the whole economic scheme. The immediate effect of the removal of the relief psychology should be business recovery and improvement of morale.

"Red Cross assistance was freely given and will be continued, in those cases where families are unable to make immediate arrangements for their own care."

Baxter emphasized that special features of the relief operation were the financing by the Red Cross of noon lunches for school children, the provision of yeast in pellagra cases, the authorization of medicines for families unable otherwise to obtain them, and the distribution of quantities of seed for spring gardens, that will mean hundreds of acres of high-quality garden produce in a short time.

AMERICAN STUDENTS SEE POPE Pope Pleased With Reception of His Radio Talk in U. S.

VATICAN CITY, March 19.—Pope Pius XI received and addressed 200 students of the American College in Rome today. His holiness blessed the students and extended his blessing to the United States, thanking the Americans in this way, he said, for their many congratulations on his radio message. He said more congratulatory messages on the broadcast had come from the United States than from any other country, and expressed particular pleasure that many of them were from non-Catholics.

He told the students the United States had always been animated by the apostolic spirit and said it made him happy to have so large an episcopacy which gave such beautiful manifestations of the truth and the Catholic life. He told his auditors he was always glad to receive American students, because the United States formed so large and conspicuous a part of the Catholic family.

ERROR FOUND AFTER 11 YEARS U. S. Sues to Recover $1200 Compensation Paid to Wrong Veteran.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 19.—Eleven years after Walter Jones of Alton was allowed his compensation as a World War veteran, the government has filed suit in Federal Court to recover $1200. The government made a mistake in identity and the money should have been paid to Walter Jones of Kentucky, the petition filed today said.

PARADE DOWN GRAND CANAL IN HONOR OF CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Venice Turns Out in All Types of Boats to Greet Comedian, Cheered at Hotel.

By the Associated Press. VENICE, Italy, March 19.—Down the Grand Canal of Venice came Charlie Chaplin this afternoon in a triumphal procession reminiscent of the Pied Piper of Hamelin.

Big boats, little boats, motor boats, row boats, steam boats, ferry boats and gondolas tagged along behind his motor launch. Charlie bowed and waved to throngs which filled the windows of famous old palaces along the banks.

Past the iron bridge, the Rialto and St. Mark's square rode the film comedian and his entourage while police boats churned about trying to keep Charlie's impetuous following from swamping him. At the Daniels Hotel he debarked. Police had their troubles unraveling the tangle of navigation around the front of the hotel so that traffic could be resumed. Even after the boats were dispersed thousands of persons tarried cheering around the hotel until Chaplin appeared at the window and bowed and waved to them.

GULF OIL INCOME 75 PCT. LESS
Corporation Made $10,625,352 in 1930; $44,489,695 Year Before.
NEW YORK, March 19.—The Gulf Oil Corporation, one of the leading independent oil companies, reports net income for 1930 of $10,625,352, or less than 25 per cent of the 1929 net of $44,489,695. This showing is in line with reports made by other companies for 1930, and reflects primarily the sharp shrinkage in crude oil and gasoline prices. Several of the large oil companies have not yet reported the results of 1930, including Standards of New Jersey, New York and Indiana. Gulf's net earnings amounted to $235 per share of common stock, against $9.53 a share in 1929.

CONVICTS SAVE FAMILY IN FIRE
Georgia Prisoners on Way to Work Rescue Sleepers.
By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., March 19.—Shackled convicts yesterday rescued a sleeping family from a burning house.
Five prisoners and a guard were on the way to work on a highway on the outskirts of the city. The convicts noticed flames coming from the building and aroused the occupants. Then they turned to salvaging the furniture.

U. S. Tire Plant, Working at Capacity.
By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., March 19.—The tire plant of the United States Rubber Co. is operating at capacity with 4000 workmen employed in three shifts. J. F. Hundreds of Fine Tropical Worsteds SUITS
PRACTICALLY GIVEN AWAY

The ninth annual circus of more than 7000 Boy Scouts will be presented tomorrow and Saturday evenings at The Arena, opening at 7:30 o'clock with the spectacular grand entry of all the scouts.
This year's circus will dramatize the Boy Scout handbook. A huge reproduction of the cover will be unveiled by its editor, Dr. H. W. Hurt of New York, and from it will step boys symbolizing Scout activities and impersonating famous Americans who appear on the cover.
An Indian pageant, for which a group of Pueblo Indians, formerly connected with the Smithsonian Institution, have trained 200 boys, will be a chief feature. Six Indians led by Chief Big Snake will give a war dance. An intertribal ceremony will be reproduced.
Airplane models to be flown will include the International Wakefield trophy winner made by Eagle Scout Ehrhardt. Campercraft, pioneering and other phases of scouting will be graphically presented. Several hundred scouts, stationed at points around The Arena, will demonstrate proper display of the American flag.
An investiture ceremony will admit several hundred boys to the organization Friday evening. Streamers will be awarded Saturday night to winning troops in the annual achievement contests. The program will close with 21 Scouts rising through the top of a 15-foot birthday cake with lighted candles in observation of the twenty-first anniversary of scouting in the United States.

SATURDAY OFF IS HALF DAY
IF WELL, FULL DAY IF SICK
Thus Does U. S. Solicitor-General Solve Problem of Federal Employees' Recent Grant.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—Solicitor-General Thacher in a ruling submitted yesterday to the chief executive on whether the new Saturday half holidays recently granted 150,000 Federal employees by Congress "shall be considered as full days for the purposes of computing annual and sick leave," answered "Yes" and "No."
He held that a Federal employee absent all of Saturday should have four hours of vacation taken from his total annual vacation leave, but that in computing sick leave, Saturday morning off should be counted as a full day.
Each Government employee is allowed 30 days' annual leave and 10 days' sick leave. The trouble arose when different departments employed different systems of charging Saturday morning holidays to their employees.

DOCTOR'S WAY to treat Constipation

FREE BOTTLE
Mail to "SYRUP PEPSIN," Monticello, Illinois.
Please send trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, entirely FREE.
Name _____
St. _____
P. O. _____

THIS simple prescription offers the best way yet discovered to treat constipation of men, women and older people for normal, natural activity. This is so well known that another important fact is sometimes overlooked.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is ideal as a laxative for babies and children.
Every child loves its syrupy taste. It does not upset. It cannot cause discomfort. It is quickly and thoroughly effective—and absolutely safe. You can use it even with an infant.
You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative—one whose experience covers forty-seven years. His record of having attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or child is believed unique in American medical history!

Give a little Syrup Pepsin to your child for constipation. Use it to relieve those headachy, bilious, feverish spells. It will keep bowels normally active during colds or children's diseases. It clears coated tongue, unpleasant breath; increases appetite; helps the whole system. All drug stores.

FACTORY EMPLOYMENT INCREASE IS REPORTED

Improvement in Shoe Industry Laid to Rush Orders for Easter Trade.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 19.—Continuation through February of improvement in the previous month in the industrial employment situation is announced by the United States Employment Service.

Expansion of operating schedules by several major industries, necessitating additional help, was noted in the statement, although it added "there were few substantial employment increases."

A 30 per cent gain in individual insurance in force and a substantial increase in group insurance in 1930 was reported by Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor and president of the Union Labor Life Insurance Co.

These increases exceeded reasonable expectations, "despite a year that has taxed the strength of the industrial world generally," Woll said.

Rush orders for the Easter trade were cited as having caused many shoe factories in New England to operate at capacity, recalling many idle workers.

"Increased activity" was noted in some branches of the textile industry, although cotton-textile mills "did not share so conspicuously in this improvement."

Production schedules have been stepped up in several large iron and steel plants, and a further gradual increase in production and employment was predicted for next month, due to a gain in orders.

"Spotty" improvement was reported for the automobile industry, though the outlook was "much brighter" at the close of the month.

An upward trend in shipbuilding, with increased demand for skilled mechanics, was recorded. Operations in the radio, logging, mining and building industries continued on a curtailed basis, the bulletin said, "with large surpluses of craftsmen" in the building field. Considerable improvement in that industry was anticipated in March, with large public building programs scheduled to start in almost every state as soon as weather permits.

Body of Baby Found in River. The body of a week-old girl was recovered from the Missouri River near Black Walnut, 12 miles below St. Charles, yesterday by workmen in an Army Engineers' fleet. Corporal Belding said water in the lungs indicated the baby had been thrown alive into the river.

REPORTER TESTIFIES ON 36-YEAR-OLD STORY

Called in Estate Claim Based on Alleged "Quaker Hand-shake" Marriage.

Testimony by a former St. Louis newspaper man, who traveled here by airplane to relate the circumstances of a news story he wrote more than 26 years ago concerning the blighted romance of Helen Lindert, a Salvation Army worker, and the late Henry Hiram Stratton, a stationary engineer, yesterday completed the evidence in the Federal Court suit of Alexander H. H. Stratton, Milwaukee, Wis., who, as the son of Stratton and Helen Lindert, is seeking half of Stratton's $50,000 estate.

Judge Paris, who heard the suit without a jury, took the case under advisement. Stratton, who lived alone at 5722 Barmer avenue at the time of his death in 1925, left $5 to a legitimate daughter, Mrs. Esther Johnson of Washington and the rest of his estate to the Masonic Home and the Masonic Temple Association. No mention was made of the plaintiff in the present litigation.

James Loughborough, the newspaper man, identified a copy of a story published in the Post-Dispatch in 1905, which related the unsuccessful effort of Helen Lindert to obtain a warrant against Stratton for non-support of their son. No mention was made in the article of a "Quaker handshake" wedding which the mother, now Mrs. A. B. Glaeser of Redlands, Cal., testified last Tuesday had taken place.

Taylor R. Young, defense counsel, said he had searched for the newspaper man for five years, and succeeded in finding him last week through a letter addressed to "James Loughborough, a newspaper man, believed to be in New York City."

Mrs. Glaeser, in her testimony, related that in 1892, Stratton took her by the hand in a Milwaukee park, and they pledged fidelity to each other as man and wife. "That is the Quaker handshake, and we don't need any other marriage," Stratton said, according to Mrs. Glaeser.

Mrs. Glaeser said she subsequently learned that Stratton had a wife in New York. He promised to get a divorce and marry her, she related, but after obtaining the divorce, married another woman. Stratton never denied the paternity of Alexander, she testified.

Mrs. Helen Guth, who said she was present at Stratton's second marriage, testified that Stratton "got down on his knees and swore that he was not the father of Helen Lindert's son." Stratton's second marriage ended in divorce.

WOMEN TO MAKE DRY REPORT
Mrs. Peabody Says Wickersham Didn't Respect Their View.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—Criticism of the Wickersham Commission's prohibition report as failing to represent the viewpoint of American women was made today by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement.

In announcing the formation of an unofficial national law enforcement commission, composed of 20 women, Mrs. Peabody, who recently moved to Orlando, Fla., from Massachusetts because of the vote against prohibition in the latter state, said the new group would meet in Washington April 10 to 12 and would submit a composite report to President Hoover. Among those named as having accepted appointment to the Woman's Law Enforcement Commission is Mrs. Edward Thurman Smith of Missouri.

FIREMEN'S PENSIONS DEFEATED
House, 61 to 57, Votes Down Proposal to Tax Insurance Premiums.
By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—A bill to enable cities and towns with paid fire departments to pass ordinances for firemen's pensions, the revenue to come from an annual 2 per cent tax on fire insurance premiums collected in the city or town, was killed by the House, 61 to 57, yesterday.

The proposal was introduced by Representatives Keating, Democrat, Kansas City, and Parker and Hehl, Republicans, both of St. Louis. Members opposing it declared the 2 per cent tax proposed would not be paid by the fire insurance companies, but would be added to the cost of fire insurance to policy holders and would be figured against the State as a whole, instead of only in the localities that would provide the pensions.

Father and Child Are Doing Well.
By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 19.—The strain of being a father has put Harold Lloyd in the hospital. The movie comedian is resting in a hospital at Santa Barbara, Cal., partly as a result of the strain following the premature birth of Harold Lloyd Jr. several months ago. The boy weighed three pounds at birth and although his life was despaired of for weeks, he gained strength and is past danger. Mrs. Lloyd is at her Hollywood estate with their son, Harold Jr., and their adopted children, Mildred and Gloria.

19 Convicts Escape in Uruguay.

STREET CAR CO.
TIES STRING TO HOME RULE BILL

That Provision Would Be Ineffective Until St. Louis Had Granted It Terminable Permit (Franchise).

ITS LOBBYISTS PUSH OTHER MEASURES

One Would Shift Control of Bus Lines From City to State, Another Cut Corporation Paying Bills.

By ROY D. CARROLL, Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—The terminable permit bill of the St. Louis Public Service Co. now pending in the Senate as the latest move by the company to get a new long-term franchise in St. Louis, is so drawn that the purported/home rule of transportation facilities the bill proposes to confer on the city could not become operative until after the city first had granted the company a terminable permit and the franchise ordinance had become effective. The bill would sanction such a grant in St. Louis for a period up to 50 years.

While offered in the guise of a measure authorizing establishment of a "comprehensive unified local transportation system" in St. Louis, the bill primarily is a franchise bill. The home rule provisions, offering an inducement for passage, could be placed in operation only after the franchise grant had been made. In the form in which the bill was introduced, it applied only to St. Louis. The Senate Committee on Municipal Corporations, which reported the bill favorably, recommended amendments making it apply also to Kansas City. The street railways in Kansas City are controlled by the same holding company, the City Utilities Co., which controls the St. Louis Public Service Co. and the People's Motor Bus Co. of St. Louis. Senator Kinney of St. Louis, who introduced the bill, is chairman of the Committee on Municipal Corporations. The bill is on the Senate calendar for engrossment.

Like Bill Previously Vetted. The requirement for the issuance of the terminable permit before creation of the local Transit Commission which would take over regulation of the transportation facilities from the Missouri Public Service Commission, is definitely fixed in Section No. 2 of the bill. As told in the Post-Dispatch, the permit provisions of this bill are similar to those in a terminable permit bill, passed by the 1929 Legislature, except that the permit under their bill could not be issued for more than 50 years. The 1929 bill would have authorized what in effect would have been a perpetual franchise. Gov. Caulfield vetoed the 1929 bill as "an unnecessary and unwise invasion of the charter making powers of the city."

The pending bill would authorize the Transit Commission, once it was created after the permit ordinance had been passed and become effective, to regulate the "comprehensive, etc." system with the same powers and in the same manner as such regulation now is exercised by the Missouri Public Service Commission. The transit commission would supersede the Public Service Commission in regulation of the transportation facilities in the "comprehensive, etc." system. Provision of the Public Service Commission act would apply to and govern proceedings by the transit commission. As the Post-Dispatch has often pointed out, this would make no change in the present situation as to regulation. Only the name of the commission would be changed.

Trolley Lobby Active. When the bill was before the Senate Committee on Municipal Corporations, a favorable report was urged by former State Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, lobbyist for the St. Louis Public Service Co., and T. E. Francis of St. Louis, attorney for the company. No one appeared to urge the passage of the bill on behalf of the public.

The bill is one of several which the St. Louis Public Service Co. is sponsoring or in which it is interested. The company's known representatives who are here regularly to urge adoption of legislation in which the company is interested, or to oppose legislation to which the company objects, includes McCawley, Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the company, and John Hall of St. Louis, who also represents other public utility interests. The People's Motor Bus Co., sister company of the St. Louis Public Service Co., is regularly represented before the Legislature by June Rose, a Jefferson City attorney. ITS LOBBYISTS PUSH OTHER MEASURES

One Would Shift Control

By ROY F. CARROLL.

Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—The terminable permit bill of the St. Louis Public Service Co. now pending in the Senate as the latest move by the company to get a new franchise in St. Louis, is being drawn to the purpose of shifting the control of transportation facilities from the city to the state, offering a new measure to confer on the city the right to become operative until after the city first had granted the company a terminable permit and the franchise ordinance had been effective. The bill would sanction a grant in St. Louis for a period of 20 years.

While offered in the guise of a measure authorizing establishment of a "comprehensive unified local transportation system" in St. Louis, the bill primarily is a franchise bill, the same rule provisions, offering an inducement for passage, could be placed in operation only after the franchise grant had been made. In the form in which the bill was introduced, it applied only to St. Louis City. The Senate Committee on Municipal Corporations, which reported the bill favorably, recommended amendments making it applicable to Kansas City. The street railways in Kansas City are controlled by the same holding company, the City Utilities Co., which controls the St. Louis Public Service Co. and the People's Motor Bus Co. of St. Louis. Senator Kinney of St. Louis, who introduced the bill as chairman of the Committee on Municipal Corporations, said the bill is on the Senate calendar for enactment.

Like Bill Previously Voted.
The requirement for the issuance of the terminable permit before creation of the local Transit Commission which would take over operation of the transportation facilities from the Missouri Public Service Commission, is definitely fixed in Section No. 2 of the bill. As told in the Post-Dispatch, the provisions of this bill are similar to those of a terminable permit bill passed by the 1929 Legislature, except that the permit under the bill could not be issued for more than 20 years. The 1929 bill would have authorized what in effect would have been a perpetual franchise. Gov. Gable voted the 1929 bill as "an unnecessary and unwise invasion of the charter making powers of the city."

The pending bill would authorize the Transit Commission, once it was created after the permit ordinance had been passed and become effective, to regulate the "comprehensive unified" system with the same powers and in the same manner as such regulation now is exercised by the Missouri Public Service Commission. The transit commission would supersede the Public Service Commission in regulation of the transportation facilities in the "non-exclusive" etc., system. Provisions of the Public Service Commission act would apply to and govern proceedings by the transit commission. As the Post-Dispatch has often pointed out, this would tend to change in the present situation to regulation. Only the terms of the commission would be changed.

Ysaye at 73 Wrote Opera While Fighting for Life

"Peter the Miner," Produced With Success, Completed While Violinist Was Recovering From Amputation of Leg.

By the Associated Press.

LIEGE, Belgium, March 19.—Eugene Ysaye, 73 years old, Belgium's beloved violin maestro and once director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, has won his race with death, winning a triumphant opera as he ran.

Ysaye is rapidly recovering after the amputation of his right leg, done to end two years of suffering. During his illness, and while the shadow of death was often near he was constantly attended by his wife, daughter of Dr. Herman Dincin of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians visited him almost daily. When physicians informed him that he must undergo the amputation, he was in the midst of writing his opera, "Peter the Miner," which recently was sung with great success for the first time at Liege. He ordered preparations to be made for the operation. Gradually the score assumed form during his convalescence and he often played or hummed strains of the music, or entire movements, to Queen Elizabeth during her visits.

When he recovered, the opera was produced under the auspices of the King and Queen. In appreciation of her interest, Ysaye presented to Her Majesty a reproduction of the famous Guarnerius violins which were made in Brussels generations ago. "Peter the Miner" is more than an operatic score. Ysaye's friends say they see in it all those things which have appealed most to the composer during his life, including the "Cranions" of Liege folk-dances which thrilled him as a child.

Ysaye is well known in American music circles. He conducted the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra from 1915 to 1922. He was born in Liege.

U. S. BARS WOMAN, NOTED IRISH POET, FOR LACK OF CASH

Ella Young, Who Has Lectured at Many Colleges, Deemed Likely to Become Public Charge.

PUBLISHER, FRIENDS GUARANTEE FUNDS

State Department Says It Is Acting for Own Good of World Authority on Celtic Literature.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Ella Young, noted Irish author and poetess, is being refused entry to the United States by the American Consul at Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, on the stated ground that she "is likely to become a public charge." The information, reaching here through other sources, was confirmed today by the State Department.

The reason given for detaining Miss Young is interesting. Recognized as the foremost living authority on Celtic mythology, she is the author of two books which have been published both in this country and Great Britain, and Longmans, Green & Co., her international publishers, are preparing to bring out a third. She has lectured at various American colleges, including Vassar, Smith and Mills.

Miss Young is most widely known for her Irish folk-lore stories. Following publication in 1927 of her book, "The Wonder-land of Her Son," she visited this country on a lecture tour. Later she published "The Tangle-Coated Horse," and at the instance of her publishers, settled down in California to produce a third work, "The Unicorn with Silver Shoes."

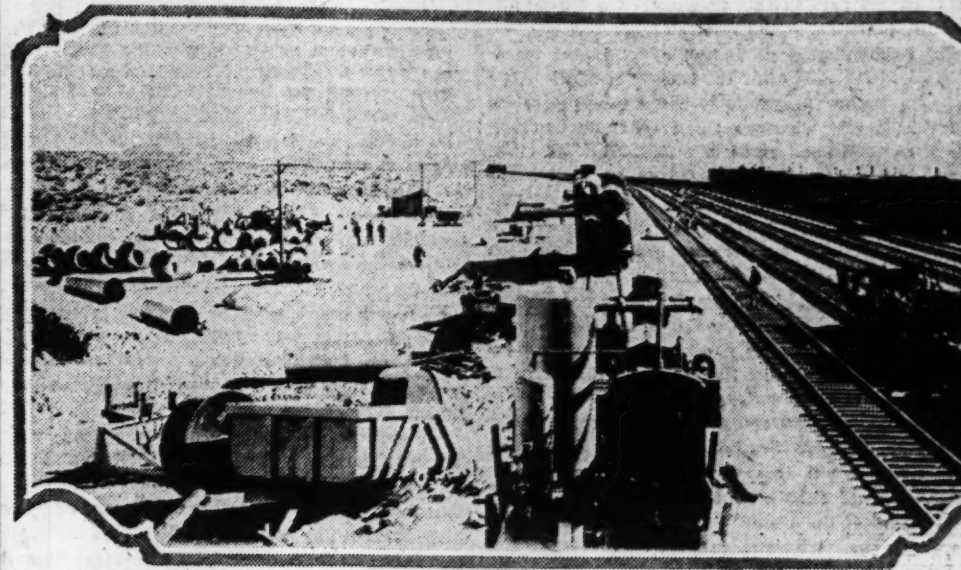

She is much at the work at the University of California. Her visitors' visa expired, and twice her publishers were able to obtain extensions to allow her to complete her work, but a third extension was refused, and she went to Canada intending to return on the British immigration quota. It was then the American Consul at Victoria detained her on the ground that she might become an object of charity.

Prof. Durham, head of the English department of the University of California, has telegraphed the State Department impugning it to facilitate her entry, on the ground that she is "a famous scholar, who would be a great addition to the culture and learning of the United States." The Cultural Society of San Francisco, whose membership represents resources of several million dollars, has filed with the State Department a statement guaranteeing that the author will not become a public charge. Longmans, Green & Co. have assured the State Department that she is receiving royalties through them, and that her detention at Victoria is all that prevents publication of her latest book.

The explanation given at the State Department today was that immigration officials were interested only in Miss Young's own welfare. By detaining her, it was said, they hoped to prompt publishers and educational institutions to offer her contracts which would assure her a stable living in this country after she is admitted.

The American Consul at Victoria, R. C., is George A. Bucklin. He is a native of Oklahoma, a graduate of Southwest Kansas College, and has been in the consular service 25 years.

Marchers Protesting Against Ministry.

TOKIO, March 19.—Eleven participants in an anti-Government demonstration and several policemen were injured when police attacked the demonstrators near the Parliament buildings today. The demonstration was arranged by the Selyukai, or minority, party as a prelude to introduction in the Diet tomorrow of a motion of non-confidence in the Minseito (majority) Cabinet of Premier Hamaguchi.

The demonstrators were attempting to reach the Diet after marching through the streets carrying banners reading "Dissolve the Cabinet," "Overthrow the Reactionary Hamaguchi Cabinet." About 140 demonstrators were arrested. Simultaneously, the Social-Democratic and proletarian parties held mass meetings and parades and endeavored to march to the Diet to present petitions, but like the Selyukai sympathizers were unable to get within two blocks of the building, which was guarded by 6000 policemen.

CITIZEN HELD INCOMMUNICADO

Counsel Not Allowed to See American Imprisoned in Chile.

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 19.—After being refused permission to see Larry K. Bethune, an American citizen being held incommunicado in jail in connection with a $2,160,000 suit, Ambassador William S. Culbertson today cabled to the State Department in Washington regarding his next step. Bethune, a citizen of Atlanta, Ga., is general manager in Chile of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation, against which Bruas, deli and Mann, automobile distributors, have brought suit for $2,160,000. They claim this represents commission due them for distributing 5500 automobiles. The American firm denies any contract with them. Police and Foreign Office, with whom the American Ambassador interceded, said Chilean law permits holding of foreigners incommunicado.

PAINTING STOLEN FROM CHURCH

MEXICO CITY, March 19.—Thieves broke into a church at Queretaro Monday night and cut out of its frame a valuable painting presented by the Emperor of Austria to the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico on his wedding day. Some time ago an offer of $50,000 for the painting was rejected.

RED CROSS DROUTH RELIEF FUND RAISED IN TWO MONTHS

Shows America Wants Organization to Act for It in Emergencies, Chairman Says.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—In two months and five days the Red Cross has raised $10,000,000 for drouth relief. It had hoped to obtain this sum in two weeks. John Barton Payne, chairman, announced yesterday $10,000,000 had been contributed, demonstrating again "that the American people want the Red Cross to act for them in meeting emergencies and distress growing out of disasters in our nation."

He said the relief work would continue, and that on March 1, chapters in 20 states were giving food, clothing or other types of relief to 2,000,000 persons. "It must be a source of satisfaction to the thousands who contributed to the Red Cross drouth relief fund to know they have helped their fellow citizens over this calamitous winter season," Payne said. "Never before has our society faced so great a task of relief."

Contributions by States included Missouri, $264,500; Illinois, $167,800.

IMMIGRATION STILL DECLINES

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Continued decline of immigration to the United States for February is announced by the State Department.

Only 561 visas were issued for the month compared with 611 in January. The statistics covered 21 nations with a normal immigration of nearly 150,000. Rigid enforcement by Consuls of the administration order prohibiting entry of those likely to become public charges was held responsible for the decrease.

ITALY ACTS AGAINST EGYPT

Closes Frontier Along Cyrenaica as Result of Sacking of Caravans.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, March 19.—Friction between Italy and Egypt resulting in the closing of the Egyptian frontier along the Italian colony of Cyrenaica, in Africa, was disclosed today in the Senate by Minister of Colonies de Bono. The Minister said the trouble began when Egyptian border guards pursued two Italian caravans across the frontier and sacked them. He said representations to the Egyptian Government produced no result except vilification in the Egyptian press, so the frontier would be kept closed until satisfaction was given.

THREAT MADE OF VALUATION SUIT

Letter Indicates "Reproduc-

Charges Because Prices Are Down.

By RAYMOND F. BRANDT.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Although Washingtonians pay only 4.2 cents a kilowatt hour for domestically consumed electricity, the District Public Utility Commission has issued an ultimatum to the Potomac Electric Power Co., a North American subsidiary, that the rate must be further reduced at once. Last year the company, locally called Pepco, charged domestic consumers 4.7 cents a kilowatt hour and earned 10 per cent on valuation fixed by a Federal Court in 1924 under a consent decree. At the first of this year the company reduced the rate to 4.2 cents.

The District Commission, particularly Richmond B. Keech, the people's counsel, declared that this reduction was not enough. He recommended that the consent decree be vacated and a more up-to-date valuation be set by the commission. The commission, headed by former Major-General Mason M. Patrick, turned down Keech's recommendation for the time being, but presented the company with an immediate choice—either to reduce rates and keep the present rate base, or to prepare for court action to establish a rate base determined by present prices. With the ultimatum was a third choice, a proposed order which the commission said could be relied upon to give the company a fair return on its property. In effect, this proposed order was a bi-party contract between the commission, as representatives of the people, and the privately owned utility. The company has until March 24 to act.

Terms of Proposed Contract.
The proposed contract calls for ignoring the existing consent decree and for modifying the present "sliding scale" for fixing rates, whereby rates are gradually reduced as profits increase. The proposed contract, although it does not stipulate what per cent the company shall earn on its investment, provides that the rate base

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the people, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely pleasing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy, or predatory poverty.

A Cure for Governmental Incompetence.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Washington connotes a revolt of what we may call the intelligentsia of Congress against political conditions that are becoming intolerable to men who have not prostituted their powers to party politics. The present standard of political activities is so degraded and offensive to national pride and self-respect that a rebellion was inevitable unless the country were prepared to sink to new low levels of statesmanship. A narrow nationalism ready to exercise a Soviet-like intolerance against those who dare to differ, a general subsidence of moral principle and a foreign outlook that is hopelessly provincial, are some of the evidences of the morass into which we have sunk.

But when we consider the members of the progressive group we perceive among them no Gandhi who is capable of arousing a national crusade against the powers of evil and inefficiency that have slowed the wheels of government almost to a halt. The miracle of a second Gandhi is not likely to see, but it is within the power of the progressive bloc to demand the discarding of a machinery of government that is outworn beyond amendment and incompetent to function efficiently. We must learn that any written constitution is subject to the infirmities of old age and rapidly deteriorates.

Our Federal and State Legislatures are without an official head. They are congeries of representatives who flounder about without leadership and without responsibility. They are armies without a general, ships without a helmsman and as individuals acting alone there is no sense of responsibility. There is only one way out of the present chaos. We must abolish the useless White House and the White House staff. Thus we shall have a sovereign power of government again in the hands of the people through a Prime Minister whose tenure of power depends, not on a fixed term of years, but on the time he can command a majority of the people's representatives. Thus we shall at last recognize and adopt the indispensable principle of responsibility and the enunciation of clear-cut policies, and then for the first time the world will know just what our objectives are. Our ship of state will cease drifting. We shall be away from the entanglements of a Saragasso sea, we shall have a port to steer for and a listless and undisciplined crew, aware now of a responsible Captain on the bridge, will snap into a new sense of duty and march to a new self-respect.

Proper Display of the Flag.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In a recent parade through our city's streets, the United States flag was observed stretched across the radiator and the back of six motor cars. One draped up. All absolutely improperly used. Owners of Old Glory are generally most patriotic and would prefer properly to display the United States flag. I feel sure, patriotic organizations furnish flag codes free on request. I would like to see the Post-Dispatch sponsor a campaign of education along this line.

Auto Death Responsibility.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

At this time each year there is much printed and said in regard to the increase in auto deaths and what should be done about it, but nothing is done. A driver can speed through the streets without lights and leave a death in his wake, and he is perfectly safe if he is wise enough not to own anything of value and is acquainted with a neighborhood politician.

I saw the workings of politics at a Coroner's inquest and have found since that the case was no exception. If there was some punishment once in a while it might help.

After several traffic charges have been placed against a driver, he should have his license taken from him and not be allowed to continue until there is a death. Is there any great difference between an habitual traffic violator and an habitual thief?

The city has money to prosecute gangsters; but if the family of an auto victim is without funds there usually isn't even an arrest.

JUST A MOTHER.

Hailing the Miller Machine.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

CONGRATULATIONS on the brilliant victory of last Friday, in which you displayed your type of real journalism for the good of the city.

Your esteemed morning contemporary, as usual, had its editorial guns during the entire campaign trained on "Life in the Oaks," "Recognition of Russia" and other unimportant matter compared with the vital local issue.

Mayor Miller, who won his political spurs as an anti-machine man, has been reprimanded and the indications are that he is through. A notorious, obnoxious and powerful political machine has been halted and, with the same effort at all times, it can be destroyed.

C. W. VAN BUREN.

CONFORMING TO THE CONSTITUTION.

Transit News, the St. Louis Public Service Co.'s propaganda dodger, says: "The Post's reasons for objecting to State control of utilities is that under State control the treatment of utilities must conform to the Constitution of the United States. Truly an astounding reason to be brought forth by a metropolitan newspaper!"

We plead guilty to the indictment of opposing the constitutional rule in this instance. We oppose the constitutional rule in the matter of prohibition. We oppose constitutional or any other rule that works injustice to the public for the benefit of a privileged few. We advise the public to avoid the application of any such rule wherever legally possible. Indeed, it is a constitutional right of citizens, and of cities as well, to avoid the jurisdiction of any law where that can be done without violating another law. The promoters of the street car deal themselves avoided the law concerning partnerships which makes each partner liable in his private fortune for the obligations of the partnership. They did that by setting up the St. Louis Public Service Co., a corporation, the owners of which bear no personal responsibility for the company's liabilities. So do all the thousands of corporations in the country, for that matter. But there are anything illegal or astonishing in that? They are simply availing themselves of a choice of laws.

We freely admit that we oppose franchises with State control of utilities which "must conform to the Constitution of the United States." The reason is a compelling one. Where there is no franchise there is no State regulation and no constitutional question. It is conformity with the Constitution, as the applicable clauses of the Constitution guaranteeing property rights have been interpreted by the Supreme Court, that legally permits the Public Service Co. to charge a 10-cent fare in the futile effort to make a profit on an estimated $63,500,000 valuation of a property for which the company paid only $49,100,000. We submit that the operation of the constitutional rule in this case works a gross injustice upon the people of St. Louis, and that the people have an indubitable right to make any arrangement they choose with a transportation company to avoid that rule and escape that injustice.

Of course, the Constitution does not compel cities to grant franchises and happily there are other means of dealing with public transportation to the end that the cities may regulate service and fares. One way, as we have often said, is for cities to grant no franchise, but only cancelable permits, good as long as the company lives up to the obligations it accepts. Finally, the reason for not granting franchises, which should convince anyone interested only in fair dealing both for the company and the public, is that the courts have held that franchises bind only the cities granting them and leave the companies enjoying the franchises free from any and all obligations they may assume in accepting the grants. It must not be forgotten that the very franchises under which the Public Service Co. now operates provide that the fare shall be only five cents. Other provisions for extensions, change of routes, etc., at the direction of the city, are equally invalid under the court decisions. It was the franchise now owned by the Public Service Co. which enabled its predecessors to float reams of worthless securities and cause the investing public to lose millions of dollars.

In the light of these facts, is it any wonder that cities all over the country are studying the franchise problem, some of them, including the City of New York, even turning to municipal ownership as a certain escape from the constitutional rule which enables utilities promoters to mulct the public? Indeed, the astonishing thing is that they did not begin long ago. The only explanation is that the true facts of the utility situation have been slow to penetrate official minds.

No more franchises?

THE LIGHT THAT FAILED.

Our Legislature has killed the bill requiring pedestrians to wear red lights at night, and thus an opportunity to give Missouri a brilliant place on the map has gone glimmering. Moreover, our native taste and ingenuity which would have found incentive in this compulsion will have to await some other legal stimulus. The enactment of this bill would surely have inspired some rather flashy effects. A couple of crimson bulbs imbedded in the heels, which any poet would have described as vitalized rubies, would have shown whither we are drifting through the stillly reaches under the star-strewn skies. Or bits of flame worn as epaulettes upon shoulders would have pinked the dark like blazes. Or hats wreathed in scarlet, or vermilion berets, or swaggers sticks tipped in crimson, or a fine old-fashioned flambeau, or sputtering torch, or lantern jauntily worn upon the sleeve—really, there were rubies nights on Missouri's highways if this rucoco idea hadn't been tabled. Hurray.

The two greatest Deans on the circuit are "Gloomy" and "Dizzy."

LIBERALIZED CENSORSHIP AT WORK.

Senator Cutting was not entirely successful last year in his fight against literary censorship in connection with the tariff bill. Seeking to abolish censorship entirely, he succeeded only in obtaining a provision taking the final disposal of seized books out of the hands of the Treasury Department, and giving the importer a hearing in Federal court. That this partial victory was not to be without results now is proved by the liberalized policy under which five books, hitherto forbidden fruit for American readers, have been admitted. They are "The Arabian Nights," Casanova's memoirs, Rabelais' "Gargantua and Pantagruel," Boccaccio's "Decameron" and Apuleius' "Golden Ass." Senator Smoot and his cohorts put up a stubborn battle against allowing their contamination to spread to these shores, although the books have long been recognized as foreign classics.

This is not to say that American readers now will make the acquaintance of these literary treasures for the first time. After the manner of all prohibited articles, they have constantly been available to anyone who cared to pay the bootlegger's price. Also, editions of them have been printed in this country. They have been officially taboo for import, however, on no more profound authority than that of a customs inspector. A day in court, such as the new measure provides, would have spread on the records an amazing exhibition of intolerance and ignorance. The Treasury Department now averts this by giving its approval to the five volumes. Perhaps the day will come when all literature will be available freely to adult Americans, even though its content may not accord with the Puritan concept of suitable subjects. The Federal Government should cease to be the moral mentor of the people.

WE AMUSE ARKANSAS.

Missouri's make-believe morality in the matter of horse racing amuses Arkansas. Relating that we have just sternly refused to permit a revival of racing in Missouri, the Arkansas Democrat says:

What puzzles us is why St. Louis should want racing when it has it right across the river. It can wear the badge of respectability and still drop over and see the races any time it pleases. That apparently approaches the ideal.

So it does, and it explains why the Post-Dispatch refused to participate in such hypocrisy. We admit that people gamble on horse races, just as they gamble on stocks. Presumably many of the misguided moralists who went up to Jefferson City and saved us from the demoralizing influence of horse racing play the stock market. Yet for every suicide that horse racing has induced, for every embezzlement and delinquency, the stock market has caused a hundred. All the gladiatorial combats, horse races and bull fights in history never demoralized society as our bull market did.

Our point as to the horse racing bill at Jefferson City was that it is far worse to drive such things underground than to regulate them. We have only contempt for the smug view that Missouri gains something morally by excluding the races when book-makers are as thick in St. Louis as leaves in Vallambrosa, when the people are betting their heads off under cover, and when race meets are actually held in the State every year near Kansas City, law or no law. Only yesterday a dispatch from Kansas City announced that the next meet will open May 9, to continue for 25 or more days.

It is such things that make hypocrites of us. It is very well for ostriches to stick their heads in the sand and deny reality, but who wants to be an ostrich?

MISS LE GALLIENNE'S THEATER.

Miss Eva Le Gallienne soon will close the Civic Repertory Theater in New York to allow a year's vacation from acting and producing. Five years ago, at the age of 27, she forsook Broadway to begin her highly interesting experiment at the Fourteenth Street Theater. Time has passed and proved the wisdom of her conviction that if the theater is to be of real importance in the United States it must become an integral part of the community. It is so in Germany, Russia, France, Scandinavia, she reasoned; it can be so here. As a result beautifully acted plays of Barrie, Ibsen, Dumas, Shakespeare, Moliere, Chekov and other masters have been presented night after night to full and devoted houses attracted by the price scale of 50 cents to $1.50. Fortunately for the American stage, Miss Le Gallienne has promised her theater will reopen in the fall of 1932.

MORE FACTS ON DISABILITY PENSIONS.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania recently disclosed in Congress that many former emergency officers received goodly salaries from the Veterans' Bureau and at the same time drew disability allowances of $108.25 to $262.50 a month. Senator Ashurst now makes public a list broadening the exposure to persons in other fields. His table discloses, for instance, that B. Carroll Reece, until recently Congressman from Tennessee at $10,000 a year, draws a disability pension of $125 a month, and that Albert J. Galen, Associate Justice of the Montana Supreme Court at $7500 per annum, gets $218.75 a month from the Government. These additional figures give the pension expose the proportions of a nationwide scandal. It is apparent that the Government is employing in responsible positions many men 30 per cent disabled (the requirement for pension eligibility), or that there has been collusion among the personnel. It is also evident that the number of men in public and private life who do not hesitate to feed at the public trough, whether in need or not, is disgracefully large. Reed's resolution to check this flagrant abuse unfortunately failed of approval in the late Congress. A full inquiry into the extent of the evil and steps to stop it should be early business in the next session.

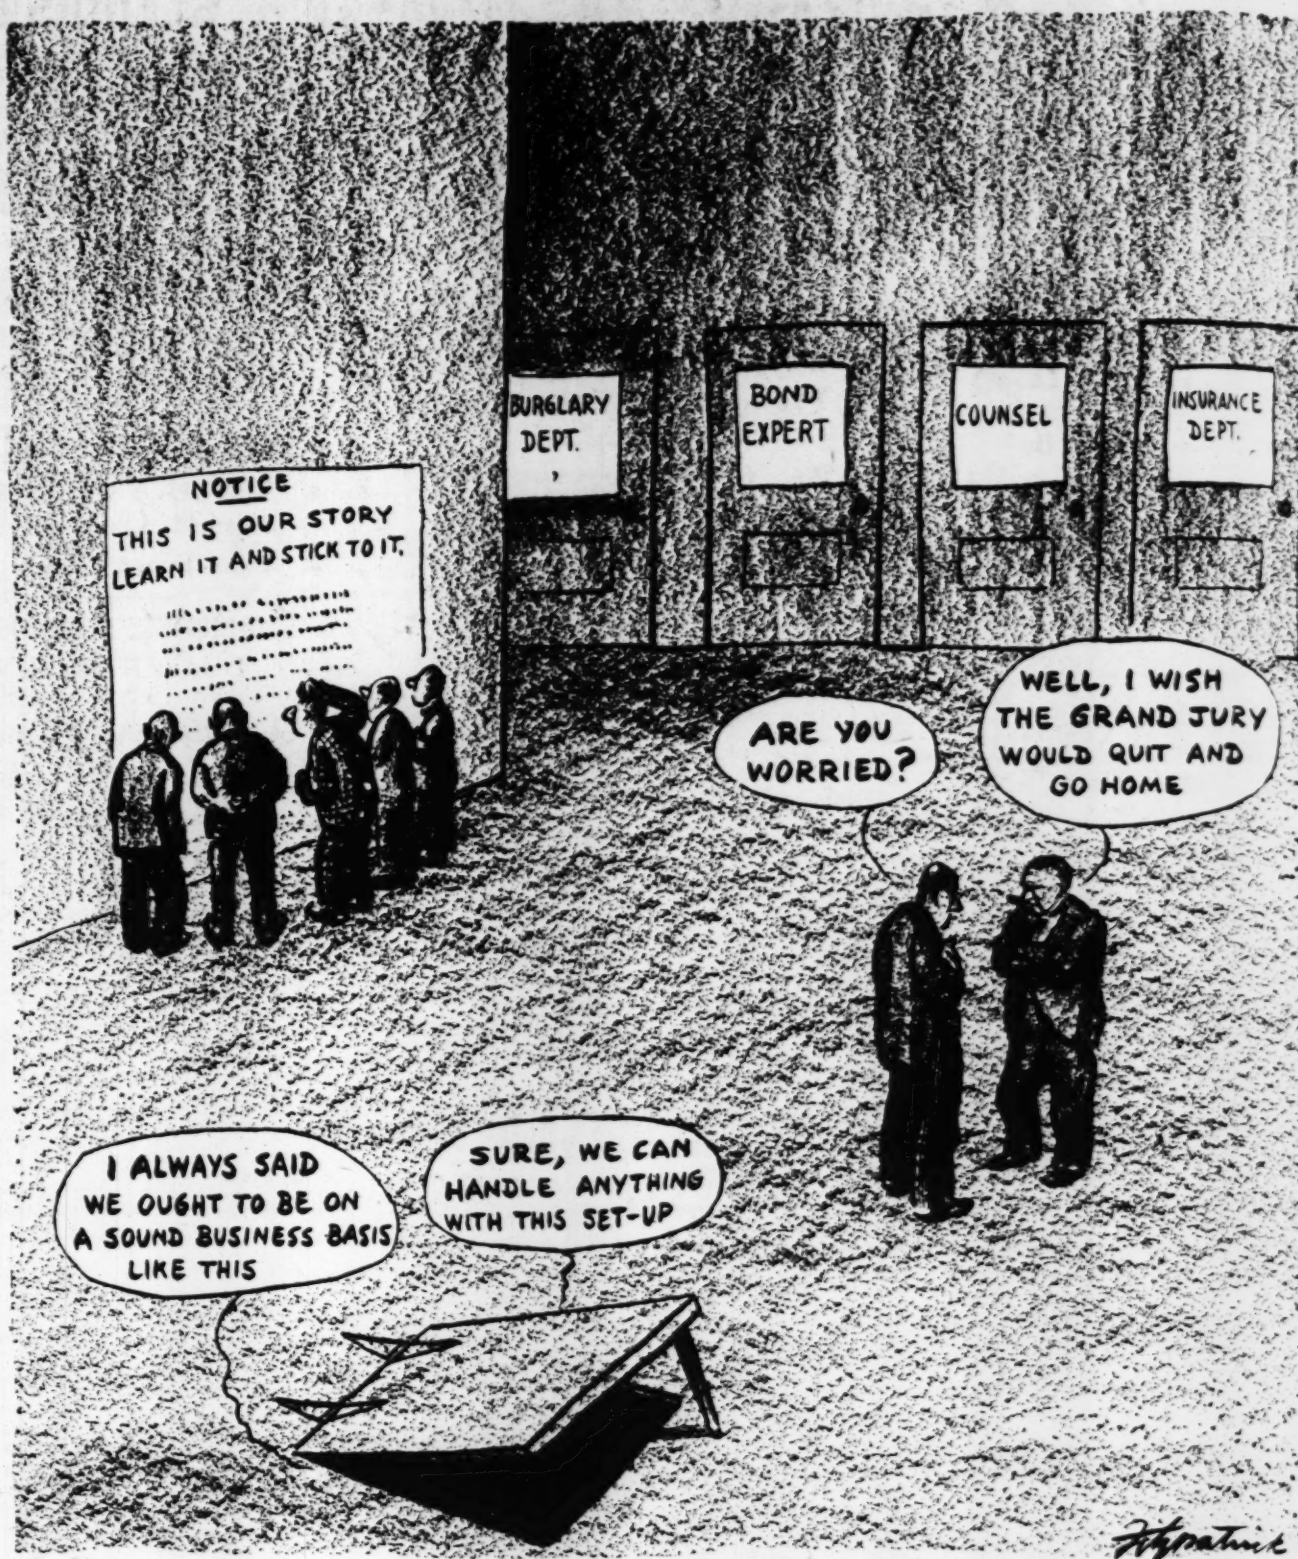

THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER.

Among the accomplishments of the late Congress was the passage of a bill making "The Star-Spangled Banner" the national anthem. Admirable as this effort is, it must, we think, be accounted a prologue rather than a piece of perfected legislation. Certainly things remain to be done. Any communal rendition of the ballad reveals the humiliating fact that hardly anybody knows the words. A law is in order, then, requiring everybody to memorize the stirring stanzas, under pain of such punishment as fits the crime. And, rare, too, is the voice capable of traversing the magnificent distances of that martial air, which plumbs the depths and scales the heights of song. So, manifestly, we must have a law compelling each of us to be a Caruso or Nordica, as nature intended, to the end that we may be a nation worthy of our national anthem. Until these details are attended to, a motion to abolish Congress will, we submit, be out of order.

DR. CLOPTON'S FINE GIFT.

The gift of prints which Dr. Malvern B. Clifton has made to Washington University is important not only for its public spirited generosity, but also because of the merit and scope of the collection. While the prints are the property of Washington University, they will remain on display at the City Art Museum until such time as the university builds a museum of its own and, in any case, will remain in the community as one of its cultural assets.

If the museum had no prints at all, the Clifton collection would give the student and public a short history of the art of etching. The 65 prints range from the fifteenth century works of Schongauer and Duerer to contemporary American and English masters. Impressions from an etching plate vary, but the Clifton prints reflect care and discrimination in their selection. They are not only fine prints but fine prints of the great plates of great masters. Rembrandt's "Three Crosses,"—one of the great etchings of all time—Goya, Meryon, Hayden, Whistler, Zorn, Bone's "Spanish Good Friday," and Cameron's "Ben Lomond," Foran, McBay, Griggs and Benson will give an idea of the scope of the collection. In this day of public enemies, it is refreshing to realize there are also public benefactors, and St. Louis may well be proud of this permanent addition to its art collection.

BACK IN THE 'THIEVES' MARKET.

What's Wrong With the Lawyers?

Public is dissatisfied with formalism and hair-splitting of law, and leans to belief in general corruption of profession; most lawyers apathetic toward critics, but Elihu Root points out danger of such popular feeling; attorneys may rehabilitate standing by casting out unethical members and working for practical legal reforms.

Mitchell Dawson in the Rotarian.

BACK in the times of Coke and Littleton—and even earlier—the public mind was infected with the belief that every lawyer was a mountebank concerned chiefly with tricks and chicanery. This tradition probably had its origin in the twelfth century, when non-clerical lawyers began to wrest the administration of the law from the church and consequently were denounced as limbo of Satan. But wherever and however it began, the doctrine of the lawyer's essential integrity has persisted with increasing virulence down to the present day. The classic toast—"Here's to the honest lawyer, the noblest work of God!" has always been greeted by business men or rustic with the dry response, "Tea and just about the same."

The legal profession can no doubt maintain its self-respect in spite of occasional nose-thumbings and wisecracks from the populace, so long as such gibes retain the character of good natured burlesque. A moderate amount of "razing" is a salutary check upon the inflation of the professional ego. But unfortunately, of late years the lawyers seem to have fallen into acute and serious public disrepute. A retired business man recently told me seriously that "more than half of the lawyers are crooks." Judging by the cartoons, editorials, and letters of Vox Pop current in newspapers and magazines, many people agree with him. The belief is prevalent that lawyers as a group are not living up to their opportunities for service in the common weal.

Many lawyers, conscious of their personal integrity, feel that popular criticism is best ignored. They should remember, however, that the condition of the public mind is a fact which eventually must be reckoned with. The opinion that the law is unnecessarily uncertain and complex, that many of its rules do not work well in practice, and that its administration often results not in justice, but in injustice, is general among all classes, and among persons of widely divergent political and social opinion. It is natural enough that the average citizen should harbor hostility toward lawyers as a class, because in every contact with the law he finds some lawyer opposing and thwarting him or attempting to impose upon him some kind of legal liability. The layman seldom reflects that the lawyer must necessarily be a partisan intent upon getting for his client every advantage the law will honestly permit. In doing so he treats inevitably upon the other people's toes. It is only when he permits himself to be used unscrupulously as a hired champion that he becomes a menace to society.

Contrary to popular belief, the legal profession is crowded with self-respecting men who maintain a high degree of integrity in spite of the pressure of clients, many of whom frankly prefer an attorney who is not too finicky in the methods he employs.

It has not been my intention to palliate the evils and defects of existing legal machinery and its administration in this United States, nor to gloss over the inertia and indifference of a vast number of American lawyers toward the reforms which the business world is demanding. A similar apathy toward change existed among English lawyers a few generations ago when a public furor, incited by the press, culminated in 1829 in a complete renovation of the mansions of the law. There are signs that the lawyers of the United States may before long be galvanized into action through similar pressure of public opinion.

A few lawyers and many law professors have already pitched into the job without the prospect or desire for personal recognition. A new spirit is in the air. It would thrive and spread and flourish upon the intelligent encouragement and co-operation of leaders of thought and action in business and in the other professions.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

WASHINGTON, March 19.

IN the closing hours of the Seventy-first Congress a frail woman in black, still mourning for her husband, arose on the floor of the House to say good-by to her colleagues.

Representative Pearl Peden Oldfield of Arkansas made two statements in her valedictory that seem to describe aptly the feelings of a woman in Congress: "It (her seat in Congress) almost became an obsession with me. . . . It was arduous for me to summon the necessary courage and confidence to undertake the task. . . ."

Mrs. Oldfield was referring particularly to her fear that she might disappoint those who had placed confidence in her. Doubtless she also had in mind the rather difficult task that every woman in the House faces. For the gentleman's road in Washington is a bit more rocky than that of the gentleman.

IN so far as actual work on Capitol Hill is concerned, the two are on about the same footing. Demands of constituents and routine vary little whether the member be male or female. But it is outside the chamber where the woman is at a disadvantage. Whether the member likes it or not, there are certain duties of a social nature that must be attended to. The man shifts much of this burden to his wife, his daughter or his sister and goes his way. The woman is not so fortunate. She must do double duty, and each will testify that at times this is a hard task.

For example, the women find it difficult to accept engagements for luncheon, for the House convenes daily at noon. The sessions usually extend into late afternoon, so that makes it difficult for them to get away for tea. An important roll call in the House has been known to force women members even to send hasty regrets to the White House. Only dinner is left then to entertain.

PERHAPS the greatest bugbear is the matter of calls they are expected to make. Washington insists on that, and one must go through the motions at least. Fortunately, "going through the motions" is possible, and so recognized. It is quite proper merely to send a card where one is expected to call unless it be for dinner or luncheon. This is a life-saver for the women in the House. And they take advantage of it. Three of them that we know of pick out a messenger from time to time, give him a bunch of their cards and a list with instructions to leave them where a call is expected. Thus a rather large part of Washington's politico-social obligation is met.

"HOOVER OVERALLS" ARE HERE.

From the Howell County (Mo.) Gazette.

A WEST PLAINS traveling salesman who was in Arkansas last week saw a sample of the latest Hoover overalls while passing through the depression territory. The overalls had all the latest features, including no pockets, legs sufficiently long so no socks are necessary, big belt, having 18 notches which may be tightened to relieve hunger, two patches sewed on the knees so the owner can pray for a job. With each pair of the prosperity overalls comes Mr. Hoover's guarantee, made six months ago, that prosperity would be here within 40 days.

BUILDERS OF DELUSION. By Henshaw Ward. (Hobbs-Merrill Co., New York City. $3.50.) THE FLIGHT FROM REASON. By Arnold Lunn. (Lincoln MacVeagh, The Dial Press, New York City. $3.50.)

THOSE who are interested in the dominant intellectual symptoms of the time will read these two books together. They are the products of a world progress toward chaos. They are the products of a world progress toward chaos. They are the products of a world progress toward chaos.

Henshaw Ward, as many will remember, is the man who a few years back, published a most provocative book on "The Circus of the Intellect," in which he undertook to show that all so-called knowledge and all human conceptions of any sort not founded solidly (how solidly indeed?) upon the testimony of the eyes, was simply unadorned bunk. Considering the undoubted fact that a wholly mysterious process of interpretation intervenes between the moment of the eye's report and the resultant mental concept of that report, it is clear that Mr. Ward left us quite on our own. We are indeed to find ourselves inevitably as soon as we begin to monkey with epistemology. Surely it requires no gigantic mental feat to realize that if we insist "to require" absolute objective upon seeking of any sort we are going to be quite out of luck, for however we may go at the task, the world that we accept as "real" will be, after all, a construction in consciousness commonly shared, and the value of any world conception is to be judged not by its alleged "objectivity," but only by its effect upon human relations as tested by human living. It has always been so with us, and in the very nature of the problem involved, it never be otherwise. Upon close examination it will be found that there is no basis for pessimism in the statement, but rather the opposite.

"Builders of Delusion" Mr. Ward, accompanied by his devastating thesis as developed in the former work, takes a stroll among the intellectual structures that have been created by "our best minds," including, naturally, those of our celebrated theoretical scientists. It is really a joy to tag along behind Mr. Ward and view the wrecks of the lofty buildings after he has had his way with them; nor is one who is capable of taking the long view likely to drop salty tears upon the ruins; for such an observer will be aware that there is a very close relationship between those structures in the realm of mind and the economic and social structure out of which they grew, and which even the man in the street now begins to realize had from the first a fatal joker in it.

DE PRIEST SAYS HOOVER HAS HIS HAND AGAINST NEGROES
Congressman Assails G. O. P. for Recognition of the "Lily Whites" in the South.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—Congressman Oscar De Priest, Negro, of Chicago, speaking here last night, took the Republican party to task for recognition of the "lily whites" and criticized President Hoover.

"If he (Hoover) hadn't his hand against you," he told his audience of Negroes, "he wouldn't have put a white man in Walter Cohen's place down here."

De Priest was referring to the appointment of Charles C. Cantrell to the post of Comptroller of Customs for the Port of New Orleans succeeding the late Walter Cohen, Negro.

He accused the Republican party of recognition of the "lily whites" in the South "in an attempt to win new votes" and at the same time "letting down the blacks." He said the result was a communistic movement stirring among the Negroes.

TWO YOUTHS SOUGHT FOR MURDER OF CHICAGO WOMAN
Auto Which They Took From Her Escort Is Abandoned in Virginia.

CHICAGO, March 19.—Two youths, headed for Florida, are sought for the murder of Miss Norma Newby, 35 years old, whose badly bruised body was found in a forest preserve Tuesday night.

The youths, who stole an automobile from Frank J. Murray, the woman's escort, after beating him, left the car at Jonesville, Va., 400 miles from Chicago, the day following. They engaged a taxicab which took them to Pennington Gap, 20 miles from Jonesville.

Several days later, near Bristol, a motorist was held up, bound and gagged and robbed of his automobile by two youths of a similar description.

A hearing on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Murray is pending, but police officials plan to ask for postponement until after the inquest. Murray said he had been a friend of the woman for 17 years.

U. S. OIL PARLEY PUT OFF
Postponed From March 30 to April 9 Pending Survey.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—Before leaving last night to accompany President Hoover to the Caribbean, Secretary of Interior Wilbur asked Cicero J. Murray, Oklahoma City, Ok., chairman of the Oil State's Advisory Committee, who had appealed to him for a hearing before the Federal Oil Conservation Board, to delay until April 9 a meeting of producing states' representatives scheduled here for March 30. Wilbur is chairman of the board.

By that date, Wilbur said, a survey of America's oil needs for the next six months, being prepared by a special committee of the Federal board, would be available for discussion.

WIFE-BEATER IN BALTIMORE. SENTENCED TO WHIPPING-POST
Penalty of 10 Lashes Is Third of Same Nature in Maryland in 11 Years.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., March 19.—For the third time in 11 years, the whipping post was invoked yesterday as a penalty for wife-beating.

John M. Kawalski, 40 years old, was convicted of the offense by a criminal court jury and sentenced by Judge Eugene O'Dunne to suffer 10 lashes and in addition 30 days in jail. Kawalski, it was testified, beat his wife, Irene, at their home last Feb. 15 when she was ill in bed. Their daughter, Lena, 15, said she saw the start of the quarrel. The wife said in their 17 years of married life Kawalski had beaten her 40 times. He was taken to jail and gave no indication of an appeal. Under a State statute enacted in 1888 the maximum sentence in prison is provided for wife-beating. Sheriff Joseph Deegan said he may carry out the sentence any time in the next 30 days, using the cat-o-nine-tails whip.

Wife-beating is the only offense for which the whipping post is prescribed in Maryland, but it is punishment for other offenses in Delaware and is used only a few weeks ago. James Kingsmore was lashed two years ago in the Baltimore city jail, and 11 years ago a Negro was beaten.

HELD FOR ATTACKING GUARDS FOR OIL TANK BUILDERS
East St. Louis Boilermaker Gives Bond as Result of East Side Labor Fight.

Joseph A. Grant, a boilermaker, 725A North Thirteenth street, East St. Louis, was arrested yesterday on warrants issued on complaint of Clarence Watkins and Ernest Goff, guards for the Chicago Bridge & Iron Co., who were injured slightly Tuesday when attacked with four other guards by about 100 men on the Hog Haven road, in St. Clair County.

Grant, who is charged with assault with intent to kill, waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over under bond of $1000 on each charge for the April term of the St. Clair County grand jury.

The fight was caused by a labor controversy involving the open shop policy of the Chicago company, which is erecting gasoline storage tanks for the Phillips Pipe Line Co., near Cahokia. The guards were on their way to the Hog Haven ferry landing to escort laborers to the job when attacked.

ELECTRIC RATE CUT IS ORDERED IN WASHINGTON

shall be fixed yearly by the commission along lines laid down in the 1924 consent decree, and that any excess profit accruing to the company in one year shall be partly eliminated the next year by rate reduction.

To protect the security owners, the proposed order provides that if the net income is less than the percentage return to be fixed later, the company will be permitted to increase its rates.

Excessive Return.
The commission's letter to the company minced no words. "Uncontradicted evidence," it said, "was placed before this commission which showed clearly that the rates fixed in the (present) sliding scale yielded the company a net return of about 10 per cent upon the agreed valuation of its property."

"The commission held that this rate of return was excessive. It is as certain as anything can be that no court would hold that rates which yield 10 per cent are confiscatory."

The letter pointed out that a Federal Court undoubtedly would reduce the valuation fixed in the consent decree if the commission and the utility company agreed on such action, but it added that if the company did not want to join with the commission in such a petition, the commission had a legal right to petition the court separately. The commission indicated that it would not hesitate to act alone if the company refused to co-operate.

Double-Edged Sword.
The real threat in the letter was contained in its reference to the authority of the commission, granted in the organic law, to revalue the property of a public utility at any time.

"It is evident, of course," concluded the letter, "that such a procedure would take considerable time but when completed the commission would be thoroughly justified in fixing rates, which in its opinion would yield an adequate return upon such a value."

"By following any of the other courses outlined above, the cost of revaluation would be avoided and your company should consider the relative advantages of an agreed valuation, as at present, and of that which might be the result of a valuation undertaken at this time."

The words, "a valuation undertaken at this time" were underscored to impress upon the company that reproduction new valuation would be considerably less than the 1924 consent valuation, made when prices of material and labor were relatively high.

The Washington proceedings provide a vivid illustration of the fact that reproduction new valuation, which has heretofore been relied upon by many utilities in seeking rate increases, is a two-edged sword.

MAN ARRESTED HERE HELD FOR IMMIGRATION OFFICERS
Walter C. Beck, Described as Ex-Convict, Admits Passing Bad Checks, Police Say.

Police are holding Walter C. Beck, also known as Brooks, whom they describe as an ex-convict deported to Germany in 1923, for immigration authorities on a charge of passing worthless checks. He has admitted passing three worthless checks at filling stations here, according to police.

He was arrested Tuesday night, soon after he came to St. Louis after Eugene Miller, attendant of a filling station at 1115 North Kingshighway boulevard became suspicious when he boarded a street car following the purchase of a $10 gasoline coupon book with a check for $16.70. Miller picked up a policeman and pursued the car to Channing avenue and Olive street, where Beck was arrested.

Police say he has served two terms for burglary in California, and one term for forgery in Michigan, after which he was deported to Germany. They quote him as saying he came back to this country through Canada.

Kills Himself in Chicago Hotel.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, March 19.—A woman registered as Miss Sylvia Logan, 402 Prospect street, Little Rock, Ark., shot and killed herself last night in a loop hotel. She was about 28 years old, police said. In a note found on a dresser, the woman explained she was friendless and homeless and tired of life.

ALABAMA REFORMATORY GIRLS PLACED IN STRAITJACKETS
Testimony Presented to Governor That Their Mouths Were Sealed With Adhesive Tape.

By the Associated Press.
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 19.—Gov. B. M. Miller and trustees of the Alabama Training School for Girls were presented with testimony today that inmates of the reformatory have been subjected to extreme cruelties such as application of the straight-jacket and handcuffs, having their mouths sealed with adhesive tape and their bodies lashed with whips.

The testimony was contained in a report made by Legislative Committee appointed to investigate the school, following continued reports that girls had been whipped, starved and allowed to die without medical attention.

The committee recommended the immediate dismissal of Mrs. Ira F. Champlin, the superintendent.

A dentist formerly employed at the school, testified he treated a number of girls who had their heads shaved.

A former employee testified he saw a girl "whipped in the dining room until the blood came because she would not eat turnip greens."

Another former employee of the school said one girl had been handcuffed in her room for running away and kept there several days and that she had seen underfed girls eating food from refuse cans.

One of the 22 girls said she ran away from the school and was handcuffed with her hands behind her back for three weeks.

CARAWAY PUTS OFF INQUIRY
To Take Up Later Report Senator Got $100,000 From Sugar Firm.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—Investigation by the Senate Lobby Committee of charges that a Senator received $100,000 or more from a domestic sugar firm during consideration of the tariff bill was postponed indefinitely today by Chairman Caraway.

The Arkansas Senator said the postponement was taken at the request of Senator Davis of Pennsylvania, who asked the inquiry be deferred until his return from a vacation trip to California. The case will not be dropped, however, Caraway said and the committee would consider it as soon as Davis returned to Washington.

Davis asked for the inquiry after the charges were printed in a New York newspaper. John Holland, an investigator, was sent to New York and Chicago by the lobby committee to collect data.

New Orleans Editor Dies.
By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—Martin T. Durkin, managing editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune, died today of a spine injury suffered a week ago when he was jolted in sopping his automobile to avoid a collision with another car.

He was born at Brewster, N. Y., and at the age of 13 became a telegrapher. He was elected secretary of the Times-Picayune Publishing Co. in 1923 and three years later was appointed managing editor.

OPEN VERDICT IS RETURNED IN DEATH OF MRS. MARY LITMAN
Witness Before Coroner's Jury Testifies Gas Burners in Apartment Had Been Found Defective.

An open verdict was returned yesterday at the inquest in the death of Mrs. Mary Litman, found dead of gas poisoning Monday in a vacant apartment she owned at 1234A Tamm avenue, seated before a gas stove with several opened but unlighted burners. A headline in the Post-Dispatch Monday stated erroneously that Mrs. Litman had ended her own life. The Coroner's jury was unable to determine whether her death was accidental or intentional.

Mrs. Litman went to the apartment Monday to await prospective tenants, Mrs. Ray Kean, 5803 Page boulevard, testified she had accompanied her to the apartment Sunday and had found the gas burners defective. A repair man was called to remedy the condition, she said.

Mrs. Litman's daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Epstein of Chicago, said today she was convinced her mother had not ended her life. While waiting for the tenants, Mrs. Epstein said, her mother had written a letter in which she said she intended to visit her in Chicago next week. Mrs. Litman, who lived at 5532A Easton avenue, operated the Litman drug store at Hamilton and Wabada avenues until two months ago.

MOVE TO REPEAL DIVORCE LAW
Arkansas Ministers Launch Drive Attacking 90-Day Feature.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 19.—A movement to seek repeal of Arkansas' new 90-day divorce law was launched today by the Little Rock Ministerial Alliance. The ministers called a State-wide mass meeting here for March 23, when steps will be taken to initiate repeal.

The new law, which its sponsors admitted was an attempt to gain some of Nevada's divorce business, reduces the residence requirement from one year to 90 days. It becomes effective June 12.

P. W. Coyle Re-Elected by Shippers
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 19.—Clyde M. Reed, former Governor of Kansas, was re-elected chairman yesterday by the Trans-Missouri Kansas Shippers' Board. He has held the position since organization of the board in 1921. Other officers elected included E. N. Adams, Tulsa, alternate chairman, and P. W. Coyle, St. Louis, general secretary. The board's next meeting will be in Wichita, Kan., June 11.

TO REPEL DIVORCE LAW
 House passed the anticipatory war measure on second reading, thus preparing it for a roll call and final passage in the House tomorrow.

Passage of organized labor's bill providing an eight-hour work day for women was recommended to the House by the Committee on Industrial Affairs, following spirited argument between sponsors and opponents of the measure. The vote was 26 to 8.

SMOKE ABATEMENT WORK JEOPARDIZED BY ORDINANCE
 Mayor Considering Veto of Measure Which Would Eliminate Inspection Fee.

Continuation of smoke abatement activities by the city is jeopardized by an ordinance which has been passed by the Board of Aldermen to eliminate the $1 annual inspection fee for steam plants, boilers and large furnaces. Mayor Miller is considering vetoing the measure, at the request of Director of Public Safety Steininger.

The bill, which would repeal the fee clause of the smoke ordinance but refers to that section only by number, was passed by the board unanimously on March 6. It was introduced by Alderman Wimer, a real estate agent, and favored by various real estate interests. Steininger declared there would be no funds for the smoke abatement work if this fee was eliminated. When the present smoke law was enacted in 1925 at the request of civic workers, the fee was provided in order to pay for eight smoke inspectors at $175 a month each.

STEEL TO BUILD 10 WARSHIPS TO BE USED IN 'RADIO CITY'
 $10,000,000 Contract, Largest on Record, Awarded for Rockefeller Project in New York.

NEW YORK, March 19.—A few men got together last evening and completed a transaction in steel. It calls for two and a half times as much as went into the Rockefeller "radio city" between Fifth and Sixth avenues and Forty-eighth and Fifty-first streets, and 125,000 tons of it will be fabricated by the American Bridge Co. to be delivered within three years.

The contract was styled the largest ever awarded for structural steel. It calls for two and a half times as much as went into the New Hudson River bridge; three times as much as in the Empire State Building; enough to build 10 battleships or a rail line between New York and Chicago.

The estimate was made by the steel men that 25,000 men will find work through the project.

 Former Consul Banished as Participant in Conspiracy.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 19.—A conspiracy alleged to have been conducted from Los Angeles, Cal., by Gabry Rivas, exiled Nicaraguan newspaper man, and unnamed last week by the Government, resulted yesterday in expulsion from Nicaragua of Ernesto Bermudez, former Consul at Manchester, England.

Newspaper say the Government is investigating another plot which had as its reported motive the assassination of President Moncada. Alberto Gomez, son of the famous Nicaraguan historian Jose Dolores Gomez, has been arrested as a suspect.

CASTORIA
 Corrects CHILDREN'S ailments

WHAT a relief and satisfaction it is for mothers to know that there is always Castoria to depend on when babies get fretful and uncomfortable! Whether it's teething, colic or other little upset, Castoria always brings quick comfort; and, with relief from pain, restful sleep.

And when older, fast-growing children get out of sorts and out of condition, you have only to give a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation to right the disturbed condition quickly.

Because Castoria is made expressly for children, it has just the needed mildness of action. Yet you can always depend on it to be effective. It is almost certain to clear up any minor ailment and cannot possibly do the youngest child the slightest harm. So it's the first thing to think of when a child has a coated tongue, is fretful and out of sorts. Be sure to get the genuine, with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package.

ILLINOIS SENATE COMMITTEE OK'S DRY REPEAL BILL Group Reports Favorably on O'Grady Measure, Already Passed by House—Vote Is 13 to 7.

REDISTRICTING FIGHT IN LOWER BRANCH
 Schnackenberg and Snell Lead Factions in Debate Over Chicago's Reapportionment Demand.

By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 19.—Repeal of the Illinois search and seizure act was recommended to the Senate yesterday by the Committee on License and Miscellaneous, by a vote of 13 to 7. The bill, sponsored by Representative O'Grady, already has been passed by the House.

Senators voting against repeal of the State prohibition law were Harry Wilson (Rep.), Pinckneyville; Arthur A. Miles (Rep.), Rosiclare; Harry G. Wright (Rep.), De Kalb; John R. Hamilton (Rep.), Mattoon; James H. Feltz (Dem.), Marion; Simon E. Lutz (Rep.), Congerville, and William R. McCauley (Rep.), Olney. Richard J. Barr (Rep.), Joliet, and Martin R. Carlson (Rep.), Moline, were present but refrained from voting.

In opening the final committee hearing on the O'Grady bill, Senator V. P. Michel, Peoria, asserted that repeal of the State dry laws is mandatory upon the Legislature as a result of the November referendum. He called upon Republican State Senators to vote for repeal as a means of "saving" the Republican party.

Forecasting almost certain passage of the repealer, some of the drys in the Senate are preparing to add a referendum clause to the bill, requiring a majority of all the votes cast at the election for its ratification. Senator Michel plans to call the bill for second reading tomorrow. At that time, proposed amendments may be submitted. A final vote on the bill probably will be taken next Wednesday or Thursday.

Redistricting Fight in House.
 Old battle cries re-echoed, and arguments used in more than a dozen Legislatures were revived, when Chicago and down-State engaged in debate in the House over Chicago's demand that legislative districts be re-apportioned and Chicago be given full and unrestricted representation in both houses of the Assembly. After about three hours of arguments, further debate was postponed until next Tuesday.

"Our rights as American citizens," was the demand of the sponsor of the re-apportionment proposal, and chief Chicago spokesman, Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Republican. "Try home rule," was the answer of Truman J. Snell, Democrat, Carlinville. "Try reapportionment at home, then come here."

Snell declared the Constitution was not mandatory but discretionary when it provides for reapportionment every 10 years.

"To reapportion and give Cook County representation on the basis of population would be to give it control in both Senate and House," Snell said. "Today 69 counties in Illinois have no Representative; 24 counties neither Senator or Representative, and it is estimated that if full representation is given Cook County there will be over 60 counties with neither a Senator or a Representative. This is neither fair nor right. There is no state in the Union where this situation prevails, but representation of cities is limited and by agreement."

Schnackenberg classed Chicago's demand as coming under first of "four great principles in relation to human rights that form the foundation for our Government: Proportionate representation, religious liberty, trial by jury and habeas corpus."

Little and Roe Speak.
 These two men were outstanding champions. Downstate's attitude was also expressed by various others, with varying degrees of emphasis. Floor Leader Roger Little (Rep.), Champaign, and Arthur Roe (Dem.), Vandalia, were among those others.

Because of time consumed by the reapportionment debate, Floor Leader Roger Little and Homer Tice, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, were forced to appeal to the membership to pay more heed to the business of legislation, and remain in Springfield for three full legislative days each week. Little's appeal for 125 members here tomorrow so bills on the calendar may be passed was given the force to command by Tice, when he advised that the bill to authorize the State to issue anticipatory warrants must be passed tomorrow and sent to the Senate, so that it may get into the Supreme Court for a test next month. On motion of Tice, the

TO VIEW NEGROES HELD FOR E. ST. LOUIS CRIME

Guest at Party Where Women Were Attacked Goes to Pennsylvania.

Edward M. Wilson, a railroad clerk, 221 North Twenty-sixth street, East St. Louis, left last night for Garrett, Pa., to view two Negroes under arrest there, suspected of being the two who forced their way into three East St. Louis homes last Friday and attacked two women and a 16-year-old girl.

Wilson was a guest at a party where two of the attacks were committed. It is believed the Negroes immediate action will be taken to extradite them to Illinois. Sheriff Munn of St. Clair County said that in that event, he will have them imprisoned in some other county while they are awaiting trial as a precaution against violence.

Authorities of Fulton County, Ky., where two similar offenses were committed last Thursday by Negroes of the same description, have initiated extradition proceedings also and will attempt to obtain custody of them before they are returned to Illinois.

The two correspond generally to descriptions of the Negroes sought. They were arrested yesterday in Garrett, in the southwestern part of Pennsylvania after they had fled from a trial. Garrett police said their station of where they had been and where they were bound for were not in agreement.

The Negroes under arrest gave their names as Clarence Leonard, 27 years old, of Philadelphia, and Louis McCall, 21, of Pittsburgh. Leonard is tall, light brown, has an upper tooth missing and two scars on the left side of his face. McCall is shorter, black, and has scars on his hands. The descriptions conform with those of the Negroes wanted in East St. Louis except that in that case the shorter Negro was the one said to have an upper tooth missing.

The Negroes under arrest gave their names as Clarence Denard, 37 years old, of Philadelphia, and Louis McCull, 31, of Pittsburgh. Denard is tall, light brown, has an upper tooth missing and two scars on the left side of his face. McCull is shorter, black, and has scars on his hands. The descriptions conform with those of the Negroes wanted in East St. Louis except that in that case the shorter Negro was the one said to have an upper tooth missing.

ARMED WOMAN HOLDS UP STORE Escapes With $100 After Forcing Brooklyn Pair to Put Up Hands.

NEW YORK, March 19.—An armed woman held up a Brooklyn merchant and his wife yesterday and escaped with $100.

The woman, described as smartly dressed, blonde and pretty, entered the nurses' outfitting store of Mr. and Mrs. Max Rosvold and asked for a nurse's outfit. As Mrs. Rosvold prepared to wait upon her, the young woman drew a revolver and ordered the pair to put up their hands. Getting the cash she backed to the door and fled.

MURIEL MCCORMICK AS ACTRESS

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 19.—After 19 weeks of managing the Palm Beach Playhouse, Inc., stock company with its little theater which seats 299 persons, Miss Muriel McCormick announced last night that she would appear in person at a post-season performance March 20. The play will be "The Face," by Frances Guinand Gibbs, never before given professionally.

Miss McCormick will have the role of Mona Lisa, made famous by the Leonardo da Vinci painting. The play deals with the life of the artist during the time he was painting the picture.

WALL STREET GEN. MOTORS LEADS BULL ACTIVITY IN STOCK LIST

Market Loses Its Vitality; However, After a Vigorous Advance in Early Trade—Turnover Is Largest in Fortnight.

NEW YORK, March 19. — The stock market lost its vitality after a vigorous advance in the early trading today. Much of the early advance was retained, nevertheless, and such factors as General Motors, which sold up 2 points to a new top for 1931, and U. S. Steel, which gained 1 5-8, closed closed at the day's best prices.

Trading was in large volume in the first hour, and while it slackened somewhat thereafter, the turnover of about 3,500,000 shares was the largest for a fortnight. The early upturn, in which shares changed hands in blocks of 1000 to 5000 shares, looked like a drive against shorts.

Eastman and Dupont closed about 4 points higher, and Auburn was up nearly 4, after selling up about 6. Allied Chemical advanced 4 points, then slipped off a point from the top. Case lost an early rise of 3 points. Electric Power and Light, Johns Manville, Loew's and Bohn Aluminum were among issues finishing 2 to 3 points higher, while shares closing up a point or more included Radio Keith, American Can, North American, Sears Roebuck, Nash, Grand Silver, Fox and McKeesport. New York Central was a soft spot, losing 2 points. Columbia Graphophone sagged a fraction in profit taking.

Both wheat and corn futures eased, closing about unchanged to 1/4 cent a bushel net lower, while cotton futures held about steady, closing virtually unchanged. Firmness of the German mark, and a rebound in the Spanish peseta featured the foreign exchange. The French franc again eased. Sterling cables held steady at $4.85 15-16.

Market Professional Affairs.

The market was still a professional affair, and in the main failed to show signs of breaking out of its recent trading range. The movement in stocks was in contrast to the sluggish action of the bond market.

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, in calling a meeting of the National Foreign Trade Council, again voices his opinion that the world depression is subsiding and the upturn beginning.

Commodity price trends were mixed. The sugar market was notably firmer, with some refiners expecting to increase prices one-tenth of a cent to 4 1/2 cents tomorrow. On the other hand, bar silver reacted five-eighths of a cent.

A report of the Livestock Advisory Committee of the Farm Board stated that prices of all meat animals are below production costs.

Credit conditions were about stationary, although commercial paper rates were shaded a little.

Purchases Power Stations.

BUCHAREST, Rumania. — The Electric Bond and Share Company completed today the purchase of the Bobreschti and Compulung power stations from the Belgian Hydrofina Electric Company for 200,000,000 francs (approximately $8,000,000).

Board of Directors Outlines Program for League Convention at Kansas City.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., March 19. — The board of directors of the Missouri League of Women Voters, meeting here yesterday voted to hold the next State convention in Kansas City May 7 and 8. Mrs. Ralph W. Douglas of St. Joseph, president, announced.

The program of work for the convention's consideration was outlined at the meeting here. Among the items recommended for support of the league were simplification of the State government by consolidation of bureau and commissions, permanent registration, the council-manager plan for municipal government, reorganization of county governments along more efficient lines, and establishment of a bipartisan State board of health.

Members of the board of directors at the meeting were: Mrs. Douglas, Mrs. T. M. Sayman, Mrs. George Gellhorn, Mrs. W. W. Burke and Mrs. Wilfred Aiken of St. Louis; Mrs. Alva Lindsay, St. Joseph; Mrs. H. F. Chadayne, Kirkwood; Mrs. E. F. Van Buskirk, Mrs. F. A. Middlebush and Mrs. Ella Victoria Dobbs of Columbia, and Mrs. George Hoxie, Mrs. Allen Potee and Mrs. A. Ross Hill of Kansas City.

TWO IN PLANE LOST AT SEA

American Managers of Concerns in Philippines Unaccounted For.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, March 19. — Hope was abandoned today for F. A. Diekhoff, foreign sales manager of the Simmons Saw & Steel Co., and William Scott, general manager of the Port Lamon Lumber Co., whose airplane is thought to have plunged into the sea off the eastern coast of Mindanao Islands, March 9.

The two took off from Surigao Harbor, on the northernmost points of Mindanao Island, in Diekhoff's hydroplane, for Davao, a two-hour flight at most. They never arrived at Davao. A constabulary patrol found one of the pontoons from their plane near Baganak, midway between Surigao and their destination, last Saturday. It was badly damaged. Diekhoff's home was in San Francisco.

SLIM FIGURES demand this coffee

For it meets fashion's diet needs through the roasting process called "Vi-aying." By this process the neutralization of nature's bitter oils is aided. Thus the coffee is sweet enough in itself to please many and the addition of much less than the usual sweetening well stirred pleases most everyone. Test it. See for yourself how this old and popular roasting process of H & K gives a new vital aid to fashionable slimness. Style-wise women tell their grocer "H & K".

*Vi-aying is the exclusive name for our roasting process (developed through fifty years of experience, research and improvement in coffee roasting) which aids in the neutralization of the bitter oils found in all coffees. Everyone knows that it takes more sweetening to overcome a bitter substance than one which is not bitter. Thus, you can readily see why H & K Coffee takes the minimum amount of sweetening.

STATE WARNING TO BUTCHERS

State Food and Drug Commissioner C. H. Manville has issued a warning to butchers against the use of an alkaline preparation to "revive" stale hamburger and sausage.

The commissioner, in a communication to the local office, reports that several instances of the use of the preparation, designed as a cleanser for butchers' blocks and iceboxes, have been discovered recently in the state. The preparation is injurious and its use on meats is a violation of the food laws.

For the second consecutive year, Detective Oliver Yanick won the Police Department revolver championship in the final round of the annual match yesterday.

Yanick made a score of 282 points out of a possible 300 in slow, timed, and rapid fire on the 15-yard range. Sgt. Frank Evans, three-time champion, also had 282 points, but Yanick was awarded the gold medal because of a better showing in timed fire. Both marksmen had perfect scores in rapid fire.

Sgt. Evans, attached to Central District, will receive a silver medal, and Patrolman Marvin Lower, Laclede District, won the bronze medal for third place with 277 points. Sixty expert marksmen participated in the final round.

MAPLEWOOD WARMS UP

IN MAYORALTY FIGHT

Police on One Side, Chief on Other—Sheriff to Help Guard Polls.

In Maplewood, where a primary election campaign has placed the Chief of Police on one side of the political fence and most of his force of eight men on the other, curbstone gossip is sprouting anew following the announcement of Sheriff Lill of St. Louis County yesterday that he would assign deputies to protect polling places Tuesday on the petition of 65 Maplewood residents.

Talk began when Mayor Charles S. Humphreys announced he would seek the candidacy for re-election. Rumor was that he was importuned by members of the police department who opposed the candidacy of Director of Public Safety John D. Fels, known as a disciplinarian. More recently Police Chief Joseph E. Kavanaugh came out for Fels.

Asked what he knew of the citizens' petition for outside forces at the polls, Kavanaugh said today that he had been unaware of its existence until Sheriff Lill asked him yesterday if he would object to deputies in addition to his own men.

"I told him it would be all right with me," he said. "Naturally I welcome any means to insure a fair election, especially if the people want it. I'll assign one of my men to each of eight of the nine polling places and I'll be at the City Hall myself. On Monday I'll issue the usual instructions to the force to refrain from anything that might savor of political activity."

Apprised of Sheriff Lill's announcement, Mayor Humphreys remarked, "That's a hot one. I don't see where they come in. Maplewood must be getting pretty bad to have deputies at an election. Well, they say Lill is for Fels, you know. I don't care how many deputies he sends over here—they'll stay outside the polling places just as the policemen will."

Meanwhile circulars are being distributed in Maplewood for a "non-political mass meeting" at Masonic Temple tomorrow night "to hear business and professional men and other prominent citizens discuss activities of the Police and Fire Departments in the last four years." Police Chief Kavanaugh also is chief of the Fire Department and Fels, as Director of Public Safety, supervises both departments. The mass meeting will be under the auspices of employees of both departments.

Tuesday's primary will name two candidates for Mayor and six candidates for three members of the City Council. John D. Schuster, a former Mayor, also is seeking the mayoralty nomination. Most of the 5500 registered voters are expected to go to the polls.

BATTLESHIP NORTH DAKOTA, OBSOLETE, SOLD FOR $87,000

Vessel Decommissioned Under Washington Treaty to Be Scrapped by Shipbuilding Firm.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Sale of the obsolete battleship North Dakota to the Union Shipbuilding Co. of Baltimore, Md., for $87,000 is announced by the Navy Department. It will be scrapped by the purchasers.

The Department also announces the sale of armor and ferrous metal stripped from the battleship Wyoming, which, under the London treaty, is being converted into a training ship. The Bethlehem Steel Co. purchased 1050 gross tons of ferrous metal at $7.34 a ton, and the Milvale Co. of Philadelphia, paid $21.17 a ton for approximately 3335 tons of armor from the Wyoming.

The department has ordered that it be ready by May 20 for the midshipmen's practice cruise.

The North Dakota was decommissioned in 1923 under the Washington treaty. Since that time it has been at the Norfolk, Va. navy yard. The North Dakota, a 20,000-ton battleship, cost the Navy $4,300,000 for hull and machinery alone with it was commissioned in 1910.

ST. LOUIS LEADS, STATE LAGS

IN CARE OF MAIMED CHILDREN

St. Louis leads but Missouri lags deplorably in medical and educational provisions for crippled children, Edgar F. Allen of Elyria, O., told the Missouri Society for Crippled Children, which he organized four years ago, in a luncheon address yesterday at the Lennox Hotel.

Allen, founder and president of the International Society, advocated the establishment of state commissions to co-ordinate the work of all public and private agencies for crippled children. He described orthopedic hospitals and special schools in St. Louis and Kansas City as "wonderful," but deplored the lack of such provision for children in the Ozarks.

A bill to create such a State commission as he suggested, but carrying no appropriation, has passed the State Senate and is pending in the House, Miss Alberta Chase, executive secretary of the Missouri Society, announced. She said 4000 crippled children were registered with the organization, but estimated that at least 10,000 in Missouri needed orthopedic treatment and special education.

New Air Mail and Passenger Service, Beginning April 1.

By the Associated Press.

OAKLAND, Cal., March 19.—

The Postoffice Department announces that, beginning April 1, three air mail planes daily will be operated between Oakland and Chicago, replacing the present two-plane service.

One of the planes will be trimotored, with a capacity of 18 passengers. It will leave Oakland at 12:45 p. m. daily and arrive in Chicago at 11:09 a. m. the following day, connecting with a plane leaving at noon for New York. The plane will arrive in New York at 6:50 p. m., providing 27-hour mail and passenger service between the Pacific and the Atlantic coasts.

The other planes will leave at 8 a. m. and 11 p. m. daily. They are single-motored planes and do not make the quick and direct connections made by the midday plane.

Shell offers car owners opportunity to save millions on gasoline yearly

Note this step forward in motor fuels... Prove these savings for yourself, in your own car

A GREAT STEP FORWARD IN MOTOR FUELS
At last a measuring unit for anti-knock values—the new Octane Number ratings! To establish them, Shell tested hundreds of gasolines. Common fuels were found to lack sufficient anti-knock value for many cars. Now, note the chart. Here is fuel at the regular price that is ideal for 75% of all cars. The highest Octane Number requirement of these cars is 58. New Improved Shell 400 exceeds this figure—tests over 60. Super-Shell Ethyl, with an Octane Number of 74, exceeds the anti-knock requirement of any stock automobile. It is recommended especially for cars with engines of high compression ratings.

HERE is science's honest answer, made in your interest as a car owner, on whether to pay premium prices for your gasoline.

Shell believes it is good business to sell you the kind of gasoline your car needs. It does not want to charge you extra per gallon unless your car requires premium fuel.

And engine tests on gasolines prove the one quality in which leading premium brands differ from good regular-priced gasolines is anti-knock value. The best premium fuels end the power waste and damage that take place when an engine "knocks".

New Improved Shell 400

Today Shell offers a motor fuel—at regular gasoline prices—that is far higher in anti-knock value than common regular priced gasolines.

This New Improved Shell 400 is actually greater in anti-knock rating than many premium priced brands!

It is made especially for the great majority of cars. Made to give them perfect driving satisfaction, all the anti-knock value they need, without costing their owners extra per gallon. Full power, quick starting, fast get-away—at least 75% of all car owners will find these in New Improved Shell 400.

Some cars will need this unique Super-Shell Ethyl

Not every car will run perfectly on New Improved Shell 400—or on many brands of present premium gasoline! Certain cars, less than 25% of all built, need fuel still greater in anti-knock value. For them Shell has created a special gasoline—Super-Shell Ethyl.

As a base, Super-Shell Ethyl has the finest grade of high test, quick starting, powerful gasoline. It has extra high volatility.

To this is added a heavy content of Ethyl fluid—to be certain of highest anti-knock value.

For engines that need it, Super-Shell Ethyl offers savings in car operation—more miles per gallon, fewer and lower repair bills. It brings a thrill to driving, a convenience in traffic, on hills and under heavy loads.

A money saving test

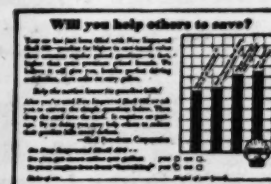

Whatever gasoline you use, here is a test you owe your own pocketbook.

Give your car a filling of New Improved Shell 400—at least 10 gallons of it. Then test it. Step on the accelerator in traffic and on hills. Try for cold-weather starting. Drive over bad roads, in ruts and mud if you have a chance.

More than 75% will find New Improved Shell 400 gives them even better performance than average premium priced gasolines!

Less than 25% will want to try Super-Shell Ethyl. If your car needs such fuel you'll feel the difference, the extra power, right away.

Something has actually been done about changing gasoline to fit modern engines! It will pay you to make this test. Plan to do it, today!

Does it give you more mileage?

While there is evidence that New Improved Shell 400 gives most cars more miles per gallon of gasoline, only the experience of thousands of drivers can verify this added saving. Your Shell station man, at the time he fills your gasoline tank, will hand you a post card like that above. Use New Improved Shell 400 and then tell us, by marking and mailing the post card, whether you secure more miles per gallon from it. Your co-operation in this test may help others to reduce their motoring costs.

NEW IMPROVED SHELL 400

Definitely better than many premium priced fuels, yet sold at regular prices—at least 75% of all cars can use it satisfactorily

SUPER-SHELL Ethyl

Especially for cars which require an extremely high anti-knock value to operate most efficiently. Priced three cents more per gallon

HEAD OF COLLAPSED CHAIN- OF ARKANSAS BANKS INDICTED

A. B. Banks Formally Accused of Receiving Deposits While Institution Was Insolvent.

OSCEOLA, Ark., March 19.—A. B. Banks, one of Arkansas' leading financiers before the collapse of his banking chain last November, was indicted yesterday by the Mississippi County grand jury on a charge of receiving deposits in the First State Bank of Osceola while it was insolvent. The indictment was disclosed today by the Sheriff's office here.

Evidence presented alleged the bank cashier, before the bank here closed Nov. 17, exhibited a telegram, purportedly signed by Banks, saying the institution was solvent and $100,000 cash was available for its use. Banks was president.

The First State Bank's closing was one of a wave of suspensions and failures which swept the State last November. In testimony before a legislative committee, and in public statements, Banks said the collapse in Tennessee of Caldwell & Co. of Nashville and affiliated institutions caught his extensive holdings in the backwash.

OPPOSITION TO NEW WARDS EXPECTED FROM DEMOCRATS

Proposed Redistricting Would Force Nominees and City Commissioners Into Other Sections.

The Democratic City Committee and Democratic aldermanic nominees, meeting tonight at 1731 Chouteau avenue, will discuss the redistricting of the city's 25 wards as proposed in a bill pending in the Board of Aldermen. The committee may decide to oppose the revision.

Nineteen of the 26 members of the committee would be in wards other than those from which elected, should the bill be passed. To gain re-election, they would have to move or else run in their new wards. The party machinery would be more or less hampered by the situation.

As has been told, 10 members of the Republican City Committee would be in the same position, and so would four aldermen and one prospective alderman, all Republicans. The Board of Aldermen consists entirely of Republicans.

Ten members of the Democratic City Committee and nine women members would be affected by the change. Politicians believe that the special aldermanic committee which drafted the ordinance did not take Democratic affairs into consideration in preparing the suggested new boundaries.

It had been proposed to pass the ordinance at a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen yesterday, but after President Neun protested against efforts to "jam it through," it was held up referred to the Republican City Committee for consideration. Some members of that group have protested against the changes. Only two regular meetings of the board remain for the current session, on March 27 and April 3, and after that all bills not passed will die automatically.

A. M. FOSTER DIES OF ANEMIA

Manager of Manufacturing Firm Had Been Ill Several Months.

Albert M. Foster, general manager of the Foster Bros. Manufacturing Co. since 1925, died of anemia today at his home, 7370 Pershing boulevard. He was 50 years old, and had been ill for several months.

Mr. Foster was born in Lyons, N. Y., and educated at the University of Rochester. In 1908 he married Miss Mabel L. Foster of Utica, and with her went to the Philippines on administrative work for the government. Following their return they resided in Worcester, Mass., for a number of years before removing to St. Louis. Mrs. Foster died last December, and Mr. Foster is survived by a son, De Witt M. Foster, and a brother and sister, Alex and Miss Isabel Foster of Lyons. Funeral services will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at the Church of St. Michael and St. George. Interment will be in Lyons.

EXPECTS TRADE IMPROVEMENT

U. S. Steel Corporation Head Says Signs Are Encouraging.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 19.—Signs are apparent of a steady though gradual improvement in world trade, James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, said today in issuing a call for the eighteenth national foreign trade convention. The meetings will be held in New York May 27, 28 and 29. "There are indications," Farrell said, "that the world-wide depression in business is subsiding and that the upturn is beginning."

LEA PAPERS' SUIT DISMISSED

By the Associated Press. MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 19.—Circuit Judge H. W. Laughlin has dismissed a $500,000 damage suit filed against the Minnesota & Ontario Paper Co. and G. T. Fitzhugh, Memphis attorney, by the Tennessee Publishing Co., publisher of Col. Luke Lea's Nashville Tennessean and Evening Tennessean.

The suit accused the Minnesota & Ontario Paper Co. and Fitzhugh of malice in seeking a receivership for the publishing company. They repudiated the damage action was premature, asserting the receivership litigation had not been ended although their petition for temporary receivership was denied.

Dr. Ozora S. Davis Funeral.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 19.—Funeral services were said today for Dr. Ozora S. Davis, for many years president of the Chicago Theological Seminary, a congregational institution, at the Hyde Park United Church. The body lay in state at Graham Taylor Hall of the seminary for an hour. It will be cremated Friday in accordance with his wish and will be placed in the cloisters of the seminary on Easter Sunday, April 5. The ashes of the late Dean Frank G. Ward of the seminary will be committed there at the same time.

Resoration of McKinley's Home. By the Associated Press. CANTON, O., March 19.—Legal obstacles to restoration of the home of President William McKinley as a national shrine, a project undertaken by Ohio Spanish American War veterans, were removed today when heirs of the Meyer estate signed an agreement giving the city clear title to Meyer's Park and waiving all claims to the land. Removal from Market avenue, North, to the park, of the home where McKinley conducted his front porch campaign was started two years ago.

Broken Shaft Turns Steamer Back. By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 19.—The Norwegian American Line passenger steamer Stavangerfjord, with about 300 passengers, was returning to New York today because of a broken starboard propeller shaft. Officials of the line said the steamer, which left here last Saturday for Norwegian ports, was in no danger.

Engineer Dead in Cab After Wreck.

By the Associated Press. GUERNSEY, Ind., March 19.—George Marlowe of Indianapolis, engineer on a southbound Montreal Railroad freight train, was found dead in the engine cab this morning following a head-on collision with a north-bound passenger train here. Marlowe is thought to have been killed by the shock of the collision. John Miller, engineer on the passenger train, was seriously injured and was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital at Lafayette. The passenger train was not moving at the time of the collision and was waiting on the freight train to go into a siding. Passengers were shaken up.

THE modern Miss needs no "time out" for the time of month.

If you've ever taken Bayer Aspirin for a headache, you know how soon the pain subsides. It is just as effective in the relief of those pains peculiar to women!

Don't dedicate certain days of every month to suffering. It's old-fashioned. It's unnecessary. Aspirin will always enable you to carry on in comfort. Take enough to assure your complete comfort. If it is genuine aspirin it cannot possibly hurt you. Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart. It does not upset the stomach. It does nothing but relieve the pain.

Headaches come at inconvenient times. So do colds. But a little Bayer Aspirin will always save the day. A throat so sore you can hardly swallow is made comfortable with one good gargle made from these tablets. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Rheumatism. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after taking a few of these remarkable tablets. So are the nagging aches that bring fatigue and "nerves" by day, or a sleepless night. Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets cost so very little after all, that it doesn't pay to experiment with imitations!

There is one thing the average American misses most when traveling abroad and that is fine coffee. The rich pungence of Maxwell House Coffee has made our palates expertly critical. Originated to suit the discriminating taste of a gentleman of the Old South, its aroma was too inviting to remain within the walls of his manor house. In sales, today, it outdistances all high quality blends and it is sold by more stores than any other brand. If you are a true coffee lover, if you fairly revel in the fragrant warmth of this rich full-bodied coffee, why deny yourself a pleasure that costs so very little more? Serve Maxwell House regularly at your table and revel in the knowledge that a king cannot serve better coffee.

BACTERIOLOGICAL TESTS SHOW:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 bacteria per handkerchief.

2. That organisms representative of those associated with colds, when impregnated upon linen and rinsed in boiling water and soap water, were not killed nor appreciably inhibited from growing.

These reports are based on tests performed in the laboratories of Dr. Bertram Feuer, Chicago bacteriologist.

Seen and Heard in Russia

Suits Never Pressed or Cleaned But Frequently Turned, Thread Is Inferior and Buttons Scarce

Tailor at Work Defends Soviet Till Thread Breaks Then He Loses Temper, Tells Correspondent What He Thinks.

THIS is the eighth article on Russia by Henry Wales, Paris correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, who is touring the Soviet republic, published in the Post-Dispatch by special arrangement. Mr. Wales says Soviet officials have informed him that he may write without restrictions.

MOSCOW, Feb. 19.—(By Mail.) HATTERS may be mad, but tailors can get angry too. I met one irate tailor today in an establishment near the Kamenny Most when I sought to get a button sewed on. Demkov was his name and he lived in America for many years and only returned to the land of his birth after the war. He spotted me for a Yankee immediately and broke into a brisk conversation.

"Sure, we can fix that all right," he said when I showed him the bits of thread on my jacket where the button had been. "But have you got the button? Because if you ain't got it I can't do a thing for you. I only got white buttons left."

"You're a swell tailor, with only white buttons," I remarked. "How come?"

"Say, when you live here a little while you'll do like other people does, and you'll save the button when it comes off, or maybe pull it off and keep it when it gets loose," he replied. "Anyway, I ain't been a tailor for nothing and I can fix that by cuttin' that bottom button off your vest and usin' that. It's nearly as big as them others on the coat."

Proud of Silver Needle. He threaded his big needle with some black thread, and slipped on his thimble.

"It's silver," he remarked proudly. "I wouldn't work only with a silver thimble, them cheap ones infect you if you stick yourself, and anyway they hurt your finger. I got this one in New York when I first went there and I ain't never lost it yet."

I asked him if he wasn't supposed to turn in all silver to the Government, but he merely winked. While he was sticking on the button I looked around the tiny shop. There was an ancient sewing machine, the big model that tailors once used, in a corner, and there were a couple of ironing boards of various types for pressing gloves and trouser legs stuck up on a shelf with no covering. It was a long time since he had used them.

No Cleaning or Pressing. All around him were a pile of seedy looking garments, jackets, pants, overcoats, and a lot of felt boots piled on the floor, split on the sides.

"What do you do, double as a shoemaker?" I inquired.

"Say, that's the best part of this business in the winter time, sewin' up them overshoes and boots that part in the seams," he confided.

"Outside of that, the only work I do now is turnin' clothes, turnin' 'em inside out, you know."

"Do you know when I had my last order to clean and press a suit? It was way back last spring, and not from a regular customer, either; some one I never seen before or since. Nobody gets their pants pressed any more, and when their clothes get spotted I s'pose they just stay spotted 'til they have 'em turned. I turn the same suit sometimes four times. Here, look at this coat, this will be number four for this one."

It was an ancient jacket, originally navy blue, now a brownish black.

Problems in Tailoring. "You can't keep turnin' 'em forever," the tailor continued, "because every time you turn 'em you gotta nip off a bit at the sleeves, where they get frayed, and the bottom of the coat, where it gets out. But the toughest part of turnin' a suit is them damn pockets, especially if they have flaps on 'em. Sport suits with patch pockets is better for turnin'."

I asked him about inserting a cotton batting lining in my suit or overcoat to make it warmer.

"Easy, just bring me the stuff, I'll put it in. That suit fits you pretty snug, but I can line it and leave you room to get in by movin' the buttons all nearer the edge. Some of these dummies come in and want double cotton linin' put in, and then they can't get the suit on."

He climbed up on his bench and reached for his shears to start work on an overcoat. I noticed he seemed to have trouble tucking his booted knees up in the approved fashion as he sat cross legged.

Soviet Reports About U. S. "You can't sit comfortable and work right in these damn boots," he explained, "and you gotta wear the boots or it's too cold."

"Say, things are pretty tough back in the United States," he remarked. "Papers here say 1000 people are starving to death every day, but most of them are down in Oklahoma and Arkansas. I never been down there. Now's conditions in New York and Detroit and Chicago, I worked in all them towns, also Newark."

I told him I doubted if anyone was actually starving, but explained things were a little tight since the market crash.

"Yeah, I know, Wall street," he cried, "all those capitalists gampblin' in stocks and crushin' the poor workin' man. Here the Government don't allow any speculation or any of that business. Why, there ain't any stock-exchange or any of that in this country.

They Sleep in Corner. "Hey, wait till this five-year plan gets finished next year or so, then all your capitalists and all them countries that are trying to put Russia on the bum will find out. I'll get one of them big automatic steam pressin' ovens, and a new machine that can glitch them boots, too, and electric irons, so I won't have to bother about a fire."

KAUFMANN'S ARM OK, HIS FINE WORK AGAINST YANKS SHOWS

CARDS' HURLER, BROUGHT BACK FROM HOUSTON, HOLDS ENEMY TO ONE HIT IN THREE INNINGS

By J. Roy Stockton.

Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 19.—Gaby Street's Cardinals, with "Chick" Hefey, Frankie Frisch and Jim Bottomley, three important regulars, missing from the lineup, defeated the improved New York Yankees yesterday afternoon, 3 to 5, and persons who sympathize with courageous ballplayers watched the work of Tony Kaufmann with interest and pleasure.

Kaufmann was a great pitcher a few years ago. He was on the staff of the Chicago Cubs and rated with the best in the National League, and then a sore arm developed. He slumped and was traded to the Phillies. The sore arm persisted and the Phillies thought Tony wasn't doing his best. The Cardinals may have thought that the sore arm might recover more rapidly if Tony were in the uniform of a pennant contender and they obtained him in a trade. But the sore arm was a real one. Kaufmann wasn't "stalling" for a transfer and he wasn't able to do much for the Redbirds.

By this time all the big league clubs realized that Kaufmann was no longer a great pitcher, not even a fair pitcher, and waivers were obtained and Tony went to the minors.

Unable to do any serious pitching, Tony took to the outfield and batted so well that John McGraw purchased him. But Kaufmann had been a hurler too long. He couldn't hit big league pitching. So he drifted to the minors again.

Rickey Salvages Tony. Branch Rickey said he believed that Tony might come back, so the Cardinals' organization purchased him and sent him to Houston with instructions that he was to be played in the outfield until his arm was strong. Then, and if he felt like pitching, he was to be used on the mound.

Kaufmann thrived in the hot sunshine of Texas and before the season of 1930 had gone very far along he was pitching. And he pitched so well and his arm felt so strong that he made the Cardinals recalled him to the big league.

It must take courage to beat back like that and all baseball followers who admire a gamester, will be pulling for Tony Kaufmann this season. He has looked good in exhibition games. He worked three innings against the Yankees yesterday and yielded one hit and a single run. He walked one batter and hit one. He pitched with lapses his control was good. He was cutting the corners, mixing slow curves with a fast ball and had the Yankee batters badly off stride. The run for his delivery was produced when Charlie Ruffing took a wild swing and hit a triple over Douthett's head, scoring Werber, who had walked.

Syl Johnson and Delano Werber were the other Cardinal pitch-

Redbirds' Victory Breaks a Six-Game Winning Streak of Joe McCarthy's Men

The Cards' victory broke a six-game winning streak of the Yankees and the New York writers say that Joe McCarthy's managerial methods are responsible for the record, the best the New York Americans have ever had in the Grapefruit League. They say that the Yanks kicked off their first game, playing slovenly, careless baseball, and that Joe called a meeting and read nine or five riot acts. Moreover, he is shifting his men around during the exhibitions and has developed a competitive spirit that the team never had when each position was filled by a regular who knew he was that.

Yanks Weak in Pitching. According to the correspondents with the team, the Yankees' greatest weakness is in the pitching department and if McCarthy can improve that phase of his defense the Athletics might be worried a little.

Ruth is hitting around .330 for the spring games, but he is not slashing the ball as he did a few years ago. He is hitting singles and dropping satellites between the infield and outfield, whereas in the golden past he was endangering the lives of the infielders and sending fly-chasers to the fences to watch home runs soar over the palings. However, Ruth is still a good hitter and he probably is still taking a little more time each year to strike his best stride. Despite all the McCarthy spirit and the fact that the Yankees are described as the most hustling New York American League team in five years, it is far from being the old juggernaut that Miller Huggins led to so many triumphs.

Cards Have Big Inning. Seven runs in the sixth inning gave the Cardinals their 3-5 victory. The Yanks held 2-1 until that outburst. With one out in the sixth Myers singled and after Gilbert filed out Adams tripped to right, sending Myers home with the tying run. Mancuso and Martin then walked, and Douthett doubled to center, sending three more runs home. Watkins scored Douthett with a single and then Orsatti held a home run over Cooke's head in right.

Training Camp Stunts. Today and tomorrow the Redbirds have open dates and Manager Street expects to present a stronger lineup Saturday when a return engagement will be played with the Tankees at St. Petersburg. Frankie Frisch may be ready by that time, the old Sergeant announced.

ers, Johnson worked three innings and was touched for three hits and an unearned run. Wetherell, a young right-hander who struck out a million men or so in a minor league last year, was overpowered by the importance of the Yankees and didn't look very good. He finished and was lambasted for seven hits and three runs in three innings.

Douthett, Watkins and Orsatti formed the Redbirds' outfield. Ripper Collins, Bill Myers, Gelbert and Adams in the infield. Hunt relieved Adams late in the game, that being the only change except in the battery positions.

McCarthy, experimenting with his talent, also used several men who are not likely to be playing when the American League race starts. Tony Largent is favored for the third-base job, but Lin Lary was in the hot corner against the Redbirds, with Werber at short and Chapman at second. Ruth was in left and Cooke in right, but in each case where Cubs is likely to be almost a fixture, Hoag, the $75,000 youngster from Sacramento, was playing.

Cy Perkins was behind the bat doing his first exhibition game. The Yankees' first exhibition game was played at the Yachting Club. The New York scribes say that Dickey will do most of the catching for the Yankees during the season, in fact all of the catching as long as he is able.

Branch Rickey arrived in camp yesterday, and that means that young ball players soon will be journeying from Bradenton to the defunct farm in the Cardinal organization. Bill Myers is the first to get a ticket. He goes to Rochester.

Brooklyn and New York writers have had much pleasure interviewing Dizzy Dean. Robin correspondents asked him what he thought of the Brooklyn team. "Just a mediocre outfit," Dizzy replied. "It won't finish out the first line as one of those bruising converted outfield sluggers. Nevertheless, Danny has shown Manager Shano Collins that he can roam right field effectively and, so maybe they'll use him in the outfield once in a while this season when he is not on the pitcher's mound."

Applying Makes Good. CALVESTON, Tex., March 19.—Luke Appling, the best shortstop who jumped from college baseball at Oglethorpe University to the major leagues within a few months, has made good with the White Sox. For years, shortstop has been a nightmare with the White Sox, but with Appling on that spot, Manager Donie Bush believes he has solved the riddle. Appling's record in the White Sox is 10-10.

Hafey on His Way. No word from Chick Hafey yet, though it is reported unofficially that he is on his way somewhere from his California home.

Central Y. W. C. A. Wins. Central Y. W. C. A. girls basketball team won the Girls Athletic League championship last night by defeating the Champion Y. W. C. A. team, 31 to 15, on the Central "B" court. This is the second straight annual basketball title won by Central.

American League.

By the Associated Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—Howard Ehmke, Athletics' winning pitcher in the opening world series game against the Chicago Cubs in 1929, loomed today as a possible comeback. Asked to confirm reports that the veteran would rejoin the A's, Manager Connie Mack said: "If Ehmke says his arm is sound and that he is ready to pitch again, he can have a job with us."

Ruth Is Battering .350. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—The players who believe the saying "As Ruth goes, so go the Yankees" believe that New York's chances of winning the American League pennant are getting better daily. The Babe complains that he is getting in shape too fast, but instead of loafing through exhibition games, as in the past years, he is working hard in the field, running out every hit and keeping his tongue busy in the odd moments encouraging his mates. So far Ruth has failed to satisfy the home run demands of the fans, but he has hit at a .350 clip through eight exhibition games.

Hodapp on Injured List. NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—The season's first grief was upon the Cleveland Indians today. Johnny Hodapp's temperamental knee slid out of joint for the first time in two years yesterday as he made a spectacular play on a grounder. The second baseman will have to stay off his feet several days and out of the exhibition games for a couple of weeks.

Hogsett Is in Condition. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 19.—Two Detroit Tiger pitchers who were prevented by assorted ailments from figuring largely in the games won column last year will be back on the first line this year. Manager Bucky Harris believes Elton Hogsett's southpaw effectiveness was seriously hampered by a recurrent illness last year. That illness has disappeared. Whitlow Wyatt's right arm went lame early last summer, but apparently is as good as ever now.

MacFayden to Outfield. PENSACOLA, Fla., March 19.—It's hard to picture slight, bespectacled Danny MacFayden, pride of the Yankees, as a pinch hitter, one of those bruising converted outfield sluggers. Nevertheless, Danny has shown Manager Shano Collins that he can roam right field effectively and, so maybe they'll use him in the outfield once in a while this season when he is not on the pitcher's mound.

Applying Makes Good. CALVESTON, Tex., March 19.—Luke Appling, the best shortstop who jumped from college baseball at Oglethorpe University to the major leagues within a few months, has made good with the White Sox. For years, shortstop has been a nightmare with the White Sox, but with Appling on that spot, Manager Donie Bush believes he has solved the riddle. Appling's record in the White Sox is 10-10.

Hafey on His Way. No word from Chick Hafey yet, though it is reported unofficially that he is on his way somewhere from his California home.

Central Y. W. C. A. Wins. Central Y. W. C. A. girls basketball team won the Girls Athletic League championship last night by defeating the Champion Y. W. C. A. team, 31 to 15, on the Central "B" court. This is the second straight annual basketball title won by Central.

National League.

By the Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 19.—John McGraw, New York Giants' manager, at last has explained why he likes to direct every move his pitchers make during a game. "My only regret," McGraw says, "is that I did not start out as a pitcher. I always wanted to be a pitcher, but they made me play in the infield. But pitching still fascinates me more than any other department of baseball. All the red artistry of the game is to be found in pitching."

Robins Are Worried. FORT MYERS, Fla., March 19.—Despite their great potential batting strength, the Brooklyn Robins are bemoaning a bit about their batting as their exhibition progresses. Babe Herman, formerly their outstanding clouter, has not shown much so far and the Robins believe he has been trying too hard to keep up with the ex-Philadelphia Phil, Frank O'Doul. The current belief is that Herman may have a bad season if he is not able to get the batting lead right at the start.

Friberg Named Captain. WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 19.—Barney Friberg, man of all work, was named captain of the Phillies' roster in point of service, has been named captain. He succeeds Fresno Thompson, traded to Brooklyn. Friberg has been with the Phillies five seasons.

Hartnett Ready to Start. LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 19.—Lou "Gashy" Hartnett, of the Cubs, who broke all records for catchers last season by cranking out 37 home runs, looks fit for another big year. Hartnett has slammed back a homer in each of the past five games either as a pinch hitter or as a regular in the lineup. His throwing arm, which went limp in 1929 and came back strong last year, is in excellent shape.

One Hit Off Kreamer. OAKLAND, Cal., March 19.—Remy Kreamer, Oakland's home town hero, is not without honor among the natives. The Pittsburgh Pirates ace's appearance in yesterday's game against the Oaks was by special request and he responded by holding the opposition to a puny nine hits in four innings. He whiffed two batsmen.

Worthington Makes Good. ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—There was much self-congratulation and not a few laughs directed at the St. Louis Cards in the Braves camp today over a certain red-headed outfielder by the name of Worthington. The Braves bought Worthington from the Rochester International League Club, a Card farm, and that young man smashed out a terrific home run to far left-center in the third inning of yesterday's game with the Cincinnati Reds, besides making a single and scoring two runs.

Having won the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball Association championship, the Bachelor team will play the Greater St. Louis Girls' Basketball Association team, the Wichita Thurstons Saturday night in an intercity game. On the return trip, the Bachelors will stop at Kansas City for a game Sunday night, arriving home Monday morning.

Coach Marty Mullen said that every player on his roster except Johnny O'Connell, veteran guard, who is ill with appendicitis, would be taken on the trip. He named his players as follows: Mary Decker, Margaret Glaser, Anita Gansmann, Theresa Mullen, Leah Nolan, Elsie March, Agnes Harris, Ruth Loehr and Helen Atherton.

NEW SCHEDULES DRAWN UP FOR COUNTY LEAGUE

By the Associated Press.

The new County High School Baseball League schedules, made according to the decision of the league board to divide the circuit into a northern and southern division, were issued yesterday by Millard M. Halter of Wellston High.

Webster, Hancock, Bayless, Maplewood, Kirkwood and Clayton comprise the southern division, while the northern section is slightly larger, with Normandy, Riverview Gardens, Ferguson, University City, Jennings, Wellston and Ritehour as members.

Because of the odd number of teams on the north side, one team will be idle in league play each week. The open games are being filled by teams of the opposite section. These inter-section games will not count in the final standings.

Another meeting of the County League Board has been set for March 31 to decide whether a play-off between the two divisions for the county championship will be arranged. If the board approves, the series will be played May 22, 25 and 29.

NORTHERN DIVISION.
April 3—Normandy vs. Riverview Gardens; Ferguson vs. University City; Jennings vs. Wellston; Ritehour vs. Clayton; Webster vs. Hancock; Bayless vs. Maplewood.
April 10—Normandy vs. Jennings; Ritehour vs. Webster; University City vs. Ferguson; Riverview Gardens vs. Clayton; Hancock vs. Bayless; Maplewood vs. Wellston.
April 17—Normandy vs. Jennings; Ritehour vs. Webster; University City vs. Ferguson; Riverview Gardens vs. Clayton; Hancock vs. Bayless; Maplewood vs. Wellston.
April 24—Normandy vs. Jennings; Ritehour vs. Webster; University City vs. Ferguson; Riverview Gardens vs. Clayton; Hancock vs. Bayless; Maplewood vs. Wellston.
April 31—Normandy vs. Jennings; Ritehour vs. Webster; University City vs. Ferguson; Riverview Gardens vs. Clayton; Hancock vs. Bayless; Maplewood vs. Wellston.

SOUTHERN DIVISION.

Royal Palm Set New Mark in Defeating Playgoer II at Miami. A special match race last Monday night between four of the progeny of Playgoer, winner of the Kentucky Derby, and the Madison and Wellston ovals, a few years ago, furnished an interesting feature of the winter greyhound racing meet on the International Greyhound Racing Association's track at Miami Beach.

Royal Palm, owned by C. A. Bascom of Atlanta, Ga., and seen in action at Madison last summer, established a new record for night derby honors at capturing the event. His time for the five-sixteenths mile was :22 2-5. Playgoer II finished second, Blue Sky third and Morgan Blake fourth.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 19.—Gene Sarazen won a stellar 32-36-68 today to sweep into the lead of first-day play of the $15,000 La Gorce golf tournament here. He was followed by Joe Turnesa of Elmford, N. Y., whose par 36 coming back, with an outburst of 33, gave him 69 to tie at second place with Craig Wood, Deal, N. J.

BRIGHT FLASH NEW ORLEANS $189 AT NEW ORLEANS. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, March 19.—Bright Flash, owned by E. E. Jefferson, won the third race at Jefferson Park this afternoon and paid $189.80 for a 12 ticket in the mutuels. The race was six furlongs for 4-year-olds and up.

Phelan Sets New Scoring Mark in Parochial Meet

By the Associated Press.

One-sided games and easy victories were again the rule yesterday afternoon as play in the second round of the fourth annual parochial school basketball tournament continued on the St. Louis U. High court. The St. Vincent de Paul outfit, one of the six teams not seeded into the second round, won its second contest when it defeated St. Roch's 34-10, while the St. Mark's and St. Joseph's of East St. Louis squads, both of which drew byes in the opening bracket, entered the quarter-finals with little difficulty.

The spectacular work of Ed Phelan and Lou Hasser, flashy St. Vincent forwards, again accounted for the fine showing made by the Saints in the game against St. Roch's. Between them the two forwards gathered 24 of the 34 points scored by their team. Phelan getting 18 for a new high record, and Hasser looping in six. The winners were never in any danger, holding an 18-3 edge at the half, which they ran into a 24-10 victory.

Stellar individual performance was the feature of another of the contests, that between the St. Joseph's and St. Michael's quintets, which the former won by an 18-13 count. In this game Gerold, forward of the winning aggregation, came through with 15 of his team's 18 markers to assume a commanding position among the leading scorers of the tournament.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.
St. Joseph's 18, St. Michael's 13.
St. Mark's 19, St. Alphonsus 5.
St. Vincent de Paul 34, St. Roch's 10.
TODAY'S GAMES.
3:30 p. m. Visitation vs. St. Adalbert's.
4:30 p. m. St. Barbara's vs. St. Edward's.

TEAMS WANTED FOR MUNICIPAL LEAGUES. Teams wishing to play in one of the Municipal Baseball Association leagues should communicate with Gus Wamhoff, 921 Locust street, Fred R. Purdy, 4246 Delor street, or Phil Kavanaugh at 1127 Pine street. Wamhoff is president of the Mercantile League, playing on Saturday afternoons. Purdy is head of the Diamond Four League, playing on Sunday, and Kavanaugh is at the head of several Muny leagues.

Cleveland Freshmen Win. Tied at the half, 4-4, the Cleveland high school freshman basketball team finished strong to defeat the McKinley Intermediate five, 16 to 12, last night at Euclid Hall. Bradburn of Cleveland sank three field goals to lead the scorers.

SHIELDS ENTERS SEMIFINALS IN INDOOR TENNIS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Jeam Borotra, France's leading entry in the men's national singles indoor championship tournament, became a finalist today by conquering Fernie G. Rockafellow of New York, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Francis X. Shields of New York, leading American favorite, scored an easy victory over Pierre Landry of France, third French entry, in the quarterfinal round of the men's singles national indoor championship tournament today. The scores were 6-2, 6-2.

Shields did not take long in disposing of Landry. He broke through the Frenchman's service in the third and seventh games of the first set and in the first, fifth and seventh games of the second set. Landry's backhand and net game were not good enough to answer the American's swift returns.

Berkeley Bell of Austin, Tex., seeded No. 3 American, defeated William Aydelotte of New York, seeded No. 6, in the quarterfinal round. The score was 6-4, 6-3. Aydelotte yesterday eliminated Christian Bousaus, one of the three French stars, in straight sets.

Aydelotte, national champion in 1928, was no match for Bell, whose powerful service and lightning strokes kept Aydelotte running all over the court. Aydelotte broke through Bell's service once in the first set. In the second, Bell ran up a lead of 8-0 in games before Aydelotte broke through.

BRITISH HOPE FOR GRAND NATIONAL WINS. TWO-MILE FLAT RACE. BROWN HILLS, England, March 19.—Drinyre, Captain Brownhill's Grand National candidate and one of the chief British hopes to win the classic steeplechase at Aintree March 27, today won a two-mile race on the flat. Drinyre won easily by two lengths. Seven others ran.

SCHWAKE TAKING OFF TWO POUNDS DAILY, TRAINING FOR RISKO BOUT

By W. J. McGoogan.

John Schwake, Webster Groves heavyweight who is to meet Johnny Risko, Cleveland, in the main event of the Jackson Johnson boxing show at the Coliseum next Wednesday evening is rapidly taking off condition for the bout, the most important for only John in his professional career.

Despite the fact that Schwake lives and works on a farm he takes on weight quickly when he is in active training for fights. He has had no time in the ring for some time when he started training for Risko eight days ago and he found that he was considerably over his best fighting weight, about 210 pounds. Since he went to work in earnest, however, Schwake has taken off more than two pounds each day and is approaching the point where all he needs is some boxing to fit him for the Risko test.

Sparring Partners Scatter. It is not an easy matter to get sparring partners for Schwake. There are but few men at his weight in St. Louis available, and those that are here don't like to box with John as they are his prospective future opponents.

Jack Hurley, manager of Bill Petrolle, and Sam Stolsky, who are acting as matchmakers and promoters for the show, have sent to Minneapolis for Angus McDonald, a tough fellow weighing about 210 pounds, to work with Schwake for at least four days before the bout. They think that McDonald will prove just the kind of sparring partner that Schwake needs to sharpen up his timing for Risko.

Al Stillman, Dave Knott and Joe Wee Terry, the other St. Louis lads who have been assigned places on the card, also are in training at Crofton Hall, 1429 Chouteau avenue, each afternoon. Stillman meets George Pavlik while Knott opposes Gene Stanton. Both Stanton and Pavlik are sparring partners of Risko. Terry is to be Ollie Bartlett of Detroit. Each of the three bouts is to be of six rounds or less.

Ticket Sale Opens. Two more contests of four rounds each are being arranged to fill out the card. The promoters announced that they put tickets on sale yesterday at the Coliseum and at the National Gymnasium, Sixth, and Pine streets. Seat prices range from 25 cents to $3.30 each.

POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA TO BE HELD JUNE 16

NEW YORK, March 19.—The date for the annual International Rowing Association regatta at Poughkeepsie has been advanced from June 17 to 16. The stewards of the association, after picking the early date because of the conditions, discovered that they had not allowed for a possible postponement, and if it was necessary to delay the race until June 16, the observation train would not be available. The train must be taken to New London, Conn., for the Yale-Harvard race June 19.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 19.—
Five crack St. Louis teams, South Side Chevrolet, St. Louis Officers, Wittler Razz, Hermann Undertakers and Elks are scheduled to roll in the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight. Sixty other fast out-of-town (five are

Chief of Police JOSEPH A. GERK pledges co-operation with the Silvertown Safety League

Chief Gerke Says:

"A Chief of Police who would not give some of his time and influence to promoting safety would be unfaithful to his trust.
The protection of life and property is a cardinal principle of police service and this obligates every police officer, from highest rank to lowest, to give his best efforts to the cause of safety.

"With these convictions uppermost in mind, I go on record as being thoroughly in accord with each and every one of the nine items that go to make up the pledge of members of the Silvertown Safety League.

"These items might well be termed the nine commandments of safety. With all motorists keeping them, the complete safety of the traveling public, in cars and afoot, would be guaranteed.

"May Silvertown Safety League live and grow to the fervent wish of the St. Louis police."

My Pledge as a Member of
THE SILVERTOWN SAFETY LEAGUE
I agree
1 To drive at speeds in keeping with the safety of others as well as myself.
2 To keep on the right side of the road, except when passing.
3 To pass only when I know there is ample time and space—never on blind curves or when nearing the crest of a hill.
4 To go through intersections only when I have the right of way.
5 To observe all traffic signals.
6 To give signals myself that can be clearly seen and understood, before turning or stopping in traffic.
7 To drive only when in full possession of my faculties.
8 To keep my brakes, lights, and horn in good condition.
9 To operate my car on tires which assure a positive grip on the road—safe traction—and freedom from hazardous tire failures.

MARQUETTE TEAM SETS CANADIAN RELAY RECORD

HAMILTON, Ont., March 19.—

The medley relay team from Marquette University set a new Canadian record last night in winning the 2½-mile event at the Ninety-first Battalion indoor athletic meet, covering the distance in 19m 26s.

New York University finished second and the "Canada" team, with Phil Edwards, Olympic runner, on the anchor leg, was third.

Johnny Lewis of Detroit City College, American indoor 500-yard champion, equaled the Canadian record of 22s for that distance in heating R. Lewis of Hamilton and J. Tierney of Marquette University.

Ray Conger, Illinois A. C. ace, unseated his famous last lap "kick" to win the special mile run.

Trailing in second place behind Ray Swartz of Kalamazoo, Mich., up to the stretch, Conger sprinted brilliantly to finish ahead in the rather slow time of 4m 29.7-10s.

Fred Veit of New York turned in good time in winning the 600-yard run, covering the distance in 1m 17.4-19s.

Stella Walsh, Cleveland flash, won both the girls sprints at 60 and 220 yards, but was pressed hard by Peggy Matheson of Toronto, in both races.

BOAT ENDS IN FOUL, BOXERS MUST FIGHT AGAIN TO GET MONEY

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—Andy Divoli and Paulie Walker, New York welterweights, must fight again to collect purses for a battle Tuesday night which ended with the victory awarded Divoli on a fourth-round foul.

Dr. Harry W. Martin, State Athletic Commission chairman, said the purses were withheld in accordance with new commission rules and that he would urge the two to appear as a special attraction on a card next Tuesday night. The bout would follow the Goldie Hoss-Tod Morgan 10-round affair for the California lightweight title.

"Rather than forfeit their purses to the state," Dr. Martin said, "we will give them a chance to make good. That's our ruling on all bouts ending in fouls."

WEAKENED BY LOSS OF THREE STAR ATHLETES
The University City track team has been weakened by the loss of three stars, due to injuries and illness. The three boys are Bob Webb, Miller and Butler, all of whom were expected to make the trip to the Boonville meet, Saturday. The team finished second in the Boonville meet last year.

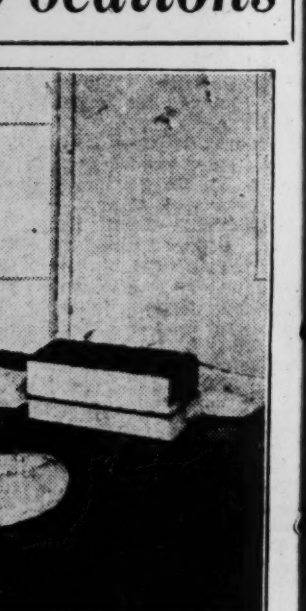

The most serious loss is McCreary, who pulled a muscle recently. McCreary is a dash man who competed in both the State indoor and outdoor meets last year. He is not been practicing for three weeks, due to illness. He is a high hurdler of high caliber, placed in both events in last year's State meet at Columbia. The three boys are Bob Webb, Miller and Butler, all of whom were expected to make the trip to the Boonville meet, Saturday. The team finished second in the Boonville meet last year.

KATY VALUATION IS FIXED AT $144,957,000 BY I. C. C.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—Final valuation of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railway Co. for rate making purposes was fixed today by the Interstate Commerce Commission at $144,957,000.

The value fixed by the commission was as of June 30, 1918. It included all properties used by the railway company for common carrier purposes and $5,057,824 of working capital. Valuation of the main line, the Missouri, Kansas & Texas, 699,000 preferred stock, $77,892,900 fixed at $86,873,392. Valuations of affiliated and subsidiary companies include M. K. & T. of Texas, $42,502,261; M. K. & T. Terminal Co. of St. Louis, $2,760,000; Wichita Falls & Northwestern, $5,729,224; Boonville Bridge Co., $215,000.

The commission found the cost of reproducing the M. K. & T. line would be $91,005,057. The road had as of the valuation date outstanding a total par value of $154,628,674 in stocks and long term debts, of which $62,283,251 were paralyzable after an operation in September, 1929.

$75,000 Verdict Against Hospital.
PLATTE CITY, Mo., March 19.—Antonio Menghini, Frontenac, Kan., won a verdict of $75,000 in Circuit Court here yesterday from McCleary Sanitarium, Excelsior Springs. Menghini said his legs were paralyzed after an operation in September, 1929.

Some Legislators Worried Over Waiting—At $1 a Day—For Her to Appear.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 19.—Congresswoman Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida will get an invitation to speak to the Missouri Senate, at her convenience, but if she cares anything about Senators' feelings she will make it convenient to come soon for while Senators wait for her, or listen to her, they will be working for $1 a day, the overtime scale, instead of the $5 they get during the regular session.

As soon as the resolution to invite Mrs. Owen was presented, several of the Senators voiced anxiety. There was no way of knowing when the Congresswoman would find it convenient. They might be kept waiting a good while, at $1 a day.

Senator Marvel Davis of Kansas City wanted to know how long the session was going to last. Majority Floor Leader Gordon said the resolution for sine die adjournment usually came from the House. Senator Davis said that the sooner the Legislature adjourned the better it would be for legislators and the people.

Senator Bates of St. Louis said he was opposed to sitting there listening to a lot of speeches. It was the height of folly, he said, to invite people to help us waste time when we can waste enough by our own efforts without outside help.

TELL US WHAT TO DO!

75,000 unemployed people in St. Louis await your answer while relief agencies fight to stem the increasing tide of local suffering

He had worked at one job for 25 years. By watching the pennies he and his wife had kept their children in school, in spite of hospital bills and the average run of misfortune. Then came the crashing news—he was let out.

The oldest daughter, a stenographer, turned over her $60 a month . . . to buy food. Soon she too, was laid off. The two boys left school, to look for work, with no success. The mother's health broke under the strain. There was no money in the house. In desperation he tramped the streets in search of work.

"I haven't seen any suffering." It was the frank statement of a St. Louis business man. He had managed to keep his business alive by reducing overhead and foregoing dividends. His family was receiving a greatly reduced allowance, and customary luxuries were forgotten. But—

"We've had a mild winter. St. Louis has had no bread lines or food riots. The stock market is getting better . . . business shows signs of recovery. I guess we are out of the woods . . ."

The man without a job, his family destitute, is one of thousands who have thrown themselves on the mercy of the Citizens Committee. Their cry of

"tell us what to do," has been heard every hour of the day and night throughout the winter.

The man who "hasn't seen any suffering" sits in contentment at his desk, totally unaware of what is happening within the borders of his own city.

No wonder the announcement in the daily newspapers, to the effect that the sum of $300,000 must be subscribed at once to avoid a crisis in St. Louis, came as a surprise to many citizens!

The emergency relief fund of $300,000 appropriated by the city of St. Louis has been spent. This sum has met the critical needs of our large population up to the present.

Now the time has come for action. It can be postponed no longer. The machinery for relief has been set up and is functioning. Do not be deceived by the weather—the demands are growing greater every day and the end is not yet in sight!

Please read this and let it sink in—75,000 people are out of jobs, who had work a year ago . . . 18,000 persons have appealed to the Citizens Committee for urgent relief and employment . . . 12,000 families, representing 50,000 individuals, are under the care of the six established agencies through which the Citizens Committee is functioning.

To close the doors in the faces of that army of sufferers would be a greater tragedy than the St. Louis tornado of 1896!

The public is asked to contribute $300,000. This is not just another campaign to raise money. It is our neighbor's cry for help. We must not fail to answer.

NOTICE . . . Relief is being given through six established Jewish, Catholic and Protestant agencies, as follows: Provident Association, St. Vincent dePaul Society, Jewish Community Center, Salvation Army, Bureau for Homeless Men, American Red Cross. These agencies are taking care of the normal needs with their regular funds. The additional demand caused by the present crisis is met by money from the Citizen's Committee.

Wall Street News and Comment

NEW YORK, March 19.—The United States Rubber Co.'s plant at Detroit is operating at capacity.

Hamilton Brush, H. A. Gues, H. Y. Walker and K. C. Brownell, all connected with the American Smelting & Refining Co., have been elected directors of General Cable Corporation.

Construction Daily reports that March construction for the country as a whole is so far well ahead of the year. In the first three weeks of the month totaling $1,000,000, against $2,928,000 for the entire month of February.

Shipments of radios and tubes by the Grigsby-Grunow Co. this month are running considerably ahead of February. Don M. Compton, vice president, said that shipments for the first 15 days of March totaled $1,000,000, compared with a total of $2,600,000 for the entire month of February.

Contrary to usual behavior at this season of the year, the volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding shows no reduction of any important amount. Robert H. Bean, executive secretary of the American Acceptance Council, reports. The total volume of bankers' acceptances outstanding on Feb. 28 was $1,519,557,454, only $222,249 less than the total reported Jan. 31. Mr. Bean said that for not far years has there been such a close record of acceptance volume for two months as disclosed in the report covering the first two months of this year.

George W. H. Allen of Pasadena, Cal., and Casanova, N. Y., has been elected a director of the American Locomotive Co. to fill a vacancy.

Call money continued steady today, but the money and commercial paper were a shade lower. Call money in the official market was 1 1/2 per cent, but there was a plentiful supply and outside funds were offered at 1 per cent.

Commercial paper was quoted at 2 1/4 to 2 3/4 per cent, against 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 per cent, against the previous rates. Time money rates declined slightly, with 90-day funds quoted at 1 1/2 to 2 per cent, against 2 to 2 1/4 per cent, previously, and five and six months at 2 1/4 to 2 1/2 per cent, against a previous rate of 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 per cent. The rate for 60-day and four-month maturities remained unchanged. Bankers' acceptances were fairly active, with asking rates unchanged.

Around the high levels of today's movement the stock market, as measured by the Standard Statistics Co., was back within striking distance of the high levels reached at the closing week of February. At about 1 o'clock prices, the average of 90 stocks at 142.9, compared with the February high of 144.8, reached on Feb. 25, and duplicated again two days later. The ever, stands out as the explanation of this performance, the average for that group standing today at 142.9, or 7 points above the average of 135.9 established in the general run. Industrials at high in February still about 2.4 points above the February peak of 140.2, while the rails at 95.01 were ranging more than 11 points under the February peak.

SEEKS TO BEAT TIME OF GRAF ROUND WORLD

John Henry Mears Buys Plane for Fourth Attempt at Record.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 19.—John Henry Mears, aviation enthusiast and theatrical producer, has bought a new plane in preparation for another attempt this June to better the 21-day around-the-world record of the Graf Zeppelin. He hopes to circle the globe this time in 15 days.

Last year he tried, and the attempt cost him $25,000 when his plane crashed at Harbor Grace, N. F. He was unhurt but disappointed, and immediately announced he would try again this year to regain the record he has twice held. His route includes a hazardous trans-Atlantic hop.

In 1925 Mears dashed around the world by train and boat and set a record of 35 days. Then Linton O. Wells and Edward S. Evans, New York newspaper men, bettered his mark by seven days. Two years later, in 1928, Mears set out with Charles B. D. Collier for a new record. They took off from New York in a seaplane, landing beside the liner Olympic, well out to sea and climbed aboard. Continuing their dash by boat, plane and rail, they circled the globe and were back in New York in 23 days.

For his fourth attempt, Mears will use a new Lockheed-Vega plane, capable of a cruising speed of 190 miles an hour. His pilot will be Vance Reece, Pacific Coast flyer, who helped design the plane. With them will be Tallwind, Mears' Scotchman terrier. The dog was unhurt in last year's smashup in Newfoundland, but so scared he dashed away into the darkness. It was not until three days later that a fisherman found him.

Mears' route will take him from New York to Harbor Grace, thence on a trans-Atlantic flight to Dublin. From there the route includes Berlin, Moscow, across Siberia, Chignik, Alaska, Seattle and New York. Last year Mears made a trip to Europe to familiarize himself with the route.

Former City Attorney Paroled.
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 19.—A parole has been granted Ralph R. Reed, former City Attorney of Pine Bluff, who was convicted two years ago as accessory in connection with the robbery of the Citizens' Bank and Trust Co. of that city. Reed was sentenced to five years. Three other men were convicted of the actual robbery.

KIRKWOOD FILES APPEAL IN STREET-CAR TRACK RULING

Objects to Abandoning Part of Line and Substituting Bus Service.

The City of Kirkwood yesterday took an appeal to the Circuit Court of St. Louis County from a ruling of the State Public Service Commission, which granted the petition of the St. Louis Public Service Co. to discontinue two miles of the Kirkwood-Ferguson car line, from Woodbine and Clay avenues to Osage Hills.

Judge Nolte issued a writ of certiorari and an order to show cause and will hear the case March 23. The Public Service Commission, in an order Feb. 19, granted permission to the operating company to take up its street car tracks in the section described as soon as bus transportation was substituted. Kirkwood filed a protest on the ground that discontinuance of street car service would decrease property values.

ACQUITTED OF MURDER PLOT

Pennsylvania Woman Said to Have Conspired Against Husband.

By the Associated Press.
MEDIA, Pa., March 19.—Mrs. Lillian Cole, 45 years old, Upper Darby, charged with plotting to kill her husband, was acquitted yesterday by a jury of six men and six women after 10 minutes' deliberation.

Mrs. Cole, mother of seven children, did not testify. Maurice Bronzdy, a window cleaner, testified that on March 3 Mrs. Cole offered him $100 of her husband's insurance money if he would kill the husband, Hazel Cole, a ship yard worker.

Meat-Eating in U. S. Declines.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 19.—The average American ate less meat last year than at any time in 11 years. The Agriculture Department announces the per capita consumption of meats was 131.7 pounds, as compared with 136.8 in 1929 and 130 in 1919.

WASHINGTON U. ENGINEERS TO CELEBRATE TOMORROW

Parade to Include Float for St. Patrick: Exhibit of Activities on Campus.

The Washington University School of Engineering will observe Engineers' day tomorrow with a parade and an exhibit of engineering activities on the campus. The parade, including a float for St. Patrick, patron of engineers, and a float for each of the school's five divisions, will leave the university at 10 a. m. and proceed to the City Hall. Mayor Miller will lead the procession back to the school.

In the open house exhibits from 1 to 11 p. m., students of the electrical, chemical, architectural, mechanical and civil engineering departments will give demonstrations of "singing" arcs, "talking" generators, high frequency phenomena, magnetism, modern building, and similar activities. At night the R. O. T. C. unit will conduct a sham battle.

How "Scrappy" Lambert Keeps Coughs from Going On The Air

The famous tenor crooner, "Scrappy" Lambert says, "It's risky to start a program on the air without a safe, quick cough remedy close at hand—one that can relieve a cough and clear up every trace of hoarseness."

That's why he uses Pertussin. It is quick and sure. Broadcasting studios use it. It is entirely free from narcotics and injurious drugs—is safe even for children. Doctors have prescribed Pertussin for more than twenty-five years because it gets at the cause of the irritation. This is coughing weather. Better watch out! Stop in at any drugist's for a bottle of Pertussin.

THE INCREDIBLE CRIMINAL CAREER OF

AL CAPONE

'PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1'

CHAPTER 10.

ANTONIO, master mind of the Genna clan, was the third to die a month later lacking five days, on July 8. Antonio was quite a fellow—the Beau Brummell of the family—a good mixer and a shrewd business man of his kind.

He was a patron of the opera and a regular theatergoer, always in full dress regalia. He knew the head waiters in the hot spots of the night life. Most often he was to be found in the Valentine Inn, a bandbox cafe of the Loop, where Gladys Dagwell entertained.

It was Gladys he asked them to notify as he lay dying in the hospital, and when she came, to lean over him with the question, "Who got you, Tony?" the lips that until then had remained sealed by gangster's code, murmured: "The Cavalier."

And that, it was learned months later, was a man imported from his native Sicily in 1921 by the Gennas solely because of his ability as a gunman and killer. His appellation of "The Cavalier" was a synonym of dread in Mafia circles, in which he was prominent. The Gennas trusted him as they did Scallie and Anselmi. He was another torpedo. The police never apprehended him, due to their misconstruction of the term. They concluded a man named "Cavaliero" was the killer and based their whole search on that without regard to the "Tallia" interpretation of the term in the sense of trusted friend or bodyguard—the counterpart of the French chevalier d'honneur.

It was the Cavalier, then, who telephoned Tony the morning of July 8, 1925, requesting that Tony meet him at Grand avenue and Curtis street, on the near northwest side of the city.

"Two of the Gennas had been killed in as many months," a police informant explained. "They were frightened and suspicious. Tony never would have gone there for George (Bugs) Moran, the Schenker Prince of the O'Banion gang; or for any of the Capones, and that included Scallie and Anselmi. But he would go for the Cavalier. And he did."

He drove over in his car. There, at the rendezvous, was the faithful Spano, waiting with outstretched arm. He grasped Tony's right hand in a vise-like grip, the while exclaiming:

"Meester Genna, my fren'!"

Out of a doorway two figures with 25 automatics materialized. They eased over within three feet of Tony and let him have it in the back.

That was the police reconstruction of Tony's end and that was why, they said, Tony, as he lay dying, murmured to Gladys:

"The Cavalier."

Overnight the power of the once mighty Gennas waned. Three of the six brothers were dead, and the word was passed that Peter, Jim and Sam were marked. They didn't wait to see. They fled to the old home town of Marsala, Sicily. Jim was in such a hurry that he left his wife behind to sell the $50,000 worth of furnishings of their apartment at 925 Lakeside place, on the North Side.

The trust indication of the Gennas' decline in civic and political importance was at Tony's obsequies. Whereas Angelo had rated a $10,000 bronze casket, $25,000 in floral offerings, and a magnificent turnout—all the honors, in other words, of a first-class gangster burial—Tony was put away with few flowers, with no crowds, and in an ordinary wooden coffin. His funeral was a flop.

Chicago was rid of the six brothers, but not of their followers. Some of these were secretly ambitious, none more so than the muscle-loving Sam Samuots Amatura of the lavender color schemes in shirts, ties, socks and cars. He had been the Gennas' pay-off man when their alky-cooking industry was flourishing, and the best Police Department money could buy was the Maxwell Street station. In his evening hours he was manager of Ciro's restaurant, a political rendezvous.

SAMUOTS saw in the fall of the Gennas the opportunity to get in the bucks. He would seize control of theUnione Siciliana. Barrum was right. He found willing listeners in Eddie Zion, the roadhouse keeper, and Abraham Bumby Goldstein, better known as Pete, the Peddler, who ran a wild-cat distillery.

Samuots hastily recruited the shattered remnants of the Gennas gang, descended on the headquarters of theUnione, and, with a show of artillery, declared himself president. He moved into the office occupied by the late Angelo Genna. The date was July 22. To quote from the Coroner's records:

Nov. 13, 1925: Sam Samuots Amatura, successor to Angelo

Genna as president of theUnione Siciliana, killed as he sat in a barber chair getting a shave and manicure.

Nov. 17, 1925: Eddie Zion, roadhouse keeper, friend of Samuots Amatura, killed as he returned from Amatura's funeral.

Nov. 30, 1925: Abraham Bumby Goldstein, killed in a drugstore in the valley by two assassins who stole a shotgun from a detective bureau squad car parked near by.

So ends the tale of the quest of the Gennas and their henchmen for the Golden Piece of prohibition Chicago.

Capone's personal choice, Antonio Lombardo, was the next incumbent of the office, and it is significant that with his accession the killings ceased for three years, and there was a semblance of peace. It recalls the saying that Capone's name in certain quarters was a better insurance of law and order than that of a police department.

With Lombardo finally seated and the Gennas quieted forever, Capone was free to direct his attention to the O'Banions. He owed them a few calls, which he intended to repay as soon as possible. They beat him to it. His escape from death was even closer than the day they sent his car to the junk-heap.

SPRING STYLES for Well-Dressed MEN

Colors are More Vivid—Stripes and Plaids are Correct and Some Changes Have Been Made in Design—"Host" Suit Is New.

As the significance of Easter lies in the rebirth of all things, the rejuvenation of the spirit and the blossoming forth of flower and tree, so its advent is accepted as the inaugural of spring in the world of fashion. The more sober habiliments of the winter season give way to hues aptly symbolized by the Easter egg, though in slightly modified tones, where men's apparel is concerned.

This spring, however, there will be somewhat more color for men, with a more extensive wardrobe including a newcomer among men's semi-formal suits, according to the dictum of the National Association of Merchant Tailors of America. The association is holding a spring style show today at the Hotel Statler.

The newcomer to the wardrobe, the "Host" suit, which is, essentially, a modification of the tuxedo to fit the demand for home entertaining and relaxation. Although in color, it is similar to the double-breasted tuxedo in cut, but as it is designed to allow more comfort, it is fuller throughout. It can be worn for the small dinner party at home, with the informal evening accessories, including starched shirt, winged collar, and black bow tie. The host alone wears the suit, however; hence the name.

For business wear the more colorful patterns and shades will have their place in the correct wardrobe. There will be a demand for more vivid colors in materials, with more stripes and plaids, and a decided widening in the choice of color. This change is the outcome of the belief by fashion makers that the tendency toward absolute uniformity in cloth and pattern has been overdone. As a result, the slight necessary touch that permits individuality to appear much more definitely will be more easily attained.

For town wear the business suit will adapt plain and herringbone weaves, and self-weaves with combinations of blue-gray, brown-gray, green-gray, brown, tan and lavas in unfinished worsted, saxons, vicuna and flannels. The cleurgarth plaids in contrasting shades also will be used in the creation of the man's wardrobe. Where single-breasted suits are concerned, neat stripes will take the place of less colorful, standardized plain goods.

For sports wear, as usual, the garment will be selected for its suitability to the particular sport engaged in. Bright and lighter shades with gayer coloring for suburban or country club use will be prevalent in flannels, shetlands, tweeds and homespun. There will be a greater tendency toward discrimination in materials for special wear, as for play, bystander or lounging at the club or resort. The rougher fabrics will continue the choice for play, whereas the semi-formal atmosphere of afternoon tea or dancing will call for the plain back coat made of soft fleecy cashmere in pastel shades, worn with flannel trousers.

The white double-breasted sports suit of serge, flannel or linen will still have its vogue. The belted or pleated-back sport coat will be in best taste for actual golfing, and should have ample width across the back to allow the golfer full freedom of movement in making his strokes. Patch pockets on sport coats will have the preference, and odd jackets made from cashmere, flannel and gabardine, or even dressier types of wools in tinted shades, will be correct. They should be worn, however, with either white, stripes or pastel flannel knickers or trousers.

The increase in the popularity of riding, as indicated by larger number of hunt clubs, has caused much attention to be given to riding apparel. The regulation type of sack coat, ample in length and with a long center vent in the back seam, worn with regulation riding trousers and tattered waistcoat, will be correct for general park or country riding. The coat and breeches may be of the same fabric, or the breeches may be made of Bedford cord, cavalry tweed, or other suitable material, to harmonize with the jacket.

BROWN, tan, olive-brown and gray will mark the spring blueprint for day wear in the city. It will preferably be of covert cloth, and double-breasted. For traveling or country, rough tweed or cheviot cloth, preferably of raglan style, may be adopted, and the double-breast will be in good taste. The silk-faced overcoat will remain for formal day occasions.

Clothiers about town are beginning to show the spring modes, with the pastel colors predominating. The collegiate trend for younger men is giving way to the business suit, and extremes are passed. One of the features of the cut of coats for younger men is the "rope" shoulder, or shoulder filled out to give a box effect. The notch lapel and slender waist are being shown extensively, and patch pockets frequently carry flaps. Buttons vary from one to three, with the double-breast preferred where it is to serve with white flannel or striped trousers.

For those who do not maintain so extensive a wardrobe as called for by strict conformity to the styles, clothiers offer conservative suits, with knickers as well as trousers. Hats are of pastel, in gray primarily, and sometimes a tint of brown, tan or similar shade, and are recommended to conform to the suit. Ties are of a variety of styles, with broad stripes popular.

A new spring suit. It is gray with a one-button coat with square shoulders.

HEALTH

Brief articles prepared by experts. Edited by Dr. J. J. Galdston, for the New York Academy of Medicine.

Food and Teeth.

FROM a wide variety of sources, evidence is forthcoming to the effect that the most important item in the prevention of decay of teeth or dental caries is diet.

The prevention of caries starts even before the birth of the child. The mother's diet must be sufficiently rich in mineral substances, particularly calcium, and in vitamins, to assure the infant a sufficient quantity of raw material for the building, among other things, of bones and teeth buds.

It has been demonstrated beyond doubt that the proper feeding of the mother has a direct and beneficial influence upon the entire constitution of the unborn child and also upon its teeth.

Subsequently, and particularly during the period when the teeth are being developed, a permanent diet, it has been shown experimentally, can protect against caries.

By an adequate diet it is meant one that contains a sufficiency of milk, green vegetables and fruits.

The influence of this diet has been graphically shown by a series of studies recently conducted on five groups of children.

These groups, comparable in age and sex, were subjected to different dietary conditions. Some were kept strictly on an ideal diet, while others were allowed free choice of ordinary foods. The study ran for a year.

The children were examined before and after the experiment, and it was found that among those whose diets were ideal but very few developed caries, while among those whose diet was uncontrolled, five times as many developed the trouble.

Incidentally, and as might have been expected, the children kept on the ideal diet not only showed less caries but were also constitutionally stronger than the other groups.

Oral antisepsis kept the mouths of certain of these children clean, but appeared to exercise little influence on decay.

CHAPTER 17.

MAC jumped out of bed and was half awake. Heaven only knew how she was awake. Mac had forgotten last night.

"Oh, hello," Mac had forgotten last night. "Mac had forgotten last night."

"Well, could I see you and talk to you about it? I didn't mean to embarrass you, Mac—honestly I didn't. But I just couldn't stand it any longer—you were pretty gay."

"Oh, was I? How does that excuse you?" Mac didn't feel disposed to being forgiving. "What time is it?" she asked, without waiting for him to answer the last question.

"Suppose I got you out of bed. It's 12 o'clock, and it's a grand day. Indian summer, all right. Maybe we could swim."

"Be ready in an hour. Come over here and we'll go out to the beach club."

THE doorbell rang at 1 o'clock. Mac stepped before a mirror and put on a large straw hat. She took a cardigan along in case she felt cool after her swim. There was to be no love making, none of Johnny's kisses to confuse her and mold her to his pattern.

"Ready so quickly?" Johnny surveyed her quickly. "Johnny surveyed her quickly."

They hailed a cab. All the way out he avoided mentioning the Villa Carlotta fiasco. He had the usual masculine trick of pretending to forget things like that.

The beach club was hidden from the highway by a stone wall. They walked down the little hill and separated for the dressing-rooms. Mac didn't take long to get into her emerald green suit and cap.

Johnny grinned down at her appreciatively. There are thousands like him, Mac thought, beautifully made, beautifully conditioned by exercise and air. Young and strong and delightful. She could look at him in this "faded manner today," but she had accepted completely, but dissatisfaction with this way of life kept her from enjoyment. For Johnny it was still enough.

Mac stretched out and let the sun bathe her back, exposed to the wait.

Johnny knew that Mac was accusing him. She had said almost nothing until now. Perhaps he could do something to overcome this mood of hers.

Johnny leaned over swiftly and kissed her shoulder. She opened her eyes quickly and stared at him. "Don't! Let's go in." All her drowsiness vanished and she jumped up quickly and ran into the water.

Johnny and she waded out a long distance before it was deep enough to swim, and then she followed him in the crawl stroke out to the raft. The water was colder than they had anticipated.

They went back to the sun very soon. Mac covered herself with her cardigan and lay on her back, her hair spread out on a towel. Johnny dried himself very vigorously and then crunched beside her and lighted a cigarette. Mac felt better.

"Leaving for school tomorrow?" she asked.

Johnny squinted his eyes defiantly and took a long pull on his cigarette. "I'm not going back. Made up my mind last night."

"MAC," he threw himself down beside her and looked appealingly into her face. "Why can't we get an apartment? I'll get a job. I'll get some place. You won't always have to work. It would be fun to be together. Wouldn't it? I love you and I want to live with you. I missed you so this summer as I missed up my mind that another year of college was the bunk. I'm sorry about last night, but I just couldn't see you playing around with that old man—with that crowd. And he likes you too much, Mac. I could see that right away. What does he want of you?"

"Mr. Clayton is a gentleman—he is my employer—he doesn't want anything from me except what I give him at the office. I don't like your speaking that way about him."

"Why didn't you tell him in the first place you were married?" Johnny looked at Mac accusingly. "Why did you have to conceal it? Are you ashamed of being married to me?"

"We agreed not to, that's all, Johnny. You know what I'm earning now? Thirty-five dollars a week. Isn't that swell? With a debt of $1500 to pay off! I expect to get more very soon, but I won't be out of the hole for a year at least. We can't live together on $35 a week."

"I don't see why we can't start where other people start. We're not different from everybody else. I wouldn't ask you to do all that work. We could eat in restaurants and places, couldn't we? But wait until I get a job. I wouldn't just earn $35 a week forever."

tracked street car line in the middle of the block centered on the Hawthorne Hotel, midway of the block, at 423-27, on the south side of the street. The building is in the shape of a square U, the two wings extending back to a third unit in the rear connecting them. A spacious courtyard thus separates the second and third floors. The first floor is roofed and this provides for the 25-foot passageway leading from the street entrance to the lobby.

They came in eight touring cars. The methodical fashion in which the attack was delivered convinced the police that it had been carefully rehearsed. Every maneuver was timed. The lead car was a Buick in advance of the other seven. It was the decoy, to draw the Capones to the doors and windows, and its typewriter was the one first heard by Al and Rio. It was equipped with a machine gun, a sub-machine gun with a going on the left running board. The going was going as it sped through the block at 30 miles an hour.

Thirty seconds behind it came the other seven cars. The interval between each was not more than 10 feet, and as they entered the block they slowed down to 15 miles an hour. They passed the hardware store on the corner, the radio store, the paint and varnish store, and the dry goods store, without opening up. But when the first car came abreast of the Anton Hotel, a machine gunner began spraying its facade up and down and across in the manner of a fireman at the nozzle of a hose.

WHEN this automobile arrived in front of the Hawthorne Restaurant, it stopped, the others moving up to close their intervals. Then from five cars streams of bullets poured into every door and window from the Anton to the restaurant where Al and Rio lay on the floor under the rear table.

The sixth car halted directly at the entrance and passageway leading to the lobby of the Hawthorne Hotel. A man in a khaki shirt and brown overalls stepped out, strode over to the door, knelt on the sidewalk, and coolly aimed a Thompson sub-machine gun. The seventh car apparently contained the rear guard of the attackers, for its occupants, who were armed with sawed-off shotguns, did not participate in the shooting. When the

"How did you get breakfast so quickly?"

"Why, I'm serving Shredded Wheat, of course. I just take the biscuits from the package and serve them with cream or milk; sometimes I add fresh or stewed fruits. If you'd like a hot breakfast I can prepare it in a jiffy: Shredded Wheat crisped in the oven while I heat some milk to pour over it. Oh, I'm a friend of Shredded Wheat! It's ready cooked, ready to serve; and it's just as delicious and nourishing for lunch as for breakfast."

Food and Teeth.

OM a wide variety of sources, science is forthcoming to the fact that the most important in the prevention of decay with or dental caries is diet.
The prevention of caries starts before the birth of the child.
mother's diet must be sufficiently rich in mineral substances, particularly calcium, and in vitamin to assure the infant a sufficient amount of raw material for the building of strong teeth.

It has been demonstrated beyond doubt that the proper feeding of mother has a direct and beneficial influence upon the entire development of the unborn child also upon its teeth.

Subsequently, and particularly during the period when the temperatures are shed, and the enamel organs develop, an adequate diet, it has been shown experimentally, can protect against the development of caries.

These groups, comparable in and sex, were subjected to different dietary conditions. Some were kept strictly on an ideal diet while others were allowed free of ordinary foods. The results were as follows:

CHAPTER 17.

MAC jumped out of bed and was half way down the hall before she was awake. Heaven only knew how long the telephone had been ringing!
"Lo," she managed.
"Morning, honey—this is your old man. Mad at me about last night?"

"Oh, hello." Mac had forgotten last night, and then she remembered the scene Johnny Goodman had caused. He could take it as casually as this!
"Certainly I'm angry."

"Well, could I see you and talk to you about it? I didn't mean to embarrass you, Mac—honestly, I didn't. But I just couldn't stand it any longer—you were pretty good."

"Oh, was I? How does that excuse you?" Mac didn't feel disposed to being forgiven. "What time is it?" she asked, without waiting for him to answer the last question.

"I suppose I got you out of bed, sort of, but it's 12 o'clock, and it's a grand day. Indian summer, that is. Maybe we could swim."

Mac thought that over a moment.
Probably a swim would do her some good.
"Be ready in an hour. Come over here and we'll go out to the Beach Club."

THE doorbell rang at 1 o'clock.
Mac stepped before a mirror and put on a large straw hat.
She took a cardigan along in case she felt cool after her swim. There was to be no love making, none of Johnny's kisses to confuse her and lead her to his pattern.

"Ready so quickly?" Johnny surveyed her quickly.
They hauled a cab. All the way
Mac avoided mentioning the Villa Carlotta fiasco. He had the usual masculine trick of pretending to forget things like that.

The Beach Club was hidden from the highway by a stone wall. They walked down the little hill and separated for the dressing-rooms. Mac didn't take long to get into her emerald green suit and cap.

Johnny grinned down at her appreciatively. There are thousands like him, Mac thought, beautifully made, beautifully conditioned by exercise and air. Young and strong and delightful. She could look at him in this tattered manner today, the life hadn't gone completely, but dissatisfaction with this lazy way of life kept her from enjoyment. For Johnny it was still rough.

Mac stretched out and let the sun bathe her back, exposed to the warmth.
Johnny knew that Mac was accusing him. She had said almost nothing until now. Perhaps he could do something to overcome this mood of hers.

Johnny leaned over swiftly and kissed her shoulder. She opened her eyes quickly and stared at him.
"Don't!" "Let's go in." All her drowsiness vanished and she jumped up quickly and ran into the water.

Johnny and she waded out a few feet before it was deep enough to swim, and then she followed him in the crawl stroke out to the raft. The water was colder than they had anticipated.

They went back to the sun very soon. Mac covered herself with her cardigan and lay on her back, her hair spread out on a towel. Johnny dried himself very vigorously and then crouched beside her and lighted a cigarette. Mac felt better.

"Leaving for school tomorrow?"
he asked.
Johnny squinted his eyes defiantly and took a long pull on his cigarette. "I'm not going back.
Made up my mind last night."

"MAC," he threw himself down beside her and looked appealingly into her face.
"Why can't we get an apartment?
I'll get a job. I'll get some place.
You won't always have to work.
It would be fun to be together, wouldn't it? I love you and I want to live with you. I missed you so this summer and I made up my mind that another year of college was the bunk. I'm sorry about last night, but I just couldn't see you playing around with that old man—with that crowd. And he likes you too much, Mac. I could see that right away. What does he want of you?"

"Mr. Clayton is a gentleman—he is my employer—he doesn't want anything from me except that I give him at the office. I don't like your speaking that way about him."

"Why didn't you tell him in the first place you were married?"
Johnny looked at Mac accusingly.
"Why did you have to conceal it?
Are you ashamed of being married to me?"

"We agreed not to, that's all, Johnny. You know what I'm earning now. Thirty-five dollars a week. Isn't that swell? With a debit of $1300 to pay off! I expect to get more very soon, but I want to be out of this hole for a year at least. We can't live together on $50 a week."

"I don't see why we can't start where other people start. We're not so different from everybody else. I wouldn't ask you to do all that work. We could eat in 'ea-rooms and places, couldn't we?
I wouldn't just earn $25 a week forever."

"Eating out is expensive. I don't want to live like that. I don't want to waste energy on the mere gesture of living. It would hold me back."

"Listen, Mac. Why can't I go out to Hollywood and get a job in the movies? I'll bet I'd make money fast. All the song writers and orchestra leaders are out there now under big contracts."

"Suppose you went out to Hollywood now and got a six months' contract—$100 or $200 a week, say, beginning in January, and that by January I was earning that much, too, on a yearly basis. Do you think I ought to give up my job to sit around Hollywood for six months with you? We wouldn't have a cent by the end of that period and I wouldn't have a job and probably you wouldn't."

Johnny had to be dressed and ready to play at 7 o'clock that night. Now it was 4. There wasn't time for food.

They got a cab and stopped for hot dogs along the way. They were getting nearer and nearer home. Mac would have to tell him —she might as well tell him now—that she had decided after the party. If she didn't, it would mean another scene like this one, and scenes with him disturbed her too much to repeat and repeat them.

"Marriage has to be practical to work," Mac began. "It is based on emotion and love entirely, it is like a ray balloon which eventually bursts. You have to treat it as a reality. It wouldn't be practical for me to live with you now—it's not going to be for a long, long time."

"You're trying to get rid of me —you're in love with that man, aren't you?" Johnny's face turned very red. Mac was sorry to hurt him, but if he once more accused her of having fallen for R. J.—
"I don't give a hang about him and you know it. I like him as a very successful and not unattractive older man. He may be able to do a great deal for me in business, too."

"WHAT are you suggesting?"
"You don't want me to stay coast with me. I don't understand you, Mac." He was bewildered, jealous and hurt. "Don't you love me any more? Yesterday you did —for a little while. The minute I go away you start playing around with the men you're working for."

"Johnny—I love you, I really do.
But I don't think we ought to be married. I think we were foolish to marry so young. Wouldn't you rather we parted now while we love each other than in five or six years when we hate each other for the things we have kept each other from having? You could go where you wanted and I'd stay here and get ahead."

"Thank you very much, Mrs.
Goodman," he mocked. "When you want a divorce I'll give it to you. And you won't have to be interrupted in your pursuit of a career by going to Reno. A divorce would take only a short while out here in Chicago. And I won't come back and sit on your doorstep, either."

"Oh, Johnny," Mac shook her head at him and reached out an impulsive hand. He didn't pay any attention to her, but looked out the window in angry silence.

The ALBANIAN KING Is DODGING BULLETS Again

KING ZOG of Albania.

VIENNA, March 12.
THIS sword of Damocles business may do well for a proverb, but to a king it is no joke.
Especially if that king has a soft spot for a Viennese music hall star, and wants to show her the sights.

Yet that is just what King Zog of Albania is up against. Of course, there is not quite as much danger of that sort here, for there are far fewer Albanians in Vienna than in Tirana, his capital city. There are estimated to be at least 800 of them anxious to assist Zog to the throne.

King Zog properly speaking is King Ahmed Zogu I. Before his coronation he announced he would be known officially as King Scanderbeg III, but Zogu seemed more suitable, especially when it came to strenuous objections to his use of the name.

Scanderbeg I is the big hero of Albania. Like Zog, with whom, however, there is no blood connection traced, he was hereditary chief of the Mirdita, a high, inaccessible plateau in Northeastern Albania. In 1443 he aligned with the Turks in war on the Hungarians, but with the campaign over he headed a national revolt.

Two of the 300 tried their hands at it just the other day. Their bullets missed Zog because an officer of the Balkan monarch con-siderately got in the way and was killed. A companion was shot in the leg.

The country was virtually autonomous during the Turkish tenure, for the people did about as they pleased, and no one from the days of the Gauls has been able to tax them. Zog gets his funds from customs revenues.

After the Turks lost control, Prince William of Wied became regent of the independent state that followed the Balkan wars and Zog, who, since he was 20, had been active in war and politics, joined Prince William against Essad Pasha, Zog's uncle. Prince William, however, was forced to leave hastily,
and Zog joined the Austrian army, during the World War, later living in Vienna. Essad, the uncle, was assassinated in 1920, so Zog went back home and took an active part in Albanian affairs.

FAN NOLI was premier, which daughter was all right for a presi-

SENATE STILL DEADLOCKED OVER INCOME TAX SCHEDULE

Casey Amendment to Levy on Corporations at Graduated Rate Defeated When Lieut. Gov. Winter Breaks 16-16 Tie.

KINNEY CAUSES FRESH DELAY

Presents Amendment to Amendment — Notification of House Action on Brunk Raises Question as to Procedure.

BY CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, March 20.—The Casey amendment proposing to tax corporation income at a graduated rate, as was proposed for individual incomes by the Survey Commission, was defeated in the Senate this afternoon. The vote was 16 to 16, Lieutenant-Governor Winter declaring the amendment lost, and thus voting against it. The amendment proposed a tax on both individuals and corporations ranging from 1 per cent on net taxable incomes not exceeding $1500 to 3 per cent on incomes exceeding $19,000.

The opposition to the graduated income tax bill proposed by the Survey Commission, which had supported the Casey amendment as a means of delaying action on the bill, obtained an order by Lieutenant-Governor Winter, but Kinney proposed it to remain on the table.

Senator Dearnmont, leader of the opponents, had ready an amendment on which his supporters had agreed to stand firm, and had intended to get it before the Senate as soon as they Casey proposal was voted on.

Kinney Prevents Action.
Just before the vote was taken, however, Senator Kinney of the opposition, by a ruse, prevented Dearnmont from getting in his amendment.

Kinney offered an amendment to the Casey amendment, the Kinney proposal being clearly out of order because it was an amendment to an amendment to a substitute for the original proposition. It was declared out of order by Lieutenant-Governor Winter, but Kinney permitted it to remain on the table.

As soon as the vote on Casey's amendment was taken, Dearnmont and Kinney demanded recognition, Kinney being recognized to offer his amendment as an amendment to the substitute, thus putting it in the same parliamentary condition as the Casey amendment which had just been defeated.

Dearnmont's Protest Futile.
Dearnmont protested vigorously, insisting that he had first demanded recognition, and that the Kinney amendment had no standing ahead of the amendment he proposed to offer.

The Lieutenant-Governor recognized Kinney, however, and his amendment was read, and then Dearnmont's amendment was read, thus getting the contents of both before the Senate.

The Kinney amendment provides for rates ranging from 1 per cent for net taxable incomes not in excess of $1000 to 4 per cent on incomes exceeding $10,000, with some deductions from the tax in each bracket. The Dearnmont proposal is for a tax ranging from 1 per cent on incomes in excess of $5000.

Brunk Resolution Rejected.
In the midst of the discussion a notifying the Senate that the House had appointed managers to present the Brunk impeachment articles to the Senate. Senator Davis raised a question as to the proper Senate procedure and the matter was laid over until tomorrow, when, it is expected, a Senate resolution will be offered inviting the managers to appear.

The proponents have receded from their original position that the maximum tax rate under the bill should be 5 1/2 per cent on incomes in excess of $19,000 and the opponents apparently are now willing to accept a measure with a rate as high as 4 1/2 per cent. But this remains a wide gap, and the contest has seemingly settled itself into one of endurance, each
